Club women of Seattle, Portland and the Northwest commemorated their day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition with an elaborate programme at the Washington building yesterday. These exercises were a part of the festivities arranged for the "Seattle week" at the Fair.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Caroline Williams, leader of the musical department of the Seattle Women's Club, and assisted by the Schubert Club, a delightful programme was given in the morning, which consisted of the following features: Paper, "Woman's Place in Musical History," by Caroline Williams; Chaminade's "Come, My Love, to Me," the Schubert Club; "Andante" and "Allegretto," from the Schumann Concerto. Miss Williams and Le Grande Carter, violinist; D'Hartog's "All For You," and Allison's "Song of Thanksgiving," George E. King; Mrs. H. H. A. Beach's "Only Son," words by Agnes Lockhart Hughes, sung by Mrs. W. L. Baird, Miss Otisella G. Bantard, Mrs. Edward Cassady and Mrs. Sarah Morgan Edmunds, of the Schubert Club; Mrs. Beach's "The Years at the Spring," George E. King; and Mrs. Beach's "I Captive," "Berouze," and "Mazurka," Miss Williams and Mr. Carter.

Colors of Washington Federation.

The colors of the Washington State Federation of Women's Clubs, green and white, were the prevailing ones used in the decorations, which were tastefully arranged, and several of the hostesses were charmingly gowned in the same colors.

The Seattle Women's Club, the largest club of its kind in the Northwest, was well represented, as were the City Federation of Women's Clubs, the Women's Century Club, the Classic Culture Club, the Schubert Club, the Women's Tuesday Club, the Optic Club, the Alpha Club and several others. Mrs. Edmund Bowden, assisted by Mrs. Samuel H. Piles, Mrs. R. A. Ballinger, Mrs. J. E. Chubb, Mrs. H. H. DePew, Mrs. Thomas F. Kane, Mrs. L. A. Nadeau, Mrs. W. A. Foster, Mrs. Homer Hill, Mrs. W. B. Judah, Mrs. George W. Eradon, and the Misses Gertrude Hardenburg and Edith Denny acted as hostesses during the afternoon exercises. Mrs. Gilbert McCurg, the author and lecturer, was among the guests.

Fine Musical Programme.

The musical programme of the afternoon was exceptionally good, and consisted of vocal and instrumental pieces. Wagner's band rendered a splendid programme from 2 to 3 o'clock, when the regular programme was begun. Mrs. Eomey B. Jansen sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," and "At Nightfall," with rare sweetness. John L. Gibbs' rendition of Wainlaw's Concerto No. 2, using two movements, was excellent. Miss Clara Lewis sang the "Blind Girl's Song," from Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," in a pleasing manner, and responded to a hearty encore with Kate Vannah's "My Balmie." Mrs. David W. White's rendition of Weber's "Concertstück" was capable in every respect. Orchestral parts on second piano were ably executed by Mrs. W. B. Judah. Mrs. Jansen's singing of Thomas' "My Heart Is Weary" closed the musical treat.

Patriots' Day Today.

Today is Patriots' Day, and invitation is extended to the patriotic associations of Seattle and Portland to be present at a reception to be tendered them from 3 to 3 o'clock. Judge C. H. Stanford, president of the State Association of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Colonel J. W. Langley, of the Grand Army of the Republic, will deliver addresses of wel-

Portland Association to accept a similar position with the organization at Peoria, Ill. In the year that Miss Vance has been with the local association she has been very successful in her work and has made many friends, as was attested by the large number of young women who were present at the farewell reception last night. Miss Helen Sexton, who now has charge of the Portland Association, received last night. She was assisted by Mrs. Alice M. Mackey, Dr. Gertrude Lamberon, Dr. Jessie McGavin, Misses Lillian Fisher, Marguerite Fleming, Mabel Hazeltine, Martha and Sarah Case. Miss Helen F. Barnes, of Chicago, the National secretary, was present and made a brief talk. Miss Barnes is to have charge of the conference at Seattle, September 12-13. Remarks were also made by Mrs. W. J. Honeyman, president of the Portland Y. W. C. A., and a solo was sung by Miss Crane.

Playmate of Mayor Lane in Boyhood Selected.

D. W. TAYLOR THE MAN

neer, have played together since the '50s, when they were boys together. Now that they are both busily wearing gray in their hair they are again close together in the government of the town where each has spent his entire active life. Because of this long-standing friendship, the other day when the Mayor quarreled with Captain Wagner and asked for his place, he appointed Douglas Taylor to fill the vacancy. Of course the fact that Taylor is a Democrat by birth and training had something to do with it, but probably the early friendship influence was stronger with Mayor Lane when he made the new appointment.

Hawaiian Band Concerts.

Beginning Monday, the night concerts of the Royal Hawaiian Band will be given in the Auditorium at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The nights are beginning to get cool, and the management thought it advisable to have the concerts rendered

GUARDSMAN BADLY HURT

PREMATURE DISCHARGE OF CANNON INJURES HIM.

E. P. Strandberg Suffers Broken Arm and Is Severely Burned by the Powder.

While the Exposition Guard was engaged in firing a salute a twenty-one year old man, E. P. Strandberg, was severely burned by powder, and had to be taken to the Emergency Hospital where his wounds were dressed and the burns reduced.

The battery auxiliary to the Exposition Guard was stationed at the foot of the grand stairway, near the bandstand, and the accident happened immediately after the firing of the first gun, early in the afternoon. Just how it happened is not certain, but from the accounts of the injured man and his comrades, it is thought that he neglected to thoroughly swab out the gun before inserting the second charge of powder, and therefore some sparks remained in the piece and when the new charge was rammed home the powder ignited, causing an explosion. The force of the explosion blew the ramrod over 50 yards into the lake and threw the guardsman to the ground with terrific force. Were it not for the fact that he held hold of the rod, it is more than likely that he would have been instantly killed. His blouse was considerably burned by powder, and a crossed cannon badge that adorned his breast was blown away and was not found near the scene of the accident. The injured man suffered a severe fracture of the forearm, and was badly burned about the face and hands. That he did not lose the sight of both eyes is due to the fact that he wore glasses. Strandberg is an experienced guardsman, having been a member of the local militia for six years. He is married to Miss McDonald, and the accident was his own fault, for he should have used more caution in loading the cannon.

DISAGREEMENT NOT SETTLED

Misunderstanding Over Judging of Exhibits Continue.

It is not likely there will be any definite settlement of the misunderstanding between the executive commissioners of the foreign and state commissions, and the Division of Exhibits, at the Lewis and Clark Exposition for several days. The committee of exhibits of the Exposition will meet shortly, and then the matter of the exhibits, furnishing three samples to the Department of Exhibits will be decided. The committee of exhibits is composed of President H. W. Goode, L. N. Fleischner, A. H. Devers, C. E. Ladd, George T. Myers, H. L. Corbett, B. Van Dusen and T. B. Wilcox. Mr. Wilcox is chairman of the committee. Colonel Henry E. Doech, director of exhibits at the Exposition, is strongly opposed to changing the system of making awards that has been inaugurated. He disagrees with the commissioners that the system of furnishing three samples to be examined by the jurors outside of the exhibit building is unsatisfactory, but says it is the only manner in which the prizes and medals can be awarded without partiality. He says with the proposed system, which has been protested by the commissioners, the jurors have no way of knowing the origin of the goods they examine. Colonel Doech states that he will oppose adopting the system of the jurors visiting the exhibits to be passed upon, when the matter comes up before the committee on exhibits.

Modern Woodmen's Day.

The Modern Woodmen of America will enjoy the Lewis and Clark Exposition today. Several thousand Woodmen are expected to attend the Exposition. The exercises will be held in the Auditorium at Lewis School Will Celebrate.

The teachers and pupils of the Lewis School will celebrate at the Lewis and Clark Exposition today. They will hold exercises in the Auditorium at 11 o'clock this morning. The exercises will consist of addresses by President Jefferson Myers, of the Oregon State Commission, Colonel Henry E. Doech, director of exhibits, and W. T. Lewis, and music by the Administration Band.

Meeting of Ministers.

The General Ministerial Association of Portland will resume its sessions next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. As this is the first session after the vacation season, it is expected that there will be a full attendance. A programme of special interest will be given. Rev. Bishop William Fraser McDowell, of Chicago, will be present and favor the ministers with an address. Dr. James M. King, of Philadelphia, a distinguished Protestant author, will also be present.

Billposters in Convention.

About 40 delegates attended the convention of the Pacific Coast Billposters' and Distributors' Association, held in the Auditorium, at the Lewis and Clark Exposition, yesterday afternoon. The states represented were Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California and Nevada. Most of the session was devoted to routine. A lively fight is expected this afternoon over the next place of meeting. Boise City is said to be slightly in the lead over the other cities. The convention ends today.

A double quartet of Norwegian and Danish ministers will sing.

Rev. Arden M. Rockwood will conduct the devotional exercises. Dr. Francis Burgette Short will have charge of the singing. T. B. Ford will preside.

ADMISSIONS, 16,335.

The turnstiles yesterday recorded 16,335 admissions to the Lewis and Clark Exposition.
