MACHINE BALKED AT QUAKER CITY

Attempt Made to Re-Pad the Voting Lists Just Purged of False Names.

ASSESSORS ARE AFRAID

Despite Legal Opinion Furnished Them, Many Do Not Put in an Appearance at the Polling Places.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 3.-(Spe cial.)-The plan of the Penrose-Durham organization to repad the purged voting lists of the city with 70,000 to 80,000 false names to take the places of those that have been stricken off by the police canvass, has proved a dismal failure. The machine attempted to do this by issuing orders to the Assessors of the city to sit on extra days last week and this week, in order that voters who had been omitted in the last assessment might be given an opportunity to get on the lists.

The Assessors received their notifica tion from the city committee, and coupled with it was the opinion of Alexander Simpson, an attorney, saying they could legally sit and could legally put on new Pacific Railroad. Stops will be made at names presented by proxy. As a matter Simpson, an attorney, saying they could of fact, the only days upon which it is ber 2. certain the Assessors can sit to take on prevent it being used for fraud. For three hours last night nearly 2000 policemen braved the rain in vain waiting at the 1104 election divisions in the city. In obedience to Director of Public Safety many of them admit that they are afraid to sit except on the two days specifically required by law, September 5 and 6.

The great majority of Assessors controlled by the organization have made a house-to-house canvass of their divisions in order to be absolutely sure of every name on their list.

Crowded Marine Parade Resembles a Shambles After the Smoke Clears Away.

BARCELONA, Sept. 3 .- A bomb exploded with terrific force this afternoon on the Marine Parade, which was thronged with holiday-makers. panic ensued and the air was rent with the shricks and grouns of the victims, who numbered between 20 and 60, including one woman killed and five persons mortally wounded.

The bomb was conical in shape and covered with cement. The perpetrator of the outrage is unknown. One witness stated this morning that a child was seen to deposit a bomb at the foot of a tree while another version is that the bomb was placed at the foot of the tree this afternoon and the man who was seen to place it there was injured by its premature explosion.

After the explosion Panama hats parasols and wearing apparel were found strewn about, and there were pools of blood. The detonation was heard throughout the city and the force of the explosion threw a coachman from the seat of his carriage 50 yards away. The bomb was filled with nails and scrap iron.

PERMANENT PEACE MADE

Terms of the Cablegram Dispose of Rumors That the Terms Arrived at Were Not Satisfactory to the Mikado.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 3.-President Roosevelt today received at 12:60 P.
M. from the Emperor of Japan warm thanks for his "disinterested and unremitting efforts in the interest of peace and humanity," and an expression of the Japanese Emperor's "grateful apprecia-tion of the distinguished part" the President had taken in the establishment of peace in the Far East. The cablegram, which was received from the Emperor nally, follows:

"Tokio, Sept. 3, 1906,-The President: I have received with gratification your message of congratulation conveyed through our plenipotentiaries, and thank you warmly for it. To your disinterested and unremitting efforts in the interests of peace and humanity I attach the high value, which is their due, and assure you Hoos to the number of several hundred of my grateful appreciation of the dis-left tonight for Portland, Or. to attend tinguished part you have taken in the es-

> The cablegram from the Japanese Emperor puts an end to the rumors that the Emperor was dissatisfied with the terms finally concluded by his pienipotentiaries with those of the Emperor of Russia. He accords President Roosevelt full credit for the part he took in bringing about peace "upon principles essential to the permanent welfare and tranquillity of the Far Bast."

The concluding sentence of the cablegram is especially significant. It evidently voices the belief of the Japanese Emperor that the treaty about to be concluded at Portsmouth will be for a permanent peace.

It can be said that the President exessed no anxiety at the delay of the Potter's orders, one and in most cases two policemen were detailed for duty at each polling piace to watch for Assessors, and the dues 29 cents a year. Originating among men interested in the lumber line and its adjuncts, the limit of membership was at first placed at 1998. It was known here that the terms finally concluded at Portsmouth were dictated by the Japanese Emperor himself and they did. As on Friday night, few Assessors put in an appearance. A great found that there were so many good fellows at the placed at 1998. It was found that they could not be otherwise than satisfactory to him and his advisers. SHAKE OFF THE GERMANS

Russian Writer Points to Hope in Russia's Future.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 2.-Alexander Briantchinonoff, correspondent of the St. Petersburg Slovo, writing regarding the future of Russia, says:

"It is an axiom that a great country cannot consider its frontiers as definitely fixed until its provinces have obtained free and unobstructed access to the sea.
"Germany has her ports on the North Sea; England the Atlantic Ocean; France the Atlantic and Mediterranean, while the United States, flanked by two oceans, is in a better position than any European country, and for this reason must cer-tainly in the near future play a great role in the world's politics.

"Bussia owing to this unfortunate and in the world's politics.

"Russia, owing to this unfortunate and regrettable war and to the conditions on which peace have been obtained from Japan, loses her absolute preponderance in the Far East, but it is to be hoped that she will be wise enough to recommence the badly-begun adventure in Manchuria. She will have to be satisfied to regain through commerce what she has lost through the army. Viadivostok, frozen for months every year, with Japanese en for months every year, with Japanese sentinels all around her, cannot have a sufficient political value to counterbalance Japanese ambitton, so that a frank understanding between Japan and Russia is necessary in order that the two countries shall be sure of each other. shall be sure of each other's good faith.
"The maintenance of Chinese Integrity certainly enters into this programme, as

The maintenance of Chinese integrity certainly enters into this programme, as it is only through peace being insured in the Far East that Russia can be free to confine her activities to the European stage, where her presence will soon become indispensable. No matter what the future of the control of the gateways to the Beltic may be, that sea will never be for Russia anything else but a sea closed by ice. So it was natural for Russia sooner or later to begin again her efforts to gain an open port to the southward.

"To obtain this object there are only two ways, the Persian Gulf and the Bosporus. The first is the easier, Persia being in a state of disintegration, while the Indian army, although quite capable of defending India, is not in a position to go to the defense of Persia. Germany would certainly help Russia's schemes in the Persian Gulf if it were left free in the Bosporus, while if Russia tried to reach the Bosporus she would have to face German opposition and fight Turkey, which is much stronger then Persia. England at most would remain passive.

"Still, the conquest of the Bosporus would be the best Russia could de, as to reach the Persian Gulf would necessitate forcing away several thousand miles—it would not be dissimilar to the index which took her to Port Arthur. She would advance between two rivais. On the other hand, if she directed her efforts toward the Bosporus and offered some facilities to England in the south of Persia, she could be tranquil.

"On the east she would be in a position to protect the Slav'cause against German influence, which is growing every day. On the northern side she would prevent Germany from being paramount in Europe. Finally there is another reason for which it is time that Russia should understand that she must rely on England and not on Germany. Germany is the power of today and is putting forward every effort to make England the power of yesterday and prevent the rising of the power of tomorrow. Russia is at the head of a great Slav confederation. France, which is undoubtedly the power of yesterday, has realized that, and has entered into an understanding with England, while still an ally of Russia.

"Alexander III realized it when he

"Alexander III realized it when he joined hands with France, but after him a clear political object on the part of Russia was lost. The duty of Russia toward her Slay brothers was abandoned, was forgotten and the country, with syes closed, threw herself into the hazardous game, which naturally ended in a catas-trophe. If now Germany succeeds in pushing Russia into the Persian Guif, the adventure will mean a quarrel with Eng-land, coolness toward France and the sacrifice of the Slavs of Austria and Tur-key on the altar of German ambition. It will finally mean a new conflagration, will finally mean a new conflagration, with Japan or England combined, with Germany looking for her own interests, almost neutral

If, on the contrary, a quadruple understanding could be reached between the two dual alliances, France and Russia on one side and England and Japan on on one side and England and Japan on the other, having as an object the protection of their Asiatic, African and Australian possession. Russia might easily reach her object on the Bosporus and support Italy and the Siavs when the inevitable question of the Austrian succession arises. In this way the threatening imperialism of Germany would be quenched and the European equilibrium would be safeguarded, a thing which is necessary for the influence with the United States in the Pacific.

"However, to be able to direct the Russian politics to these far distant but natural and constitute and constitute ural and possible aims, it is necessary first to clear the Russian Foreign Office of German traditions and personnel and have true diplomatists like Witte, and not clock diplomatists, in charge of Rus-sia's foreign policy, all of which will be more difficult than was the conclusion of peace with Japan."
