Solicitor McCabe Finds Dr. Salmon's Connection With Label Company Not Ideal--Not Guilty of Discrimination.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 .- No discrimination in the work of the meat in-spection service and exoneration of Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the Bureau Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, of charges growing out of business connections here, are the findings announced today by Solicitor G. P. McCabe, of that department, as the result of his investigation of charges against that branch of the department. Mr. McCabe's work has been approved by Secretary Wilson,

The report says that Dr. Salmon's onnection with a local business firm. while not ideal for a Government offiand that he never benefited by the Government contract with that firm. In summing up the findings concerning criticisms of the Government Inspection service, Mr. McCabe says:

The matter of a grant or refusal of meat inspection to establishments applying therefor has received careful consideration. I find that during 1991, 20 applications for inspection were received, of which 16 were granted. In 1902, 13 applications were reived, of which 10 were granted. In 1903 27 applications were received, of which 4 were granted and 23 refused. In 1904, 27 applications were received, of which 10 were granted. During 1905 to this date, 12 applinations have been received, of which one has on granted and two are pending.

Russians Gain Advantage, Capturing and Killing Many Japanese.

ST. PETERSBURG. Aug. 21.—(3:25 A. M.)—A dispatch from Lidziapudze contains the details of what will probably be the last engagement of the war. This encounter took place on August 28, and resulted in an advantage to the Russians, who took 130 prisoners. A number of Japanese were killed. The Russian losses were eight killed. The remnant of the Japanese retired, bearing their wounded. The declaration of an armistice will probably mean no cessation in the activity of the Chinese bandits, who are daily to waste.

Now, suppose that you did cultivate all this land and doubled the yield, what would you do with it? You must find new markets. This morning we learn that Russia and Japan have made peace. I am glad they have agreed but I want to say this: The agricultural people of the United States find in Russia their greatest competitor. Russia raises what we raise; they export what we export. In the trans-Siberian country they are opening up through irrigation great in Russia their greatest competitor. Russia raines what we raise; they export what we export. In the trans-Siberian country they are opening up through irrigation great areas of country where they can raise cotton in competition with us and they will. On the other hand Japan, a little island densely populated, cannot begin to raise enough to feed her own people. Now the Japanese, whether we like them or not, are going to be customers. Russia never would be our customer. For that reason we must look, if we are going to find a market in the Orient, to the men who live along the sea, in the densely populated portion of that country, because Manchuria and the interior of China is a marvelously rich agricultural country and the inhabitants are not by any means the kind of barbarians that many people would think they are. They are intelligent people and very good farmers. But we have got transportation that they cannot compete with—the lewest in the world. Thus with low transportation and lands that will raise the crops, we are in a position to feed the hunger of the Orient.

Two Superb Chickering Grands Sup plied by Eilers Piano House for This Occasion.

In anticipation of the grand musical events to be held at the Washington building, the management of the Fair has ordered two superb Chickering grand clanos, which Eliers Plano House delivered yesterday. These Chickerings are to be used exclusively in the musical work of the Schubert Club, and particularly the grand concert to be given today, which event, with the assistance of Mr. A. M. Fitz, bass, and Mr. Karl Riedeisberger, violinist, will be one of the greatest of the several great musical occasions which the Fair has witnessed.

Since the opening of the Exposition, Chickering planos have been winning hosts of friends from visitors from everywhere, and Ellers Plano House has been kept constantly busy supplying these instruments for various buildings and for numerous special musical events at the Fair, as well as filling large orders.

Two very noteworthy Chickerings in the Massachusetts building divide honors; one is a Chickering quarter grand, the very latest and finest product of modern piano.
