One Plea of Packers Overruled by Court.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A victory was scored today by United States District Attorney C. B. Morrison in his struggle to bring to a successful finish the prosecution of the meut packers. During the argument against a demurrer by Attorney Morrison against the ples in abstement filed some time ago by the defending attorneys, contesting the indictment which charges the vari-ous packers and their associates with conspiracy in restraint of trade, the question of the right of packers to appear in court at the time of the im-paneling of the Federal grand jury to challenge jurors as they were im-paneled was raised and Judge J. Otis Humphrey decided in favor of the

The objection by the defendants to the manner in which the jury was drawn was then taken up and at the time of adjournment tonight Mr. Rosenthal was reading authorities supporting his contention that the jury was drawn from a part of the district without a proper order of the court. The jury was drawn from the eastern district of the northern division of this state and it is contended by the denfendants that the court ordered the jury drawn from the "body" of the district, meaning both the eastern and western divi-

MARRIAGE LONG DELAYED

He Says Mrs. Raiston Got His Money Under Promise of Marriage, Then Disappeared and Tried to Sell Notes.

TIPTON, Ia., Sept. 27 .- (Special.)-In a ut upon a $1000 promissory note by Mrs. Katharine Ralston, of Portland, Or., is resealed a shattered romance, R. S. Walers, of this place, the wealthy defendant, claiming in his answer the woman was to marry him for the $1900, but did not.

It appears that Walters in 1903 and 1964 went to Portland, Or., and there met Mrs. Raiston, a widow. Walters proposed and was accepted says his answer, adding that Walters gave Mrs. Raiston considerable money and went home, understand-ing that she would soon follow to Tipton, where the marriage would take place where the marriage would take place. Shortly after he got home, he says, Mrs. Raiston wrote him stating that she had been robbed, and wanted more money, which he sent to her. A little later, he says, she telegraphed she had been hurt and was in a hospital. Walters says he sent more money, and then sent a draft to pay her railroad fare. She was to arrive in Tipton on a certain day, but came rive in Tipton on a certain day, but came several days earlier and, unknown to Walters, took a room at a hotel and be-gan to investigate his financial condition. Finally, says Walters, she got him to sign a promissory note as a sort of pre-nuptial contract, saying she wanted the money to educate her little son. Walters gave the note on promise that the wed-ding should take place at once. The woman consented, but before the marriage ceremony could be performed disappeared. Later, in Cedar Rapids, she is said to have tried to sell the note. Then she went to an attorney, and suit followed. Walters got an injunction restraining Mrs. Rai-aton from disassing of the note in any ston from disposing of the note in any manner, and alleging it was secured by fraud and misrepresentation and through unfulfilled promises.
