Joseph Young Tells Why He Tried to Kill Kaspar Van Dran.

PUTS HIS WIFE ON STAND

She Declares That Van Dran Sald He Would Be Her Friend and Advised Her to Get a Divorce.

"You have as much right to chase around with other men as Young has to chase with other women. I will be your friend." This is the doctrine of marital felicity which Mrs. Joe Young testified was taught her, the mother of five children, by Kaspar Van Dran, who is now the prosecuting witness in the case of the against Joe Young, accused of assault with a dangerous weapon, which case is now on trial before Judge Cleiand. Other such soothing advice is said to have been given Mrs. Young, according to the ar, until when Van Dran took the wife to see Attorney J. M. Long, in order, to begin divorce proceedings, and subsequently telephoned her to visit him at his Young's Trial Begins.

The hearing of the Van Dran shooting case was called before Judge Cleland yes-terday morning, and the whole of the first sitting was taken with an effort to select the jury to listen to the unraveling of the the jury to listen to the unraveling of the tangled skein of domestic trouble and narrowly averted killing. At 11-65 o'clock the attorneys had finished their battling over the 12 men into whose hands they were the 12 men into whose hands they were the 12 men into whose hands they were place the fate of their case, and the following men were sworn by the clerk to listen to the testimony and weigh its merits: E. S. Brubaker, M. J. Kinney, William C. Seachrest, Andrew Allen, Charles L. Seaguest, D. B. Mackie, E. H. Virgel, Joseph Ellis, John Senner, Wilson Benefiel, John Keating, John Brideaux.

What the Prosecution Says.

The whole cause of the shooting of the night of May 2, according to the evidence of the defense, is the meddling of Van Dran with the domestic differences of the family of Joe Young, his friend for 15 years. The prosecutook but a short time in the relation, but the defense will be more lengthy and, perhaps, more interesting, prosecution, under the guidance Deputy District Attorney Moser, The tends that the shooting was cold-blooded done in malice and with full intent.
in support of this one of the witnesses of the shooting, F. R. Chase, the bartender, was to have been brought forth, but may not arrive in time. Frederick Richter, a musician, and Henry Schwerdtfeger, a corporal in the United States Military Band at Vancouver, the other two eye-wit-nesses, however, told their story, which on the face of it is admitted by the defense

To contest this relation of fact, or other hand, the defense put Mrs. Young upon the stand to tell of the cajoling of Van Dran and of his advice, while the defendant will himself today tell his side of the story, The contention will be that the deed was done in protection of the honor of a home whose foundations were being undermined by the advice of a friend.

Van Dran as Witness.

When the case began yesterday morning Kaspar Van Dran was the first witness. He testified that his acquaintance with Young covered a perind of 15 years. On the night of the shooting, the witness said, Young had come into his saloon, and, after treating those around the bar, had called

I don't know if you have done so, but I don't think much of any man who Dran had run behind the har where he crawled under the drain, but Young had followed, and, bending over, had fired three more shots, all of which took effect in his body.

who had, said he feared trouble. The witness also said that Young had two revolvers, one of which he drew upon him. The frenzied man was at last prevailed upon to surrender and give himself up to the police without further trouble. Frederick Richter told the same story as that related by his companion.

This finished the prosecution, and Mrs. Italian Mrs told her husband of the advice given her by Van Dran, in which he said: "You have as much right to chase around with other men as Young has to chase with other women. I will be your friend."

Had Urged a Divorce.

The witness also said that Van Dran had taken her to the office of J. M. Long, an attorney, to confer, about instituting divorce proceedings. At 11:20 on the night of May 2 Van Dran had telephoned to her to come to his saloon, and she had obeyed. As she passed the saloon of her husband, however, she saw him on the sidewalk, and dodged into a near-by stairway. After her husband had gone, she ran across the street and had heard the shooting. Returning, she saw her husband in the custody of the officers, and had asked him what he had done. When he told her, she had said to him that he ought to have remembered his children. ought to have remembered his children. On the cross-examination the District Attorney made an effort to make the witness admit that she had told him a different story when in his office, but did not succeed to his entire satisfaction.

Just before the close of the session Jo-seph Young took the stand in his own behalf and told of the events leading up to the shooting; how Van Dran had come between him and his wife. The witness stated that Van Dran had tried and was trying to ruin the woman at the time of the shooting. These things, the witness said, had been told him by his wife. Young will finish his testimony today.

Great Southern Will Not Quit at Dufur.

HASTE IS MADE ON ROAD

Farmers Are Already Unloading Their Wheat at Warehouses Which Have Not Been Finished Along the Line.

John Heimrich, president of the Great Northern; W. F. Nelson, the constructing Northern; W. F. Nelson, the constructing engineer of the company; John G. Heimrich, the general manager; Julius L. Meler, secretary and purchasing agent, and George W. Joseph, the counsel for the company, accompanied Superintendent Tobin over the new line of the Great Southern from The Dalles to the end of the track on Monday.

the track on Monday.

The journey was made as a trip of inspection, and was very encouraging to the men who are doing all in their power to make the road a success and to open the Dufur and Tigh Valley districts to impediate transportation advantages. immediate transportation advantages.

The party went out over the line on one of the regular work trains, consisting of an engine and eight cars. The train car-ried machinery for the interior, miscellaneous freight and passengers. The de-mand is so great for transportation in that district that every work train passing to and from the works at the end of the line near Dufur is loaded both ways with passengers and freight. The men who are behind the road are greatly pleased with the spirit shown by the people and with the development that has come even with the hope of better transportation facilities. The road runs through a gich wheat belt, which widens out as the tracks lead toward Dufur un-til it will afford all the freight the road can well handle.

At Coopers, a small station that has sprung up since the coming of the road, a warehouse is being constructed, and even now, before the roof is on and while the workmen are finishing the building., the farmers are beginning to store their grain ready for the trains to haul it to market.

Wrenton, the largest town between Wrenton, the largest town between Dufur and The Dalles, is constructing a warehouse 100 by 200 feet in dimensions, and when the party passed through the city the grain wagons were standing before the unfinished building eight and ten in line, waiting to unload.

Track is now laid to within three miles of Dufur, and the middle of the coming week will see the rails on the city streets. Here but little stop will be made, however, for the construction will keep on the south until the line has reached Bend. The right of way has been secured for the next 25 miles south of Dufur, while the greater part of the track is assured from there to the terminal. The work will be pushed with all dispatch until the interior of the state is tupped by the company, the management of which is confident that it has the best and easiest grade into that region.

When your head aches, there is a storm in the nervous system, centering in the brain.

This irritation produces pain in the head, and the turbulent nerve current sent to the stomach causes nausea, vomiting.

This is sick headache, and is dangerous, as frequent and prolonged attacks weaken the brain, resulting in loss of memory, inflammation, epilepsy, fits, dizziness, etc.

Allay this stormy, irritated, aching condition by taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They stop the pain by soothing, strengthening and relieving the tension upon the nerves -not by paralyzing them, as do most headache remedies. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do not contain opium, morphine,
