

GRIP ON HAMBURG

Another Case of Cholera and More Are Suspected.

EMIGRANTS ARE DETAINED

American Government Surgeon Says Precautions Will Keep Disease From America—Gradual Spread in Prussia.

HAMBURG, Sept. 6.—A case of cholera, the third up to date, was found today in the heart of the business and hotel districts here.

The new case is that of a Polish woman living in a ten-story apartment building. The health authorities expect to discover several more cases as the result of this one.

The authorities trace the latest case to the same source as the other two. When the Russian emigrants came to Hamburg, they were permitted to enter the town where they visited a dance hall. Here the woman evidently came into contact with them. She now lies in the Eppendorfer Hospital, but may recover.

Past Assistant Surgeon McLaughlin, of the United States Marine Hospital Corps, who arrived here yesterday from Naples under orders to make a thorough investigation of the situation and who has been instructed to enforce the United States Treasury regulations relative to ships leaving for American ports, began work today. He visited the quarantine station, and will go to Brunsbaven and examine the 1400 emigrants there bound for New York, when they will be transferred from the Bulgaria to the Graf Waldersee, on which they will sail for America.

The McLaughlin in an interview with the Associated Press today said: "I am very much pleased with the frankness and openness both of the authorities and the steamship companies. Today I was informed of the discovery of the latest case, but it was officially published and this information enabled me to promptly visit the infected house and neighborhood in which it was situated. I found that the precautions taken were most effective."

The methods of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company are very thorough, and there is no danger of the disease spreading to the United States. The American regulations require the detention of emigrants from an infected country for five days, which is the period of incubation for cholera, while the company here detains all emigrants bound for the United States for at least six days. I shall have no hesitation in giving a clean bill of health to the emigrants from the Bulgaria in midweek below Hamburg.

CHOLERA REACHES THE ODER

Infected Area Widens and Thirteen Cases Are Reported.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(4:33 P. M.)—An official bulletin just issued says that 13 new cases of cholera and two deaths were reported in Prussia during the 24 hours ending at noon today, making the total 90 cases and 26 deaths. The infected area of the Oder is widening today. The River Oder has become infected. Three cases have been reported from the administrative district of Frankfurt-on-the-Oder in three small places along the stream among the river meadows. Thirty hostmen have been quarantined at Kustrin, a railway town near the union of the Oder and the Warta. Sharp sanitary precautions have been taken throughout the district.

MARIENWERDER, West Prussia. Sept. 6.—Three fresh cholera cases and one death have been reported in this administrative district.

POSEN, Prussia, Sept. 6.—The wife of a shipowner at Gdansk, of Stettin, died here today of cholera.

LESS POLITICS, MORE WORK

What Is Needed in Labor Bureaus of the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—At today's session of the Labor Commissioners of the United States, Commissioner Blair, of Pennsylvania, said in an address: "What is needed in the labor bureaus of the United States is less politics. With politics eliminated and men of wide judgment selected to fill the offices, a great work could be accomplished. Give the commissioners authority of room and unhampered choice of their assistants. Give us a universal system of gathering statistics."

Olympian in New Hands.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The record ownership of the Morning Olympian of this city has again changed. Since late in 1904 the record owners have been H. D. Crawford and Charles F. Cork, of Aberdeen. According to common report, however, the proprietor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and C. J. Lord, president of the Capital National Bank, had put enough money into the venture to control the policy of the paper.

In the change in ownership, Crawford and Cork retire and the new owners are David W. King, who has been managing editor of the paper since January, and C. Hartwell, a young newspaper man who, it is said, recently came in for a fair lump of money through a relative. The purchase price is given at $10,000. With the bill of sale there is filed for record a mortgage for $5000 to E. C. Hughes, one of the owners of the Post-Intelligencer. The mortgage is given to secure a note for a like amount payable on demand. The demand feature of the note is taken as an indication that there are silent partners in the reorganization of the publishing company, who propose to dictate the business and political policy of the paper.

According to belief here, Lord still retains a strong grip on the paper, either through King or the Hughes mortgage. During the session of the Legislature the Olympian was strongly pro-William in the Senatorial fight, opposed legislation that was intended to require the division of state deposits controlled by Lord's bank, and a strong supporter of Governor Wood in all his acts. No change in policy is expected.

Killed by Falling Revolver.

ENTERPRISE, Or., Sept. 6.—While Deputy Sheriff Harvey Wilson was seated in the Sheriff's office with his Safe to Visit Linn County.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—An Albany real estate dealer today stated that the continued reports of forest fires in Linn County have frightened a number of intending settlers into the idea of taking trips over the Valley. Three families arrived in town yesterday, and stated that they had about decided not to come to Linn County, when "the whole Valley was afire," but were informed by friends in Portland that it would be a safe trip.

As a matter of fact the fires are all in the mountains, and these are a good way from the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. There is nothing to sustain a general fire in the Valley, all the timber being in the mountains, and anyone desiring to see the agricultural country can safely come to Linn County.

Do Not Want Indian Pickers.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Hoppers in the Payallup, White and Stuck River Valleys have asked the Seattle public employment bureau to provide 400 men for the hopping season. Emphasis is laid on the growers' statement that they do not want to employ Indians this year. White labor is exceedingly scarce and labor contractors who handle Chinese and Japanese labor believe there will be a chance for the Orientals to cut into the business.

She was formerly Miss Martha Kilgore, and came to Oregon in 1854, residing in Ashland almost continuously ever since.

SURPRISE TO ISAAC TORFF

GOES TO MEET WIFE, FINDS MOTHER-IN-LAW GONE.

Joyous Anticipation Turned to Grief on Arrival of Steamer in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Isaac Torff came from Germany long ago to accumulate sufficient money to send a few weeks ago for his wife, Ida. He instructed her to sail on the Potomac. With delightful anticipations he went to Ellis Island today to welcome her. In the course of time an official called out "Isaac Torff." Isaac stepped forward.

"Ida Torff," called the official. Isaac turned joyously to greet her, when a wave of surprise, succeeded by one of anger, swept over his face.

"What?" he shouted, "mine mother-in-law?" And so it was. Instead of Mrs. Torff there bustled forward her buxom mother.

"What are you doing here?" Torff demanded. "Where is mine Ida?" The mother-in-law explained that the letter with passage money reached her first and she decided to run over and see that everything was all right for Ida's reception. Torff was angry, but finally decided to take his mother-in-law out of hock and then went home to save money to send for his wife.

PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—An imperial order was issued today dismissing Rear-Admiral Negoboff and the Captains of the battleship Nicolai I (now the Ek) and the cruisers Admiral Benkhanov and the Minozhimov and General Admiral Apraxine from the Okhotsk, which were surrendered to the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

All four officers, besides being deprived of their rank, are liable to punishment under the provisions of the naval penal code. The Emperor has ordered all other officers who surrendered their vessels to be tried on their return to Russia.

He testified that upon one occasion, while he and his wife were living at Fort Leavenworth, he had told his wife he would shoot Lieutenant Fortescue if he came home with her. Another witness heard today was a detective from a private agency in shadow Mrs. Taggart.

NOLAN OBJECTS TO JEFF

Talks of Collusion Between Heavy-Weight and the Britts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—"I have no objection to Jeffries on the score of dishonesty, but on account of a change in the betting throughout the world, I believe collusion between Jeff and the Britts."

Such was the statement made tonight by Billy Nolan, manager of Battling Nelson, when Nolan was asked to state his opinion as to the chances of Jeffries against the Britts. Nolan declared that he never made the statement attributed to him that any referee except Billy Roche would be agreeable to him.

"I was perfectly satisfied to have Jeff act as referee after the coin had been tossed between him and Siler," but I changed my mind with this when the decision was made on it was agreed between Britts, the club, and myself, that the referee was to be in the city five days prior to the fight. When the decision was made according to the programme, but instead sent a telegram to the club demanding $300 for his services. I considered that he was entitled to another man, especially as the betting had dropped after Jeff was named.

Then when Britts' brother sent a telegram to Jeff, and I wrote the answer to Delaney accepting $1000. It strengthened my belief that there was something wrong. Britts' brother denied that he had sent such a telegram. If Britts could prove that he did not communicate with the referee he could not prove his denial."

Nolan said that Nelson would be prepared to enter the ring Saturday on time, but would not appear in the arena if Jeff was the umpire. Club Manager Corroth tonight stated that at 2 o'clock Saturday Britts and Jeff would be in the ring.

So the situation stands and no one is prepared to say what the outcome will be, especially as no further conferences between the disputing parties have been arranged.

Firemen Risk Lives for Horses.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Eight firemen had a narrow escape from death today in a fire which destroyed the building at 410-44 Milwaukee avenue and gutted 43 horses. The firemen, members of Engine Company 3, dashed into the burning building and dragged out the horses. The origin of the fire was similar to that of the great Chicago fire. Then Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern, while today a horse kicked over a lantern.

American Murderer in Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.—The Criminal Court at Stamboul has condemned to death the Armenian Ghurkia Vartanian, a naturalized American citizen, for the murder of the Armenian merchant Asik Unak, August 28, who was shot by Vartanian in the Galata quarter of this city.

Thwing, of the Western Reserve University, who returned today from a visit to Andrew Carnegie, at the latter's castle in Scotland, announced that Mr. Carnegie has given $25,000 toward the establishment of a fund of $100,000 for the endowment of a chair of political economy at the Western Reserve University, to bear the name of the late United States Senator M. A. Hanna.

FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY

Watterson Predicts Further Defeat, Caffery Sees Hope Ahead.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 7.—"What is the Democratic party going to do in the way of reorganization between now and a meeting of the Democratic National convention in 1907?"

Notwithstanding three years intervene, there is a great deal of speculation among politicians on this point, though most of the interest is manifest by members or ex-members of that party.

Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, a Democrat of the old school and a far-seeing politician, is of the opinion that the Democracy three years hence will be the same divided party as it is today. It is his opinion that there will then, as now, be a conservative and a radical wing, the latter to be under the domination of William J. Bryan, the former floundering around for a leader. Mr. Watterson points out that since the election of 1904 showed the utter ruin of the Democratic party no step has been made toward reorganization, except the steps made by Bryan. From the very day that Bryan has been gathering his clans about him, and has demonstrated that he is the only man in the Democratic party who today has any kind of visible following.

But Mr. Watterson believes, as many other conservative Democrats do, that Bryan will not be able to muster the entire Democracy behind him, not even as much as he is in the campaign of 1904 and 1906. He may be able to secure another nomination for President; but Mr. Watterson well says he will stand no show of election. Or Bryan may force the nomination of some man in sympathy with his views, but he will not be able to force the election of that man. A divided Democracy can never win against the solid Republican party, says Henry Watterson, and the conservative element of his party agree with him.

Another Democrat, once prominent in Congress, Senator Caffery, of Louisiana, holds some of Mr. Watterson's views, but he sees a possible move on the political horizon which may relieve the Democracy of its embarrassment. It is Caffery's opinion that the tariff is to again become the paramount issue. He points out that the Republican party is not a unit on this question, but admits that the Democrats have justly divided. He says there is too much protection sentiment in the South to permit Southern Democrats to actively champion a tariff revision measure. The South, with its new factories, has produced the tariff, and in Mr. Caffery's opinion, should the Democrats be entrusted with the revision of the tariff, "there would be another Sherman or another Smith to make it a protection measure." He points to the tariff speeches of Senator Bacon, of Georgia, and Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, as sustaining his view.

Nevertheless, Mr. Caffery believes there will have to be tariff revision, and if the Republicans will not revise it, he says it will be revised by a third party. Unless the Republicans revise the tariff before the end of Roosevelt's administration, he expects to see a new party spring into existence, a reform party, having the tariff and more frequently the tariff standpatters, he says, will stay with the Republican party; tariff revisionists will join the new party and Democrats not at heart protectionists will join it. But Mr. Caffery says very positively that if a move does occur, Bryan will not be its leader. He thinks the peerless leader is "down and out."

KEEPS GOOD MEN IN OFFICE

Alabama Will Re-Elect Her Two Veteran Senators.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 5.—Alabama is one of the states that realizes the importance of sending good men to Congress and keeping them there. There is to be a session of the Alabama Legislature next week, the only one for four years. In the interim the terms of both United States Senators will expire, so it will be incumbent upon the Legislature next winter to elect two Senators, one to succeed Morgan, whose term expires in 1907, and another to succeed Pettus, whose term expires two years later. In all human probability Morgan and Pettus will be re-elected, notwithstanding Morgan is 81 years old and Pettus 84. The chances are that both will die in harness if they are given another term, but they have served their state long and honorably, and are thought to deserve another term. Both are important factors on the Democratic side of the Senate.

For his years Senator Morgan is one of the most remarkable men who ever held a seat in the Senate. He can today talk for six hours at a stretch, and has done it many times in the last Congress, sometimes for five or six days in succession. It is true his speeches against the Panama Canal and in favor of the Nicaragua route have been disregarded by the Senate, in fact have been totally ignored, but he has lived to see the time when his contentions are largely being sustained, his prophetic utterances are being fulfilled, and he has a useful, an honored and an influential Senator.

Pettus, though older in years, is younger in spirit as well. He is a potent factor in his own party in the Senate and has a deal of influence across the party aisle. Morgan has been in the Senate since 1877, nearly 30 years. Pettus entered the Senate in 1897, and only his advanced years will deny him as long a Senatorial career as his colleague. Indeed, some of Pettus' friends jokingly assure him that he will yet serve as long as Morgan.

PATROL FOREST RESERVES

Montana Supervisor Will Use Railroad Velocipede Against Fires.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The Forest Service is making an experiment in Montana which may lead to a betterment of the system of patrol of forest reserves penetrated by railroads. Forest Supervisor Halnes, in the Lewis and Clark reserve, has been authorized to purchase a railroad velocipede for not more than $45. Mr. Halnes is assigned to that part of the reserve lying along the line of the Great Northern Railway, and it is proposed that he shall use this velocipede in traveling back and forth, patrolling the forests along the railroad.

It is realized that one of the chief dangers of forest fires is sparks from railway locomotives, and it is believed that a ranger or rangers equipped with these velocipedes will be able to more thoroughly and more frequently patrol the line of a road in the danger belt than rangers afoot or on horseback. If the experiment proves a success in Montana, rangers of reserves of other states will be similarly equipped, wherever reserves are crossed by railroads.

Arrests of Masters and Mates.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Wholesale arrests of masters, mates and seamen, accused of having obtained naturalization papers fraudulently, are about to be made by Captain B. W. Bell, in charge of the local United States Secret Service Office.

Acting on orders received from Washington and warrants from California, Captain Bell and his assistants are planning to make a raid on half a dozen coast steamships as soon as they reach this port. At least two-score arrests of men, from captains down to ordinary seamen, will result. The secret service men will have a list of the vessels on which the suspects are and the names and descriptions of their men. The moment the vessels reach here the officers will be on hand to get the men.

It has been the practice of the seamen to secure their papers so that they would become eligible for service as mates and officers on American ships. In California several seamen have voluntarily surrendered their bogus papers and the certificates as ship's officers that they secured upon them.

Cleveland Buys New Home.

SANDWICH, N. H., Sept. 6.—Ex-President Cleveland, who, with his family, has passed the last two Summers in this village, has purchased two farms in the adjacent town of Tamworth, with the idea, it is understood, of making the estate his permanent summer home.

Girl Toilers Gain Strength for Work In office and factory, shop, store or kitchen girls are at work all over this land, and alas! far beyond their strength. Young women who work are especially liable to female ills. Too often the girl is the bread winner of the family and she must toil unremittingly, no matter if her back does ache, her limbs and abdomen throb with dull pain and dragging sensations, and dizzy spells make her utterly unfit for work. These are the sure signs of female irregularities which kill beauty and youth.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

builds health and strength for all women who work and are weary. It creates the vitality that makes work easy. From the thousands of grateful letters written by working girls to Mrs. Pinkham we quote the following:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell you the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have done for me. Before I took them I was very nervous, had dull headaches, pains in back, and monthlies were irregular. I had been to several doctors and they did me no good.

Your medicine has made me well and strong, I can do most any kind of work without complaint, and my periods are all right. I am in better health than I ever was, and I know it is all due to your remedies. I recommend your advice and medicine to all who suffer.

Miss Asay F. Barrows, Nelsonville, Athens Co., Ohio.

Oh, if American girls who work would only realize that they have but one life to live, and make the most of their precious health and strength! Mrs. Pinkham extends to every working girl who is in ill health a cordial invitation to write her for advice. Such letters are always kept strictly confidential, and from her vast experience Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help you—and may save your life.
