Columbia County Legislator and Long-Distance Telephone Operator, of Portland, Start for Australia

George Mayger, Representative in the although a married man having a wife but no children, at Mayger Station, where he was in the mercantile business with his brother Charles, has eloped with Miss his brother Charles, has eloped with Miss Glive Barnes, a telephone girl in the long-distance office of this city, and is now on his way to Australia via New York. Mayger, it is said, was married to Miss Barnes secretly at Salem ten days ago. "He left with his bride," said R. H. Mitchell, of Holton, "for New York a few days after the correction."

Mayger's friends, who have apparently been sworn to secrecy, although admit-ting that the Representative of Columbia County has eloped and married Miss Sarnes are chary about talking on the ubject, not wishing to have their names onnected with the affair, they say.

In the towns where Mayger is well known it has been common gossip for the last week that he has eloped with Miss Barnes. Mrs. Mayger, at Mayger's Station, has not heard from her spouse for the last three weeks, and as far as known, none of his relatives have heard from him. As much mystery attends the disappearance of Miss Barnes as that of Mayger. Miss Barnes is described by one of her acquaintances as a petite gamsel of 23 or 34 Summers, dark complexion, and well educated. Her sister, who is a long-dis tance operator at 222 Washington street, says that she has no idea of the where-abouts of the eloped one. Civil Service Board Reports Eligibles. One of Whom Mayor Will Try to Install.

The examination for Plumbing In-spector by the Municipal Civil Service Commission was concluded yesterday afternoon, and the names of three out of the four original applicants will be certified to the Mayor as eligible for appointment to the position now held appointment to the position now held by Thomas E. Hulme under a special ordinance of the City Council.

Those successful in the examination, together with their standing, were: William Hey, of 227 Sixteenth street, 87; Colburn Barrell, 8 East Sixth street, 8250, and J. H. Morrow, 269% Clay street, 78.75. John James Driscoll, of 487 Petiggrove street, entered the ex-amination, but soon withdrew for some amination, but soon withdrew for some unexplained reason.

When asked last night if he had made any selection from the three names furnished him, Mayor Lane de-clined to discuss the subject, saying clined to discuss the subject, saying he had nothing to give out for publication. He also denied that J. H. Morrow had been named for the place, and in answer to the inquiry as to whether he intended to make the appointment very soon replied, "I don't know yet." He admitted that Secretary McPherson, of the Civil Service Commission, had furnished him with the names of those who had massed the examination.

Commencing October 1, the excursion rate of B for the round trip from Portland to Astoria and Seaside and return, via the A. & C. R. R., will be withdrawn and the regular Winter rates go into effect. Only three more days left to see the ocean at reduced rates. Train leaves Union Depot at i A. M. daily.

who had passed the examination.

Morrow is the man who, rumor had it, was to get the place of Plumbing it, was to get the place of Plumbing Inspector providing Hulme, the present incumbent, would be considerate enough to step down and out. Instead of doing this, Hulme got busy reading up the charter and satisfied himself that the Mayor had no authority to demand his resignation; hence he declined to accede to His Honor's wishes.

Have your Edeat. clined to accede to His Honor's wishes. The City Council took the same view of the situation by a clearly partisan vote of 14 to 1, and promptly passed an ordinance creating the office of Plumbing Inspector and Deputy Plumbing Inspector, and continuing Thomas

E. Hulme and Harry Woodhouse in those positions. The Mayor vetoed this measure and at the first opportunity the Council passed it over his head to the old familiar tune of 14 to 1.
It seemed to have been those positions. The Mayor vetoed this measure and at the first opportunity the Council passed it over his head to the old familiar tune of 14 to 1.

It seemed to have been a race between Mayor Lane and the Civil Service Commission on one side, and Hulme and the City Council on the other, with honors thus far in favor of the latter, as Hulme is still in possession, and says he will resist any attempt to oust him except by lawful process. Hulme intends to ignore the Civil Service Commission entirely, and says it is a matter of indifference to him what action they take with reference to his salary, as they have no jurisdiction in the matter. The ways and means committee of the City Council will pass upon his salary demand, and Auditor Deviln said last night that he would audit the claims of Hulme and Woodhouse. Their warrants would then go to the Mayor for his signature, and in the event Dr. Lane refused to sign them. Hulme and Woodhouse would not only mandamus him, but it is probable would begin separate actions for demands and Moodhouse would begin separate actions for demands and the country of the Mayor for the Mayor for his signature.

NEW YORK CENTRAL MOVE of His Bid on Sewer Construction, and Municipality Must Eastern Company Consolidates Sev-Pay $500 More. eral Western Offices.

Pursuant to the general policy of consolidation of traffic offices of the New York Central Lines, changes have been decided upon, effective October 1, affecting Pacific Coast offices of the system. John A. Gill, heretofore Pacific Coast freight agent of the system, with head-quarters at San Francisco, will hereafter have charge of California and Arizona territory. H. C. Eckenberger, commercial agent of the Michigan Central, with office in the Chamber of Commerce, will beof the New York Central Lines, with which his old line is associated, and have charge of the freight interests of the system in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. It is not announced whether or not this will result in immediate consolidation of the present office of Mr. Eckenberger with that of the system ines on Third street, near Alder, but that is probable would begin separate actions for damages against the Mayor.

Mr. Gill and Mr. Eckenberger have just turned from a visit to general offices Chicago, at which the new plans for the freight representation on the Pacific Coast were discussed and plans perfected. No other changes will follow the new ar-rangement, and the relations of other freight department representatives will main unchanged, except that they will clude the additional lines in their labors.

America's ORIGINAL MALT

Contractor Is Let Off for Informality

Notwithstanding the vigilance of Mayor Lane and his Executive Board, to say nothing about the analytical way in which the new City Engineer is reputed to scrutinize matters in his jurisdiction, one or two things have lately passed apparently unobserved through the meshes of their combined alertness, and in consequence the city is a loser to the extent of about $500 by the operation. It all came about at the last regular meeting of the Execu-tive Board, upon which occasion there was presented for consideration the question of final acceptance of certain sewer bids.

At the meeting held on September the committee on sewers, consisting of L. T. Peery, chairman; C. A. Cogswell and W. G. McPherson, jo which were referred the bids for the construction of a sewer in Halght avenue. Gantenbein avenue. Vancouver avenue and Falling street, as provided by ordinance No. 14,501, reported that "the bid of Frainey & Keating, the lowest bidder, is informal, inasing, the lowest blooce, is informal, mas-much as no price was stated in said bid for making a connection with the sewer in Fremont street." Mr. Peery thereupon moved that the bid of Frainey & Keating, for $12.587.58, he rejected, and that the ntract be awarded to Bechill Bros the next lowest bidder, for $12,000.38. This motion was duly seconded and carried, although it is a matter of record that Contractor Frainey was called before the Hoard and asked if he was willing to accept the contract, notwithstanding the slight informalities of his bid. This he declined to do, and expressed himself as well pleased with the idea of separating himself from a losing job.

As a matter of facts it was within the province of the Board to force him either to live up to the contract so far as his bid extended, or declare the certified check for 15 per cent of the amount of his bid forfeited to the city. The cost of making a connection with the Fremont. street sewer is insignificant, yet on account of the Board's action, the Munici pality virtually paid $462.30 for the privi-lege of having it done by somebody else. In their bid Frainey & Keating itemized the connection with the sewer in Fre-mont street, but did not indicate any price therefor, although it is well known that the cost of such work would be less

In the bids for the construction of a sewer in East Fourteenth street, from 75 feet north of the north line of Weidler street to the sewer in Multnomah street, as provided by ordinance No. 14,804, it was found that Bechill Bros. were the lowest bidders, at $808.50; but this bid was eported informal in not having the price or 15 elbows included therein; that the bld of Fraincy & Keating for $813.97 was the next lowest, but was also informal for the reason that no price was named for making a connection with the sewer in Multnomah street. For these informal-ities the Board rejected the bids of both Bechlij Bros. and Framey & Keating and awarded the contract to J. P. O'Nelli, at lus bid of $88.86, which was $22.66 higher than the City Engineer's estimate $49.88 more than the bid of Bechill Bros., which was ret aside for an informality that would have cost the city less than $12 to supply, while Frainey & Keating's was ignored merely because they mah street, which all the other contractors offered to do for nothing.
