THE MORNING OREGONIAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1903.

WHAT MRS. CHASE TELLS THE Mrs. Fremont B. Chase, whose hus cisco, was located early yesterday. morning by Headquarters Detective Hartman and when seen by a reporter for The Oregonian, she made a statement, of which the following are antracte:

18

enough proof of guilt to change my opinion.

whatever with the murder of Mrs. Van Dran."

and chemicals, so far as I have

"There is no sentimentality con-nected with it; I cars not the snap of my finger for the man; I know he

of Mrs. Van Dran; he is not that kind proof of guilt to change my bpinion," was most important statement made by Mrs. Fremont R. Chase, whose husband ts under arrest in San Francisco, sus-pected of complicity in the murder of Mrs. Minnie B. Van Dran, when she was seen last night at the City View Hotel.

with the murder of Mrs. Van Dran," con o'clock yesterday morning, and went im-mediately to the City View Hotel, where at present she is engaged in assisting in the care of the hostlery. It was in a saloon below, a year ago, that the mys-terious murder of Gus J. Breuer, never Interviews Wife of Chase.

Detective Hartman held a consultation with Mrs. Chase for almost an hour, dur. ing which he endeavored to ascertain facts that might assist in clearing up the mystery now puzzling the police. What he learned, if anything, he de-clines to state, having strict orders to remain silent upon all matters pertaining to the case

I um Mrs. Chase, ' answered a neatappearing woman, clud in a black even-ing dress. In response to the query of a reporter for The Oregonian last night.

absolutely nothing concerning this matter, and 1 know the advice is good," said Mrs. Chase, when asked for a statement.

The friend alluded to as giving ad-told her the "least said, the soonest respondent in San Francisco that the woman arrested with him and two guilty in any way of the murder Mrs. Van Dran?"

.

2

enough proof of guilt to change my opinion." replied Mrs. Chase, firmly. "Til say that much, for that cap't hurt anything."

expert chemist-is that true?" was usked far as I have any knowledge, he knows to more of drugs and chemicals than a child," was the reply.

answer anything that tended in any manner to involve the names of her me," said Mrs. Chase. "It is greatly to + die regretted, but can't be helped. One thing I want clearly understood is that, although I have told you my hus-band is innocent, and that he does not know drugs or coemicals, there is no sentimentality conected with it; I cars not the snap of my finger for the man; never intended to again live with him, and have no affection for him. I make the statements I have be-cause, knowing him as I do, I know he had no part whatever in the mur-der of Mrs. Van Dran; he is not that kind of a man."

Chase and his wife separated six months ago, since which time he has the hear working in various places, and the

