

HE WILL COME BACK

Denison Will Soon Leave Japanese Service.

RETURNS AS STRANGER

Peace Terms Secured by Japan Better Than Expected—Witte Accused of Bad Taste—Canton to Be Westernized.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—H. W. Denison, the American attorney, who has been for the past 25 years legal adviser in the Japanese Foreign Office, announced this morning just before sailing on the steamer ship Dakota that he would retire and return to America within a year.

Mr. Denison went to Japan in 1869, succeeding Consul-General Lyons, who had been appointed from the United States. After two years in the American Consular service in Japan, Mr. Denison practiced law for a year before the consular courts, which time he spent in the litigation involving foreign interests.

Mr. Denison went to Japan in 1869, succeeding Consul-General Lyons, who had been appointed from the United States. After two years in the American Consular service in Japan, Mr. Denison practiced law for a year before the consular courts, which time he spent in the litigation involving foreign interests.

Mr. Denison was appointed from New Hampshire, and after drafting the treaty of peace paid a visit to his old home, the first in 20 years. He said today the only familiar things he saw were the houses and the American development and growth were as new to him as though he had visited America for the first time.

Mr. Denison said that the Japanese had no cause of complaint at the hotel service, though the Russians raised objection.

Terms Better Than Expected.

Of deep significance is the broad intimation that Japan secured more favorable terms than were expected. Before the party left, the programme was outlined by the statesmen of Japan, but they were skeptical as to whether Russia would ever pay, and in view of the fact that other concessions more than promised the returning commissioner believe they have accomplished more than was expected of them.

Electric Plant for Canton.

Selling on the Dakota were also Albert C. Lee, of Portsmouth, and Y. C. Lee, of New York, cousins, and Chinese electric and civil engineers, respectively. The former has been in this country for the last seven years in this country. They are going to Canton to answer the summons of the Viceroy, who is planning to install a hydro electric and power plant with a street railway system, if found advisable.

ARRIVES WITH THE TREATY

M. Plancon Wires the News to the Emperor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 21.—M. Plancon, secretary of the Russian peace commission, reached here today, bearing the treaty signed by the plenipotentiaries, which was turned over to the custody of the Foreign Office. News of the arrival of the document was communicated to His Majesty by telegraph. The Foreign Office will now prepare a copy of the treaty for the Emperor's signature. He will not sign the copy signed by the plenipotentiaries. The Emperor's copy will be especially engrossed on parchment and will accompany with the Emperor's name and titles, all in Russian, and then the Emperor, all in Russian, reciting part of the act of ratification.

an especially made silver case to insure its protection and preservation. The keys of the treaty will be bound by special silken cords.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 21.—The Emperor is expected back at Peterhof from his yachting trip tomorrow. Count Lamdorff will take the treaty in its final form to him for his signature.

TAKAHIRA TO GO TO RUSSIA

Baron Kaneko Will Probably Succeed Him in Washington.

SEATTLE, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—It is generally believed by the Japanese, and especially by the diplomatic party that sailed for home, that Minister Takahira, now at Washington, will be given the St. Petersburg mission. Gossip among Japanese politicians is to the effect that Baron Kaneko, who has been the Emperor's confidential representative at Oyater Bay during the war, will succeed Takahira. Baron Kaneko belongs to the Marquis Ito political faction and the Yamagata or military leadership is now in the ascendancy. Though the military leaders might oppose Baron Kaneko, Japanese diplomats believe the Emperor will act on his own initiative and name him the new Minister. This would be recognition of his valuable services in this country during the war and while peace negotiations were in progress.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The disposition of $100,000 which the government of Venezuela alleged, was paid by the New York & Bermudez Asphalt Company to General Matos to buy a steamship in Europe, with which to prosecute a revolution against the Venezuelan government, was rolled up their sleeves and began slaughtering each other. They were standing breast to breast and knee to knee, covered with blood, stabbing each other in the back and sides, when the keeper was informed.

So desperately were the fighters engaged that it was necessary to knock both of them down. If they recover they will both be arrested. The men, who had lived together in the institution for some time, refuse to say what started the fight.

VIEWED BY SIR GILBERT

Great Britain Will Accept Reciprocity Very Slowly.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—In discussing the political conditions prevalent in Great Britain, Sir Gilbert Parker, member of Parliament, who is now in this city, said last night that the most important question is Joseph Chamberlain's policy of preferential tariff.

PICTURESQUE CAPE HORN IS ONE OF STRATEGIC POINTS IN HILL-HARRIMAN RAILROAD WAR

CAPE HORN has been admired by thousands of Eastern visitors this summer, who have looked upon its gigantic columns of basaltic formation for the first time, and is more than ever interesting to people of the Northwest just now as one of the strategic points in the contest being waged between Hill and Harriman corporations. Here is where the Northern Pacific concentrated one of its forces of railroad builders to begin and continue the work of driving a tunnel under the great pile and hold right of way for a track at each approach to the crossing of the Columbia that seems impassable to more than one line of railroad, while the rival Wallula Pacific and the Columbia Pacific, both Harriman corporations, are awaiting for an opportunity to seize and hold the same point in the effort to prevent completion of the new water-level route. Here may occur conflict between the construction forces of rival interests, should might be introduced as a factor.

Even without personal encounter between representatives of the two corporations, Cape Horn will be interesting as the scene of a very expensive piece of railroad construction. Driving a railroad tunnel is tremendously expensive, and often exceeds $100,000 per mile of track, or $120,000 a mile. Approaches to the tunnel at this point on the Columbia will not be difficult, but there is a deep cut on the right-hand side. At the extreme right-hand side of the illustration appears another promontory that will make construction difficult, and will require a deep cut in the solid formation. Here again is a point that will hardly accommodate more than one track, and that within a narrow right of way.

touch with Japanese politics, believe that when H. W. Denison, the American legal adviser in the Foreign Office, retires, the government will invite another American to succeed him. Mr. Denison was of a different opinion, but Japanese point out that political reasons are strong enough to justify the appointment of an American adviser. Above all else, official Japan desires friendship with America.

Japan has strong hopes of successful colonization movements in the future, but statesmen recognize that the time for a broad movement, that character by the development of the development of Korean enterprises will be the first move, but in establishing Japanese banks, merchants and industries in Manchuria, the Japanese hope to wield a big influence in Northern China. The effect of articles 9 and 11, of the Portsmouth treaty, which give Japan perpetual fishing rights in Siberian waters, whose value is estimated at $20,000,000 per year, has already been told and is corroborated by Japanese residents who have discussed the situation with the Yamaza party.

NAVAL ARMISTICE ARRANGED

Straits of Tartary Neutral—Food May Go to Kamchatka.

TOKYO, Sept. 21.—The Navy Department announces the conclusion of the naval armistice on September 18 by Rear-Admiral Jensen, representing Russia, and Vice-Admiral Kamimura, Japan's representative. The narrowest portion of the Strait of Tartary is to remain a neutral sea.

VLADIVOSTOK, Sept. 21.—The conference of the Admirals took place on board the Russian cruiser Rostok, Rear-Admiral Jensen being the senior Admiral. After the close of four parties, Admiral Jensen paid a ceremonial visit to the armed cruiser Rostok, the Japanese flag. No salute was fired, but honors were paid before and after the conference by the dipping of flags.

The Russian squadron consisted of the cruiser Rostok and Bogatyr and the torpedo-boat destroyers Grozni and Bravi. The Russian destroyers took part in the battle of the Sea of Japan. The Japanese squadron was made up of the cruiser Iwate and Nitaka and the torpedo-boat destroyers Akabono and Oboro.

ELDERLY HOLD A CONFERENCE

Subject of Meeting With Japanese Cabinet Secret.

TOKYO, Sept. 21.—A prolonged meeting of the Cabinet and Elder Statesmen took place today, but the subject of the conference has not yet been made public. It is believed that various matters relating to home and foreign policy were under discussion.

Uru May Raise the Mikasa.

SEOU, Sept. 21.—Admiral Uru, who defeated the Russian protected cruiser Variag, was given an audience by the Emperor and decorated before he sailed for Japan on Tuesday last, September 19. It is probable that he has been recalled to raise the Japanese battleship Mikasa, sunk in the harbor at Sasebo.

The Russian cruiser Variag was sunk by the Japanese fleet at Chemulpo on February 5, 1904. The Russian cruiser Korietz was sunk at the same time.

AGED PAUPERS IN DUEL

Fight Started With Fists Ends With Knife-Slashing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Two men, both past 70 years of age, inmates of the Bridgewater, N. J., poorhouse, fought a duel yesterday with sharp kitchen knives and both are likely to die. The fighters were George Potts and Edward Riley. While sitting around the institution smoking, they quarreled and exchanged blows with their fists.

The men were warned by the keeper, but when he had left the room the old men met and calmly agreed to fight a duel with knives. Going to the kitchen, they secured the sharp-pointed implements used in peeling potatoes, and started by separate routes to a remote spot on the grounds, where they believed they could fight out their differences without interruption. Arriving there, the men

DISSATISFACTION LESS PRONOUNCED

TOKYO, Sept. 21.—The expressions of dissatisfaction over the terms of the treaty of peace in the columns of the local papers are not so frequent as they were some time ago. The list of papers suspended at the agency ordinance was passed includes that published in Tokyo and 12 published elsewhere, five of which were re-suspensions.

At the time of the outbreak of popular indignation occasioned by the intervention of three European powers at the close of the war between Japan and China, the cases of papers suspended exceeded 30, 10 of which were in Tokyo.

The Ahal remains suspended. It is 12 days today since its publication was ordered stopped.

The news of the Russian Emperor's proposal to hold a second peace conference at the Hague has not so far evoked any comment by the press.

Forgotten in Corea.

ONGA, North Corea, near Gaskewich Bay, with the Russian Korean Army, Wednesday, Sept. 20.—It is reported that an armistice has been arranged in Manchuria, but nothing definite is known here. This army, with good reason, is called the "forgotten army." Letters come seldom and no supplies are arriving here, there being no roads. This army lives on the country, using the property of the inhabitants. There were no war correspondents here. Heavy rains have resulted in much sickness, but there are no medicines, and no Red Cross.

It is reported that this army will be withdrawn from the Tumen district, which is in the neutral zone.

Head in Blazing Papers.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—George Pinskielstein, a former lodging house keeper of this city, tried to end his life today in a horrible manner. Pinskielstein had been accused by the police of permitting illegal voters to register from his establishment and had been virtually driven out of business. He brooded over his misfortune and sought death by knife and fire. He was found in his room in a lodging-house with throat and wrists cut and his head lying in a fire that had made of a pile of newspapers. Physicians say he cannot recover.

Nearly 1000 of the beautiful Tacoma souvenirs, which are in such great demand, were distributed among the callers to the building, who were assisted in receiving them by the charming hostesses from Tacoma.

Mrs. T. B. Wallace, the official hostess for Tacoma week, received the guests, being assisted by Mrs. George Wright, wife of the Mayor of Tacoma, and Mrs. William Jones. Mrs. A. M.
