CHORUS OF PRAISE

World Hails Roosevelt as Great Peacemaker.

OPINION OF ALL NATIONS

Rejoicing at Success of Conference Throughout Europe - Kaiser Seconded Roosevelt's Efforts for Peace.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—With the passing away of the first sensation incident to the announcement of peace, the most striking note of public feeling in England is the universality of the tribute paid to the invaluable services which President Roosevelt has rendered to the cause of Not England alone, but the whole world, is hastening to pay its meed of praise to the peacemaker. Mayors and public bodies of various kinds in Great Britain are passing resolutions or sending messages expressive of the world's indebt-edness to the President. Following are a few expressions of prominent personages: Field Marshal Lord Roberts-I heartily congratulate both countries.

Right Rev. William R. Carpenter, blahop of Ripon-The world owes much to President Roosevelt.

George Meredith, the nevellst-Japan establishes her claim to be a great civilized power, and President Roosevelt will be rowned in history as the champion wrestler for peace.

President Booseveit's reply to Emperor William's congratulatory telegram has not yet been published here, but it will have a great effect in removing what has been very prevalent opinion that the Em-

Trade Revival Expected.

Another question much discussed is the prospect of the revival and development of trade as the result of the conclusion of peace. It is expected, as far as the bel-ligerents are concerned, that it will be some time before there is any great commercial revival, owing to the preoccupa-tion of Russia and Japan in finally con-cluding the peace arrangements, trans-porting prisoners, withdrawing military forces, etc. Japan's share in this work will place heavy demands on her trans-port service, and will be likely to prevent an early resumption of her regular steam-ship business. It is understood that Japan is negotiating with British steamship lines to assist in the transfer of the prisoners. It is believed, however, that in the near future the changed condition of affairs in the Far East will bring enormous trade developments, in which the United States and Great Britain will be the largest participants.

Effect of New Alliance.

In this connection much seems to be expected from the renewal and extension of the Angio-Japanese alliance, the details of which have not yet been published. Ac-cording to this morning's Standard, the chief point in the treaty of alliance is an agreement to maintain the status quo in Asia, and that the term "Asia" comprises for the purpose of the treaty that portion of the continent lying east of longitude 51 degrees

A considerable impetus is expected to A considerable impetus is expected to be given to shipbuilding; in fact, both Russia and Japan will require new warships. Russia is understood to have options on seven Chilean and Argentine warships, and, though it is deemed unlikely that Russia will place orders for warships in Great Britain, it is believed that orders for such vessels will be received from Japan.

LONDON. Aug. 30 .- The news of the conclusion of peace at Portsmouth yes-terday reached London so late last even-ing that with the exception of official and ematic circles and those who were in the city at a late hour, the announcement in the morning papers came as a complete surprise. Even many cabinet officers and other high officials were ignorant of the momentous event until today. With the general public the news was received with the greatest satisfaction and admiration for Japan's "sacrifices in the cause of

The evening papers follow the lead of the morning papers in bestowing unstinted praise on President Rossevelt. to whom they give the fullest credit for the outcome of the conference, whose decision was entirely at variance with their daily prediction. Both papers and people were so astounded at the outcome of the conference that they feel there is something in the agreement which has been arrived at that has not yet been pub-lished, and that, if this is not the case, then the new Anglo-Japanese treaty has affected the result in some way. The Pall Mail Gazette says: The enlarged treaty with England may have had considerable weight in persuading the Mikado and his advisers that Japan's position in the Far East is now practically impregnable, and that peace may be made without pressing for the payment of costs. Japan now stands in a on of impregnable supremacy in the Far East, and this can only be disputed coalition against which her alliance the greatest naval power in the world constitutes an absolute guarantee." Arguing that Japan might, after con-ideration, feel more satisfied with having gained the points for which she took up arms, the Pall Mail Gazette continues;

"Henceforth Asia lies at her feet, and particularly China. China has been a bone of contention all along. England and the United States will have every reason to be thankful for the triumph of

Referring to Japan's decision to give up her demand for an indemnity, the Westminster Gazette says:

"It needed only a moment's reflection to see how greatly her moral and material position must have been worsted if, after having obtained all the substantial points for which she undertook the war ous gasets that go with and all the enorm them, she had taken the responsibility for renewing the war on the question of the costs, which could not in the long run have been recovered against an oppo who was determined not to pay. policy of Japan is to concentrate herself upon the formidable task of developing what her victory has given her, and even a successful war which would have left her in possession of further territory must possession of further territory must dissipated her energies and weakened her position.

The alliance is to be renewed (referring to the Anglo-Japanese treaty), and Speaking of Japan's walver of the inemilty clause, the Globe says:

"It has been an act of extraordinary ourse on the part of the Emperor and a council. In the act, which seems Justified by the results, the Emperor of Japan has given the world a lesson in moderation, and, we believe the results will show in practical wisdom."

The Globe also claims that Japan gained what she went to war for, and save:

the old Saumural, there must have ap-peared something sordid in continuing the conflict not for giory or for the safety of the empire, but for a cash payment which had assumed the form of a liquidation of damages. Moreover, we write in the dark. We have no glimmer of the secrets which in all probability form a part of the terms of peace. Nor do we know how far the situation was affected by the Anglo-American treaty."

The Evening Standard says:
"Russia has won one of the greatest diplomatic victories in the history of the world. It is summed up in M. Witte's 'pas un sou.' (not a cent of indemnity). Nor are we inclined to begrudge M. Witte his power or glory. He fought magnifi-cently for Russia, and she has been able thereby to save her face."

Referring to the results gained by Ja-an, the Standard says: "Perhaps she is the only nation on the face of the earth which would have rested content with what she set out to accom-plish. We come to what may be regarded as the greatest victory of the three. It ngs, as we think, to President Rooseout to Japan inducements which would have the double effect of securing peace with Russia and rooting up the weeds of disagreement between Japan and Amer-

St. Petersburg, which says M. Witte will return the hero of the day, and that it is not impossible that he may become a sort of Prime Minister.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT'S VIEW Congratulates Both Nations and

Lauds Roosevelt's Work BERLIN, Aug. 20.—Chancellor von Bus-low, in acknowledgement of the cable dis-patch which came from the Associated Pross with the announcement of peace and an outline of the terms of the agree ment, anya: "In their reception of this fortunate result, the German advocates of peace are in full agreement with the Americans." The German Government has prepared its view of the situation, which will ap-pear in the next issue of the North German Gazette, as follows:

"We greet the news with lively satisfaction. The agreement, quite beyond expectations, is due to the quiet tenacity of Emperor Nicholas and his counsellors in St. Petersburg, as well as the plenipotentiaries at Portsmouth. Acknowledgement must be made of the amount of the untouched powers of resistance that remain in the Russian imperial state, not withstanding the military misfortunes and the upsetting of all the political theories that had been built upon the under-valuation of the Slay world.

"The decision of the Japanese states men was not an easy one, but it honors their wisdom. It shows also that the youngest world power which has so bril-liantly entered into the community of the cultivated powers is worthy of the example it gave during the war. The conclusion of peace by yielding all sharp conditions may be more highly valued because the agreement was a voluntary act. We congratulate both sovereigns, their governments and their peoples with open pleasure on attaining an understanding with each other, and we hope that those who have been enemies may as soon as the final peace treaty is signed begin to live next to each other as good neighbors. Shining in the history of our times velt's services, whereby the conclusion of peace was made possible. His master-fully conducted work of statesmanship and humanity will not be forgotten by the world."

After the first sensations of wonder and relief over the announcement of peace, German observers try to adjust their conceptions of the powers that brought the peace. Russia's position, with a powerful neighbor both east and west, now becomes somewhat similar to Germany's Russia doubtiess will main. Germany's, Russia doubtless will main tain a strong army in the East and thus relieve somewhat the weight of her numbers on the western frontier. She will no longer be feared as heretofore, because, even after the restoration of her prestige and the reorganization of her urces, she will ever have Japan to watch and calculate upon.

The German government, according to remain quiet for many years, if let alone, and that she will peacefully develop her estate on the Asiatic continent. The yellow peril seems to have largely disappeared out of German thought.

PARIS ASKS MANY QUESTIONS

Will America and Russia Be Friends-Control of Pacific.

PARIS, Aug. 21.-The Paris morning newspapers, in commenting upon the result of the Portsmouth conference, express still more astonishment at its aud-den and happy termination, and ask whether the United States has decided to return to her traditional friendship for Russia, or if Great Britain has suddenly renounced her old hostility to Russia, and whether the Pacific Ocean question will now be governed by Japan, Russia and the United States, or by Japan, Great Britain and the United States. The Aurore says that fate has offered Emperor Nicholas an unexpected chance in the marvelous revenge of justice and liberty The Eclaire finds that Russia has not much reason for exultation, and tinues "It is true that the Russians escaped with a smaller financial wound than had been expected; that they regain posses-sion of a few ships and are guaranteed their centrol of Viadivostok, which is now of small importance, while, on the other hand, the Japanese enter into pos-session for a long time of a large terri-

"Everything the American President undertakes is successful," was an exciama-tion frequently heard. The United States also receives a generous meed of praise, as the nation where the grand achievement of the declaration of peace was brought about. The moderation of the Japanese terms is widely commented upon and Japan's magnanimity is regarded as being due to the effect of President Roosevelt's direct appeal to the Emperor of Japan in the name of humanity.

His answer is greeted with gratitude in both hemispheres.
M. Neildoff, the Russian Ambassador, is spending his vacation at Chateau-guyon. An influential official of the Em-bassy, however, expressed pleasure at the reasonable conditions reached. Russia, official added, was now able to work for internal reform. President Loubet received the news of peace early this morning and immediately dispatched congratulations to President Rossevelt, Emperor Nicholas and the Emperor of Japan.

Premier Rouvier, replying to a request for an expression on the satisfactory result of the conference, said:

The Premier this morning cabled a long message to Mr. Witte. In the course of conversation, one of the highest-placed French diplomats declared that the Japanese made a clever move when they ac-cepted peace without an indemnity. They thereby secured a treaty with Russia without leaving among her late adverto the Anglo-Japanese treaty), and sary a desire for revenge. In the course ded to a wider scope than it has of a few years Japan will have recovered her war losses by extension of trade with China and the development of her-own natural resources without the fear of an enemy waiting for an opportunity for revenge. The Franch diplomat con-tinued.

> "If the treaty contains secret clauses, they probably will take the form of a convention to assure China from European partition, while securing the open door in that empire for the world's commerce. All nations would besent from such a convention, which would serve to stream points at greatly reduced rates. For full particulars call on or address A. H. McDonald, general agent, 180 Third such a convention, which would serve to abolish the jealous striving of foreign nations to obtain spheres of influence and European colonies in the Far East, and the Philippines would also experience beneficial effects, as there are no indications that questions affecting their status quo will arise, thus leaving their development to their natural course. Meanwhile, Japan will proceed with the development and colonization of Corea, which is sufficiently extensive to afford an outlet for her energy without seeking fresh conquests."

Referring to the financial effect of p an influential financier said neither Japan nor Russia would have difficulty in find-ing all the money required both in Europe and America. It is not regarded as probable, however, that Russia will at-tempt to float a fresh loan here for the Roosevelt the Great Victor.

PARIS, Aug. 30.-The French newspo pers this morning devote lengthy and sulogistic editorials to President Roosewelt. The President is the hero of the hour-indeed little mention is made of Emperor Nicholas. The Matin says: Roosevelt is the great victor. He forced the two belligerents who were strangling each other to meet on neutral ground with the same tranquillity that he displayed on the eve of battle at the head of the Rough Riders. He tackled the respective delegates of the belligerent parties, facing Japanese cupidity and Russian infatuation with the same disdain for diplomatic usages as when he was charging the trenches with his slouch hat on the ground and a white handkerchief around his neck. He is the great victor of this battle of glants.

Russia and Japan. "The outcome," he asserted, "was not much a triumph of Russian diplomacy as it was generosity and far-sightedness on the part of Japan. The Japanese army and people will be temporarily disappointed at the terms, but the Emperor and his advisers are wise in effecting peace at this time.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—(3:12 A. Mt.) —The news of the successful completion of the preliminary negotiations for peace at Portsmouth has been received here without marked or even notable expres-sions, of satisfaction or dissatisfaction. Tranquility is perhaps the best term with which to convey the sentiment of practically all classes, including the officials. The prevailing sentiment among the thinking element is that Japan arrived at a recognition of the fact that it was really impossible for Russia to make any further concentrate because the desired further concessions, because she desired to avoid arousing among the people at home sentiments which would constitute a most serious menace in the future. It recognized that Japan also the necessity for a lasting and stable peace, and it believed that the success of the conference was due to the fact that

The more intelligent Russians do not regard the outcome at Portsmouth as altogether a diplomatic victory or a suc-cess won at the expense of Japan. There are undoubtedly certain divergences of opinion among Russians on one or an-other of the points set forth in the preliminary peace understandings. These divergences can be easily arributed to the existing internal conditions in Russia, but it is no exaggeration to say that all classes are deeply and sincerely appreciative of the efforts made by President Roosevelt to bring about peace. Furthermore, the general and sustained interest of the American people in the entire matter finds due recognition and full appreciation here. President Roosevelt's efforts, it is declared, supplied the lubricant needed to overcome the fric-tion and to keep the machinery of the conference running to a successful

In considering the tack of effusion and all outward signs of satisfaction with which the news was received at St. Petersburg, it should be borne in mind that the Russians are an undemonstralive people and that the details of the great disasters of the war were received with the same apparent apathy. It is not the custom of the people here to induige in demonstrations, either upon occasions of great sorrow or of great happiness, and the lack of popular and spontaneous expressions of satisfaction does not carry the same meaning as it would in the United States.

She will be recognized in the eyes of the East and of Europe as the victor and she has acquired a predominant position in Asia, while Russia's prestige has suffered a correspondingly heavy blow.

"However, Russia is only reaping the reward of a war conceived in injustice and resting on a policy of aggression toward a weak nation, against which I and others warned the government. I was for peace before and have been ever since the commencement of the war, and I re-joice that peace has been concluded. "I have no fear of the results on the army. Some of the men will object to this peace, but the great mass will be glad of the termination of the war on so bonorable a basis and will be content to return to their homes. "It is impossible to tell what will be the result of the peace in the internal situation. The revolutionary movement has roots a generation deep and its causes are entirely independent of the war, which it preceded, though its growth has been forcered by the perifortunes of the conflict. Agitation and turmou will no doubt find an outlet in the coming elections for the Douma, regardless of the outcome of the war."

In conclusion, Prince Oukhtomsky pays a high tribute to President Rossevelt, "whose name should be emblazoned throughout Russia."

"Please Smile

Look Pleasant."

When a woman says "I am racked with pain," the word "racked "recalls the days when they stretched the tender bodies of women on the rack with rope and pulley until the very joints cracked.

Fancy an attendant saying to the tortured woman, "Please smile and look pleasant."

And yet the woman "racked with pain," And yet the woman "racked with pain," is expected to smile through her agony and to make home happy. She can's do it. It is against Nature. Generally speaking, the racking pains of ill-health such as headache, backache and "bearing-down pains" are related to derangements or disorders of the organs distincily feminine. When this condition is removed the general health is restored, and with health comes back the smile of happiness.

"It affords me pleasure to relate the wonderful merits of your great medicines, especially your 'Favorite Prescription.' writes Mr. J. Wesley Rhine, of Woodbury, N. Jersey, L. Box 28. "My wife has been using it for some time past, having suffered severely with hearing-down pains, aching in back, and many other complaints peculiar to women. She was very weak, could not do any heavy work or washing but can do all kinds of work now. She is soon to become a mother but we do not fear the result (as heretofore), all due to your wonder-worker. "Your 'Pleasant Peliets' are also worth many times their price. I have used them for billousness and stomach trouble, and have found them to be all that you claim. They are my constant companions—once used, always kept."
