

GIANTS ALL TO GOOD

Hand Out Wallop to Loo Loo in One-Sided Game.

M'LEAN PUT OFF GROUNDS

Big Catcher Kicks on a Decision Which Davis Finally Changed to Favor the Contention of the Portlander.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Yesterday's Results.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Rows include Portland 6, Los Angeles 3, Oakland 6, San Francisco 3, Seattle 3, Tacoma 2.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Portland walloped the Loo Loo today for the odd game in a hard fight. It was exciting and yet one-sided all the way.

LOS ANGELES.

Table with 2 columns: Player, Runs, Hits, Errors. Rows include Bernard, Smith, Dillon, Cravath, Rose, Spies, Goodwin, Eager.

PORTLAND.

Table with 2 columns: Player, Runs, Hits, Errors. Rows include Van Buren, Mitchell, Schaffly, Householder, McLean, McHale, Egan, Jones.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Innings 1-9, Total. Rows for Los Angeles and Portland.

STUMBLERS.

Stolen bases—Mitchell, Schaffly, McHale. Two-base hits—Cravath, Mitchell, Egan, Van Buren.

SWASHES OUT OF THE CELLAR

Win Two Games From the Tigers on Home Grounds.

SEATTLE, Sept. 17.—The locals won both games of a doubleheader before a record-breaking crowd, made it seven straight from Tacoma and crawled from the position in the cellar. The first game was a pitchers' battle between Keefer and Rube Vickers.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Rows include Seattle 6, Tacoma 0.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Rows include Seattle 7, Tacoma 1.

OAKLAND WINS TWO GAMES

Twelve Innings Are Necessary in the Afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Oakland made it two straight today, capturing the afternoon game at the end of the 12th inning, when two hits gave the needed run. The locals made all of their five runs in the eighth, when Iberg temporarily lost his cunning and a homer by Nealon helped out. In the morning Oakland's hits came together in a timely fashion. The San Francisco team could not do anything with Graham.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Rows include San Francisco 0, Oakland 1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Detroit 2, St. Louis 1.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—Sleazy baseball was responsible for the home defeat. The attendance was 7200. The score: R. H. E. Detroit 2, St. Louis 1.

Chicago 4, Cleveland 2. CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—The American League season closed here today with a tie game for Chicago. Aitken pitched in the form. The attendance was 15,700. The score: R. H. E. Chicago 4, Cleveland 2.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

St. Louis 5-5, Chicago 2-4. CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—St. Louis won the first game today after two outs. A single, a batman hit and long fly put out of

SLIPPER'S REACH BROUGHT IN THE WINNING RUNS.

P. P. Shelby Compares It With South of France.

IS NOT UNLIKE LOURDES

Destined With Its Natural Advantages to Become One of the Great Winter Resorts of the Continent.

PORTLAND, Sept. 17, 1905.—(To the Editor.)—The climatic conditions of Boise

GOOD WRESTLING ASSURED

CLASSES FOR COMING TOURNAMENT ARE WELL FILLED.

Contests Will Take Place at Multnomah Club Gymnasium Instead of at the Exposition.

All the wrestlers who will take the mat in the wrestling tournament scheduled as a part of the Exposition sports, are on the ground. It was originally intended to hold the bouts in the Auditorium, but at a meeting of the committee the cool evenings and probable rain, the matches were transferred to the big gymnasium of the Multnomah Club.

Edgar Frank, who will have charge of the tournament, is well pleased with the class of wrestlers that have entered. Five classes are scheduled with entries enough in each class to assure some good wrestling.

George Michling, one of the best-known wrestling instructors on the coast, arrived yesterday from San Francisco with five clever mat strugglers from the Olympic Club. Seattle failed to send a representative, but Frank Vance of Ballard, Wash., and J. Hennick will represent Washington. The M. A. A. C. and Y. M. C. A. are well represented.

The preliminary bouts will take place this evening, and the finals are set for Tuesday night. Ladies will be admitted. The charge for admission will be 25 cents, the same as the admission to the Exposition.

The entries and the various classes follow: 115-pound class—George Teller, M. A. A. C.; Milton Meyer, M. A. A. C.; Bud Angus, M. A. A. C. 125-pound class—R. E. Barney, Olympic Club; C. P. Killean, M. A. A. C.; E. Frank, M. A. A. C.

16-pound class—C. D. Pentony, Olympic Club; R. E. Barney, Olympic Club; Walter Wagner, M. A. A. C.; H. Feldman, M. A. A. C.; Kirby Kirtland, M. A. A. C.; Frank Vance, Ballard, Wash. 18-pound class—Herbert Duncan, Olympic Club; Harry Livingston, M. A. A. C. 195-pound class—Frank Bayly, Olympic Club; L. C. Haselbacher, Olympic Club; J. H. Plinkham, Y. M. C. A.; J. Hennick, Spokane Athletic Club.

All other Olympic events held under the auspices of the Exposition, medals and cup will be the prizes that will go to the winners.

WRESTLER VANCE IS TO COME

Tilly and McDonald Prevented by University Authorities.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Because of the interference of university authorities, Seattle will not be represented in the wrestling tournament at Portland on Thursday, McDonald and continues football coach at the University of Washington, and Tilly, one of the best men in the country at his weight of 165 pounds.

Tilly's chances were remarkably good for he has defeated the best of them in his class. But the intimation was borne to him plainly that he would be more satisfactory to a faction in the university if he stayed at home and made up some of his conditions, so he could qualify later for the football team. This suggestion was made in the regular channels, and it was law enough to keep Tilly at home. When Tilly had to give up, McDonald decided not to go. Tilly, who has been training faithfully with McDonald and Tilly, is entered in the match, but whatever he does will be on his own account, and not for a local institution.

There has been some dissatisfaction stirred up over the Tilly episode, and Tilly himself is threatening to chuck the football game. For the last two years he has been in and out of the game, and the treatment of Tilly indicates there will be rigid supervision over athletics this season.

Golf Tourney at Morris Club.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—W. Fellows, secretary of the United States Golf Association, today made the official announcement that the women's National championship, open to all women amateur golfers belonging to clubs which are members of the United States Golf Association, and to other foreigners visiting this country who may be invited to compete by the executive committee of the association, will be played on the course of the Morris County Golf Club, Convent Station, New Jersey, commencing Monday, October 9, where the Roberts cup and four medals will be competed for. Those qualifying will compete at 118 holes, match play.

Big Entry List at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 17.—The most remarkable entry list in the history of harness racing has been received by the Kentucky Breeders' Association for the big Lexington meeting of October 3-14. Three hundred and twenty-four horses have been named in 20 purses just closed, which, added to those kept in the stakes, brings the total up to 628 and breaks the record for the American trotting track established by the Lexington meeting in 1886 by nearly 100.

Grand Circuit Opens Today.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—The Grand Circuit races open at the Columbus Driving Park tomorrow, with prospects for one of the most successful meetings ever held here. There is a record-breaking list of entries. The features of the meeting will be the 5000 purse for 215 pacers to be started Monday; the $10,000 stake for 120 trotters to be started Tuesday; and the $1000 stake for 3-year-old trotters to be started Wednesday.

BUSINESS ITEMS.

If Baby Is Cutting Teeth. Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, "Baby's Teething Syrup," for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, kills all pain, cures wild colic and diarrhoea.

CLIMATE OF BOISE

WILL DEFEAT GAME

LID OFF IN FIGHT CIRCLES

Battling Nelson's Manager Swears That Money Was Raised and Paid to Kill Ralston Bill in California Legislature.

At last the lid is off in San Francisco, and one of the nastiest scandals that has yet arisen in connection with the fighting game is on tap. The person who has shed the light on this scandal is no other than Britton Nelson, Harry Corbett's manager, who has been killed by Britton. It seems that before and since the fight, Nolan drew on this amount, which was $2500, until the amount was reduced to $1000. Nolan's claim is that when he called upon Corbett to pay over the remainder of the money Corbett held out the $1000. Nelson's manager says that he repeatedly called upon Corbett for the money, and each time he was turned down, Corbett claiming that the $1000 was Nolan's contribution to the corruption fund used to buy votes to kill the Ralston bill.

Nolan, whose chief occupation before he became Nelson's manager was that of a bartender, poolroom tout and gambler, has certainly stirred things up here before and since the fight. He has been branded as being crazy weeks before the fight between Britton and Nelson came off, and now the sports down in the Bay City openly declare that his place is in the padded cell. Harry Corbett, against whom Nolan has made his charges, is one of the best-known sporting men in the United States, and always has been considered on the square. He denies the charges made by Nolan, and denounces Nelson's manager as crazy. He says there were no contributions to a corruption fund, and that the money he is holding out from Nolan is money due him. Everybody in San Francisco who knew Nolan before he became Nelson's manager knows that Corbett held him up and staked him on several occasions. In fact, it was Corbett who convinced the Dane that Nolan would be a good manager for him when he had trouble with his former manager, Murphy. Corbett claims that Nolan owes him more than $1000. It seems that Corbett not so long ago staked Nolan to go to Butte, Mont., to start a poolroom, and that Nolan, even after he became prosperous, showed no sign of paying the money back; so when he got his hands on a part of the forfeit money he held to it.

In his affidavit, Nolan brings in the names of Morris Levy, Alex Greggains, James Britton, Jimmy Britt, Willie Britton and a number of other well-known boxers and fight promoters. He even drags in the name of Colonel Martin Brady, one of the truest and most loyal lovers of the sporting game that ever looked through a pair of eyes, or shook up by the hand. There is hardly any reason to doubt that a good manager for him when he had fight promoters of San Francisco. The truth of this goes almost without saying, for if those who made their money in the fighting game had laid down, the only way they could have been paid, Britton and Nelson would have never met, and Nolan would never have received 25 per cent of Nelson's end of the purse.

Bill Will Be Passed. Nolan's expose will do two things. It means that at the next meeting of the California Legislature a bill similar to the railroad rate bill now before the legislature will be introduced and passed. Nolan and Nelson will be the losers, and those who follow their calling will also suffer. It also means the death knell of Nolan in San Francisco. Some of these days Nolan will be without a Nelson to earn his bread money. He will be like his manager before he became a manager—broke. If this happens, he will surely starve, for he will be spat upon if he ever calls for aid. He will be lucky if he gets out of the state alive, for some agree with our present knowledge of the subject.—Edward A. Beals.

SEEKS PLACE ON BOARD

P. P. Shelby May Be Named for Interstate Commerce Commission.

P. P. Shelby, of Boise City, Idaho, is visiting the Fair, and his presence here at this particular time is significant in view of the fact that on August 2 last Mr. Shelby made application to President Roosevelt for a position on the Interstate Commerce Commission in the event of the railroad rate bill now before the United States Senate becoming a law. The President has lately announced that, everything else being equal, he would favor veterans of the Civil War for these places, and it is understood that Mr. Shelby is about the only applicant west of the Missouri River endowed with proper qualifications.

For upward of 48 years he has been in the railroad business, principally in traffic lines, and for nearly 22 years consecutively, he was connected with the Union Pacific, the chief part of which line he had charge of the freight department of the road. For many years he was on the Great Northern as general traffic manager. He helped to formulate the present system of rates on the Union Pacific, which is claimed all the other transcontinental lines have adopted.

There never has been a man on this commission from any portion of the territory west of the Missouri River, since the Interstate Commerce law went into effect April 5, 1887.

There are similar conditions at Boise. An Eastern legend tells us that when Paradise was fading from the earth, a single rose was saved and treasured by an angel, who gives to every mortal, when he dies, a rose which is called the immortal flower—one alone, but it is worth a million ordinary ones. There are some favored portions of our earth who can easily persuade himself that he inhabits this perfumed air of Paradise, and Boise, in the month of May, is one of them. Another legend, of the Pyrenees, is the home of legends and poetry, is said that Christ became displeased with some shepherds there and transformed their pasture into ice; it does not say for what. It may have been the two-mile limit. They have a law in Idaho prohibiting herdsmen from driving their flocks within two miles of any habitation. Christ could have come there in a rose-coat from Alexandria, for that as a matter of fact is there today, and the average herdsman is queer. If the climate of the earth was the same all the way around and the products similar there would be no use for railroads or hotels, as the people would not want to travel, or have anything to ship, as there would be no market. It seems, however, that an all-wise Providence decreed otherwise; the result is that people of the earth to mingle, for he made man a gregarious animal, and stored the wealth in different places so as to compel him to travel.

About a month ago I was talking with a woman in Palmesville, O., who spent last Winter in Florida. She and her husband have means enough to spend the Winter where they desire. They have spent several Winters in Central America. She told me that she did not feel as when returning from Florida last Spring as she did last Winter when she went down there. I said to her, "Why don't you come out to Boise? We have a beautiful city, first-class hotel, a fine sanatorium, paved streets, electric lights and street cars." She replied, "Oh, it's too cold out there." I succeeded in disabusing her mind of her erroneous opinion. I may add that this traveler is one of the most intelligent women I have ever known. Now, right here is a suggestion for the

CLIMATE OF BOISE

WILL DEFEAT GAME

LID OFF IN FIGHT CIRCLES

Battling Nelson's Manager Swears That Money Was Raised and Paid to Kill Ralston Bill in California Legislature.

At last the lid is off in San Francisco, and one of the nastiest scandals that has yet arisen in connection with the fighting game is on tap. The person who has shed the light on this scandal is no other than Britton Nelson, Harry Corbett's manager, who has been killed by Britton. It seems that before and since the fight, Nolan drew on this amount, which was $2500, until the amount was reduced to $1000. Nolan's claim is that when he called upon Corbett to pay over the remainder of the money Corbett held out the $1000. Nelson's manager says that he repeatedly called upon Corbett for the money, and each time he was turned down, Corbett claiming that the $1000 was Nolan's contribution to the corruption fund used to buy votes to kill the Ralston bill.

Nolan, whose chief occupation before he became Nelson's manager was that of a bartender, poolroom tout and gambler, has certainly stirred things up here before and since the fight. He has been branded as being crazy weeks before the fight between Britton and Nelson came off, and now the sports down in the Bay City openly declare that his place is in the padded cell. Harry Corbett, against whom Nolan has made his charges, is one of the best-known sporting men in the United States, and always has been considered on the square. He denies the charges made by Nolan, and denounces Nelson's manager as crazy. He says there were no contributions to a corruption fund, and that the money he is holding out from Nolan is money due him. Everybody in San Francisco who knew Nolan before he became Nelson's manager knows that Corbett held him up and staked him on several occasions. In fact, it was Corbett who convinced the Dane that Nolan would be a good manager for him when he had trouble with his former manager, Murphy. Corbett claims that Nolan owes him more than $1000. It seems that Corbett not so long ago staked Nolan to go to Butte, Mont., to start a poolroom, and that Nolan, even after he became prosperous, showed no sign of paying the money back; so when he got his hands on a part of the forfeit money he held to it.

In his affidavit, Nolan brings in the names of Morris Levy, Alex Greggains, James Britton, Jimmy Britt, Willie Britton and a number of other well-known boxers and fight promoters. He even drags in the name of Colonel Martin Brady, one of the truest and most loyal lovers of the sporting game that ever looked through a pair of eyes, or shook up by the hand. There is hardly any reason to doubt that a good manager for him when he had fight promoters of San Francisco. The truth of this goes almost without saying, for if those who made their money in the fighting game had laid down, the only way they could have been paid, Britton and Nelson would have never met, and Nolan would never have received 25 per cent of Nelson's end of the purse.

Bill Will Be Passed. Nolan's expose will do two things. It means that at the next meeting of the California Legislature a bill similar to the railroad rate bill now before the legislature will be introduced and passed. Nolan and Nelson will be the losers, and those who follow their calling will also suffer. It also means the death knell of Nolan in San Francisco. Some of these days Nolan will be without a Nelson to earn his bread money. He will be like his manager before he became a manager—broke. If this happens, he will surely starve, for he will be spat upon if he ever calls for aid. He will be lucky if he gets out of the state alive, for some agree with our present knowledge of the subject.—Edward A. Beals.

SEEKS PLACE ON BOARD

P. P. Shelby May Be Named for Interstate Commerce Commission.

P. P. Shelby, of Boise City, Idaho, is visiting the Fair, and his presence here at this particular time is significant in view of the fact that on August 2 last Mr. Shelby made application to President Roosevelt for a position on the Interstate Commerce Commission in the event of the railroad rate bill now before the United States Senate becoming a law. The President has lately announced that, everything else being equal, he would favor veterans of the Civil War for these places, and it is understood that Mr. Shelby is about the only applicant west of the Missouri River endowed with proper qualifications.

For upward of 48 years he has been in the railroad business, principally in traffic lines, and for nearly 22 years consecutively, he was connected with the Union Pacific, the chief part of which line he had charge of the freight department of the road. For many years he was on the Great Northern as general traffic manager. He helped to formulate the present system of rates on the Union Pacific, which is claimed all the other transcontinental lines have adopted.

There never has been a man on this commission from any portion of the territory west of the Missouri River, since the Interstate Commerce law went into effect April 5, 1887.

There are similar conditions at Boise. An Eastern legend tells us that when Paradise was fading from the earth, a single rose was saved and treasured by an angel, who gives to every mortal, when he dies, a rose which is called the immortal flower—one alone, but it is worth a million ordinary ones. There are some favored portions of our earth who can easily persuade himself that he inhabits this perfumed air of Paradise, and Boise, in the month of May, is one of them. Another legend, of the Pyrenees, is the home of legends and poetry, is said that Christ became displeased with some shepherds there and transformed their pasture into ice; it does not say for what. It may have been the two-mile limit. They have a law in Idaho prohibiting herdsmen from driving their flocks within two miles of any habitation. Christ could have come there in a rose-coat from Alexandria, for that as a matter of fact is there today, and the average herdsman is queer. If the climate of the earth was the same all the way around and the products similar there would be no use for railroads or hotels, as the people would not want to travel, or have anything to ship, as there would be no market. It seems, however, that an all-wise Providence decreed otherwise; the result is that people of the earth to mingle, for he made man a gregarious animal, and stored the wealth in different places so as to compel him to travel.

About a month ago I was talking with a woman in Palmesville, O., who spent last Winter in Florida. She and her husband have means enough to spend the Winter where they desire. They have spent several Winters in Central America. She told me that she did not feel as when returning from Florida last Spring as she did last Winter when she went down there. I said to her, "Why don't you come out to Boise? We have a beautiful city, first-class hotel, a fine sanatorium, paved streets, electric lights and street cars." She replied, "Oh, it's too cold out there." I succeeded in disabusing her mind of her erroneous opinion. I may add that this traveler is one of the most intelligent women I have ever known. Now, right here is a suggestion for the

CLIMATE OF BOISE

WILL DEFEAT GAME

LID OFF IN FIGHT CIRCLES

Battling Nelson's Manager Swears That Money Was Raised and Paid to Kill Ralston Bill in California Legislature.

At last the lid is off in San Francisco, and one of the nastiest scandals that has yet arisen in connection with the fighting game is on tap. The person who has shed the light on this scandal is no other than Britton Nelson, Harry Corbett's manager, who has been killed by Britton. It seems that before and since the fight, Nolan drew on this amount, which was $2500, until the amount was reduced to $1000. Nolan's claim is that when he called upon Corbett to pay over the remainder of the money Corbett held out the $1000. Nelson's manager says that he repeatedly called upon Corbett for the money, and each time he was turned down, Corbett claiming that the $1000 was Nolan's contribution to the corruption fund used to buy votes to kill the Ralston bill.

Nolan, whose chief occupation before he became Nelson's manager was that of a bartender, poolroom tout and gambler, has certainly stirred things up here before and since the fight. He has been branded as being crazy weeks before the fight between Britton and Nelson came off, and now the sports down in the Bay City openly declare that his place is in the padded cell. Harry Corbett, against whom Nolan has made his charges, is one of the best-known sporting men in the United States, and always has been considered on the square. He denies the charges made by Nolan, and denounces Nelson's manager as crazy. He says there were no contributions to a corruption fund, and that the money he is holding out from Nolan is money due him. Everybody in San Francisco who knew Nolan before he became Nelson's manager knows that Corbett held him up and staked him on several occasions. In fact, it was Corbett who convinced the Dane that Nolan would be a good manager for him when he had trouble with his former manager, Murphy. Corbett claims that Nolan owes him more than $1000. It seems that Corbett not so long ago staked Nolan to go to Butte, Mont., to start a poolroom, and that Nolan, even after he became prosperous, showed no sign of paying the money back; so when he got his hands on a part of the forfeit money he held to it.

In his affidavit, Nolan brings in the names of Morris Levy, Alex Greggains, James Britton, Jimmy Britt, Willie Britton and a number of other well-known boxers and fight promoters. He even drags in the name of Colonel Martin Brady, one of the truest and most loyal lovers of the sporting game that ever looked through a pair of eyes, or shook up by the hand. There is hardly any reason to doubt that a good manager for him when he had fight promoters of San Francisco. The truth of this goes almost without saying, for if those who made their money in the fighting game had laid down, the only way they could have been paid, Britton and Nelson would have never met, and Nolan would never have received 25 per cent of Nelson's end of the purse.

Bill Will Be Passed. Nolan's expose will do two things. It means that at the next meeting of the California Legislature a bill similar to the railroad rate bill now before the legislature will be introduced and passed. Nolan and Nelson will be the losers, and those who follow their calling will also suffer. It also means the death knell of Nolan in San Francisco. Some of these days Nolan will be without a Nelson to earn his bread money. He will be like his manager before he became a manager—broke. If this happens, he will surely starve, for he will be spat upon if he ever calls for aid. He will be lucky if he gets out of the state alive, for some agree with our present knowledge of the subject.—Edward A. Beals.

SEEKS PLACE ON BOARD

P. P. Shelby May Be Named for Interstate Commerce Commission.

P. P. Shelby, of Boise City, Idaho, is visiting the Fair, and his presence here at this particular time is significant in view of the fact that on August 2 last Mr. Shelby made application to President Roosevelt for a position on the Interstate Commerce Commission in the event of the railroad rate bill now before the United States Senate becoming a law. The President has lately announced that, everything else being equal, he would favor veterans of the Civil War for these places, and it is understood that Mr. Shelby is about the only applicant west of the Missouri River endowed with proper qualifications.

For upward of 48 years he has been in the railroad business, principally in traffic lines, and for nearly 22 years consecutively, he was connected with the Union Pacific, the chief part of which line he had charge of the freight department of the road. For many years he was on the Great Northern as general traffic manager. He helped to formulate the present system of rates on the Union Pacific, which is claimed all the other transcontinental lines have adopted.

There never has been a man on this commission from any portion of the territory west of the Missouri River, since the Interstate Commerce law went into effect April 5, 1887.

There are similar conditions at Boise. An Eastern legend tells us that when Paradise was fading from the earth, a single rose was saved and treasured by an angel, who gives to every mortal, when he dies, a rose which is called the immortal flower—one alone, but it is worth a million ordinary ones. There are some favored portions of our earth who can easily persuade himself that he inhabits this perfumed air of Paradise, and Boise, in the month of May, is one of them. Another legend, of the Pyrenees, is the home of legends and poetry, is said that Christ became displeased with some shepherds there and transformed their pasture into ice; it does not say for what. It may have been the two-mile limit. They have a law in Idaho prohibiting herdsmen from driving their flocks within two miles of any habitation. Christ could have come there in a rose-coat from Alexandria, for that as a matter of fact is there today, and the average herdsman is queer. If the climate of the earth was the same all the way around and the products similar there would be no use for railroads or hotels, as the people would not want to travel, or have anything to ship, as there would be no market. It seems, however, that an all-wise Providence decreed otherwise; the result is that people of the earth to mingle, for he made man a gregarious animal, and stored the wealth in different places so as to compel him to travel.

About a month ago I was talking with a woman in Palmesville, O., who spent last Winter in Florida. She and her husband have means enough to spend the Winter where they desire. They have spent several Winters in Central America. She told me that she did not feel as when returning from Florida last Spring as she did last Winter when she went down there. I said to her, "Why don't you come out to Boise? We have a beautiful city, first-class hotel, a fine sanatorium, paved streets, electric lights and street cars." She replied, "Oh, it's too cold out there." I succeeded in disabusing her mind of her erroneous opinion. I may add that this traveler is one of the most intelligent women I have ever known. Now, right here is a suggestion for the

CLIMATE OF BOISE

WILL DEFEAT GAME

LID OFF IN FIGHT CIRCLES

Battling Nelson's Manager Swears That Money Was Raised and Paid to Kill Ralston Bill in California Legislature.

At last the lid is off in San Francisco, and one of the nastiest scandals that has yet arisen in connection with the fighting game is on tap. The person who has shed the light on this scandal is no other than Britton Nelson, Harry Corbett's manager, who has been killed by Britton. It seems that before and since the fight, Nolan drew on this amount, which was $2500, until the amount was reduced to $1000. Nolan's claim is that when he called upon Corbett to pay over the remainder of the money Corbett held out the $1000. Nelson's manager says that he repeatedly called upon Corbett for the money, and each time he was turned down, Corbett claiming that the $1000 was Nolan's contribution to the corruption fund used to buy votes to kill the Ralston bill.

Nolan, whose chief occupation before he became Nelson's manager was that of a bartender, poolroom tout and gambler, has certainly stirred things up here before and since the fight. He has been branded as being crazy weeks before the fight between Britton and Nelson came off, and now the sports down in the Bay City openly declare that his place is in the padded cell. Harry Corbett, against whom Nolan has made his charges, is one of the best-known sporting men in the United States, and always has been considered on the square. He denies the charges made by Nolan, and denounces Nelson's manager as crazy. He says there were no contributions to a corruption fund, and that the money he is holding out from Nolan is money due him. Everybody in San Francisco who knew Nolan before he became Nelson's manager knows that Corbett held him up and staked him on several occasions. In fact, it was Corbett who convinced the Dane that Nolan would be a good manager for him when he had trouble with his former manager, Murphy. Corbett claims that Nolan owes him more than $1000. It seems that Corbett not so long ago staked Nolan to go to Butte, Mont., to start a poolroom, and that Nolan, even after he became prosperous, showed no sign of paying the money back; so when he got his hands on a part of the forfeit money he held to it.

In his affidavit, Nolan brings in the names of Morris Levy, Alex Greggains, James Britton, Jimmy Britt, Willie Britton and a number of other well-known boxers and fight promoters. He even drags in the name of Colonel Martin Brady, one of the truest and most loyal lovers of the sporting game that ever looked through a pair of eyes, or shook up by the hand. There is hardly any reason to doubt that a good manager for him when he had fight promoters of San Francisco. The truth of this goes almost without saying, for if those who made their money in the fighting game had laid down, the only way they could have been paid, Britton and Nelson would have never met, and Nolan would never have received 25 per cent of Nelson's end of the purse.

Bill Will Be Passed. Nolan's expose will do two things. It means that at the next meeting of the California Legislature a bill similar to the railroad rate bill now before the legislature will be introduced and passed. Nolan and Nelson will be the losers, and those who follow their calling will also suffer. It also means the death knell of Nolan in San Francisco. Some of these days Nolan will be without a Nelson to earn his bread money. He will be like his manager before he became a manager—broke. If this happens, he will surely starve, for he will be spat upon if he ever calls for aid. He will be lucky if he gets out of the state alive, for some agree with our present knowledge of the subject.—Edward A. Beals.

SEEKS PLACE ON BOARD

P. P. Shelby May Be Named for Interstate Commerce Commission.

P. P. Shelby, of Boise City, Idaho, is visiting the Fair, and his presence here at this particular time is significant in view of the fact that on August 2 last Mr. Shelby made application to President Roosevelt for a position on the Interstate Commerce Commission in the event of the railroad rate bill now before the United States Senate becoming a law. The President has lately announced that, everything else being equal, he would favor veterans of the Civil War for these places, and it is understood that Mr. Shelby is about the only applicant west of the Missouri River endowed with proper qualifications.

For upward of 48 years he has been in the railroad business, principally in traffic lines, and for nearly 22 years consecutively, he was connected with the Union Pacific, the chief part of which line he had charge of the freight department of the road. For many years he was on the Great Northern as general traffic manager. He helped to formulate the present system of rates on the Union Pacific, which is claimed all the other transcontinental lines have adopted.

There never has been a man on this commission from any portion of the territory west of the Missouri River, since the Interstate Commerce law went into effect April 5, 1887.

There are similar conditions at Boise. An Eastern legend tells us that when Paradise was fading from the earth, a single rose was saved and treasured by an angel, who gives to every mortal, when he dies, a rose which is called the immortal flower—one alone, but it is worth a million ordinary ones. There are some favored portions of our earth who can easily persuade himself that he inhabits this perfumed air of Paradise, and Boise, in the month of May, is one of them. Another legend, of the Pyrenees, is the home of legends and poetry, is said that Christ became displeased with some shepherds there and transformed their pasture into ice; it does not say for what. It may have been the two-mile limit. They have a law in Idaho prohibiting herdsmen from driving their flocks within two miles of any habitation. Christ could have come there in a rose-coat from Alexandria, for that as a matter of fact is there today, and the average herdsman is queer. If the climate of the earth was the same all the way around and the products similar there would be no use for railroads or hotels, as the people would not want to travel, or have anything to ship, as there would be no market. It seems, however, that an all-wise Providence decreed otherwise; the result is that people of the earth to mingle, for he made man a gregarious animal, and stored the wealth in different places so as to compel him to travel.