IN MAN'S ATTIRE

Pretty Salt Lake Woman Enjoys Vagabond Life With Convict Husband.

ELOPED IN A STOLEN RIG

Disguise Is So Perfect That No One Takes Shepherd and Gambler to Be What She Really Is.

SALE LAKE, Utah, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—"I will stick to him if I have to wait forever for him; if I have to wear men's clothes again and follow him across the continent on a freight," declares Mrs. Edward Park Johnson, in an interview concerning her married life, in the course of which she has dressed as a man and "tramped it" with her husband.

Twice since her marriage, three years ago, she has seen her husband sent behind prison bars. He is now serving a sentence of six years in Wyoming for forgery, and the young wife has returned to her home in Salt Lake.

They eloped from Brigham City, Utah, three years ago, in a rig which Johnson had stolen. Officers pursued them through Utah, Nevada and Idaho before Johnson was placed under arrest. After serving part of his three years' sentence in the Utah State Prison he escaped, but the wife persuaded him to surrender himself, later he was pardoned, and the pair set out for Wyoming. They rode from Salt Lake to Ogden on the train.

Puts on Husband's Clothes.

There Mrs. Johnson cut her hair and put on a suit of her husband's clothing. They tramped from Ogden to Evanston, Wyo., where both secured employment as shepherders, the wife still maintaining her disguise.

"It was exciting, if it was hard," she says, "and no one ever knew but what I was a man. I disguised myself so I could go with my husband all the time, and I was with him always. We were in saloons together and in gambling-houses, and no one ever knew the difference. I was with him the night he got into his trouble. He was gambling, and so was I. He lost all his money and made out a check. It was in his own name. Then he made out other checks—in all, there were five or six; I think it was five.

"I started for Salt Lake after he was arrested. But I am going to stick to him, as I have always stuck by him. They shouldn't think that Ed is the bad one and that I am the wronged person. It isn't that way. He is easily led. He loves me too well when he makes statements that I have known nothing but sadness.

Learned to Ride the Brakes.

How did we travel? Why, we went every way, but mostly beating freight trains. Yes, sir; we rode in under on the brake-beams sometimes, and we rode on top when it was safe, or in empty cars. I liked it so well that he used to say, when we swung on a train: "Well, I suppose you are happy now? And I would always laugh and say: "It's better than any other kind of traveling."

Mrs. Johnson was Hester Larsen, and was less than 16 years of age when she met Johnson who eloped with him. Her parents opposed the match. Since her marriage they have moved to Salt Lake, where she now is. She belongs to a respectable family. Her hair is still short, and her unusual life during the past few months has not destroyed her girlish attractiveness.

FEW TRADESMEN ARE IDLE

Prosperous Times Continue Without Interruption in New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—In its last quarterly bulletin, published today, the State Department of Labor calls attention to a marked improvement in trade, which began in the middle of 1904 and has continued almost uninterrupted. The department says that now there are relatively fewer idle wage-earners in New York than there were even in 1902, the most prosperous year of the decade.

Returns to the Bureau of Labor Statistics from trades-unions embracing a membership of about 100,000 wage-earners in the various occupations, show that the average monthly number of unemployed members was only 161 per 1000 in the first half of 1905, as compared with 202 last year and 368 in 1902. In the building and construction, which probably employs more men at present than any other New York industry, the volume of production has been unusually large.

In the months of April, May and June, work was begun on 7315 buildings in New York City, as compared with 5364 a year ago. The estimated cost of projected buildings for which plans were approved and permits issued in the second quarter of 1905 attained the amazing sum of $74,437,886. In the other large cities, building operations are well above the average.

THE DAY'S DEATH RECORD

Henry Dinwoody.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 1.—Henry Dinwoody, wealthy furniture dealer, who came to Utah in 1855, died here this morning. He was 90 years old. Mr. Dinwoody entered polygamy in the early days, and served a term in prison during the anti-polygamy crusade that followed the passage of the Edmunds-Tucker law. Two wives survive him. He left an estate valued at $50,000.

Mrs. Elizabeth Frick.

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth Frick, widow of Henry C. Frick, the oil king, died here tonight of paralysis, aged 86.

Celebrated Cardiff Pedestrian.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—William Gale, the celebrated Cardiff pedestrian, died here today, aged 74.

Threats to Country's Manhood.

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—John R. Mott, of New York, tonight at the final session of the conference of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., made an appeal to the delegates to realize the result of personal work in the association. Fred Smith addressed 3000 people at a meeting this afternoon. "Drunkennes and impurity are the signs which today threaten the manhood of this country," he said.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SIDE TRIPS.

Holders of certain Lewis and Clark tickets are entitled to 15-day one-fare tickets on the Southern Pacific as far south as Ashland. Particulars by asking at Third and Washington streets, Portland.

Truth Is Good Enough

We allow no exaggerations in our advertising. When we quote a reduction it is an actual reduction from our selling price. Deceiving, untruthful "worths," unfortunately too common in newspaper announcements, have no place in this store's advertising. In the "worth $10 for $1.95" value-claiming, we are proud to say we are not in it, but in real, every-day value-giving, and for genuine bargains in what we advertise, we recognize no peer in America. You will find some excellent examples in this advertisement.

Compare This Store's Regular Values With Those Elsewhere

We wish customers would make it a point to ask our clerks the former price on advertised articles. If there should be any variation from quotations in the newspaper you will confer a favor on the management by reporting it. Another point—Right now, at the beginning of the season, is when our lower prices count. Our merchandise is marked at a uniform increase over cost. We do not try to see how much profit the new things will stand, but how good an article we can afford to sell at a given price.

A Veritable World's Fair Exposé of Women's Gloves for Autumn

First Floor.
I have often wondered why the Olds, Wortman & King Gloves—the "Magnets," "Derbys," "Monarchs," "Eskeys" and "Reyniers" were so good, so perfect-fitting, and so much better than lines shown elsewhere. I investigated—perhaps you'd like to know the result—at least you should be interested. Here's what a glove man told me who had been where they are made. Speaking of the "Reyniers," he said:

MORE THAN SKIN DEEP.
"It begins back of the skins—the goodness of the Reynier gloves. It is more than skin deep. Starting right is only half their motto—ending right and being right all through is the rest of it."

"I heard of their patient labor of years to get the thumb cut right and the patterns without fault."

"Tramped through the storehouse where bales of skin are piled up. Watched the dyes brushed into them by quick hands, or trodden in by the bare feet of men, who work them round and round in immense vats. "Stood by while the first and second and third qualities were sorted out, and many skins rejected which other less particular factories are glad to buy up and use."

"Counted in all fifty-seven different operations through which each pair of Reynier gloves passes before it is pronounced finished and complete."

GRENOBLE A CUP IN THE HILLS.
"Like a cup among the hills is the beautiful City of Grenoble, where the work is done. The workmen, gleaning from the windows, have always the inspiration of looking up—to the snow-capped mountains. "The factory is spotless. In the room filled with $20,000 worth of white kid skins, the men are in white smocks, and not a speck of dust is to be seen."

And yet there are still better gloves for the American woman than the "Reyniers"—at least we think so—yes, have proven it. Gloves made with the same care, under same healthful and cheerful conditions, same skill—but with the American hand as a model. Crossing over into Saxony, our glove man has found a band of workmen who understand the making of gloves to fit the perfect rounded hand of the American woman to perfection. They have broken away from the idea that ALL hands are French hands, with their long, tapering proportions. They know the American hand is plump and perfectly rounded—the model hand of womanhood—and they make gloves to fit our women folk. Yes, there's much to glove-making—and we believe we've attained perfection—at least so near as human skill can reach. The new Autumn lines are in. Our lists await your pleasure. Suppose you come today. "Magnets," "Derbys," "Oskeys" and "Monarchs" are only sold in Portland by Olds, Wortman & King.

The workmanship cannot be excelled. Every pair has been made to our special order, and we are satisfied that there are none better on the market. Our motto is "To Excel," and we credit ourselves with having done so in this instance of gloves.

Everything for Housekeeping HOUSEKEEPERS' EXCHANGE

Third and Fourth Floors.

"Everything for Housekeeping" has been made a subject of earnest study for night onto thirty-one years by this "Old Homestead" Store. The housewife of today has the benefit of this effort in the Olds, Wortman & King Stores.

She will find in these establishments china tableware from the great potteries of the world, exquisite cut glass, in which America excels; the prettiest patterns in ordinary china and glassware, lamps for the kitchen and parlor; brushes and other requisites for the bathroom; enamel ware, and irons, clothes-wringers, bread-mixers, meat-choppers, knives, forks and spoons for the kitchen, laundry helps and everything else that may be required for the modern house.

The dual advantage of getting "Everything for Housekeeping" in one store, from an insignificant article for the humblest apartment in the house to the carpets, curtains and hangings for the humble home of the wage-earner or the most pretentious city mansion, is a convenience that has kept pace with the steady advancement of present-day methods of doing business. Speaking of CARPETS (Fourth Floor), run thro' all the carpet ads published by Portland houses yesterday or today. Clip 'em out of the newspapers and bring 'em here—after examining qualities elsewhere—and we'll save you money by selling you the carpets for less in every instance.

MATCHLESS VALUES

In Today's Big Fashion Show in the Grand Salons

These Dress Exhibits Worthy of a Museum

On Second Floor.

In spots and upon every day of the year this store is not a store.

It rises above profit-making and becomes a picture gallery, or a cathedral with its altar organ—or a Studio of Fashions.

Anyone able to buy dresses may have the productions of Worth, Paquin, Doucet, Agnes, Beer, Doenillet, etc., and so far as we are concerned they are welcome to them.

We do not want for these great revelations of artistic growth in color blending, embroidery and new formations of silks, satins and laces, what seems to satisfy others.

There would be no particular need for this place if it did not succeed in calling to Portland at all seasons—and particularly now—the all-surpassing creations of the masters of dress conceptions.

Right makes it self-evident that there are indescribable lovelinesses in the hidden treasures that come here from the salons of Paris.

Money is the smallest part of getting these superb things together for America.

Matchless Suit Values

Look Where You Will You'll Not Find Their Equals at $18.50

WOMEN'S TAILORED SUITS FOR $18.50.

That we sell more suits at higher prices than the above-named, we offer this week the best value at the price we have ever known shown by any house in America. It again illustrates our absolute supremacy in the apparel market. The nearest we are approached locally at this value is by a house that shows a suit not quite so good as these we offer, BUT AT A HIGHER PRICE. They call it "A $25.00 and $27.50 value sold by them at $20.00." Our price is $18.50. The suits: Navy, black or gray mixtures, chevots and homespun. Cut in Redington styles, coats with leg-o'-mutton sleeves, notched collar. Skirts full plaited, 9 and 13 grade. Very smartly tailored. Best value you ever saw, with all the wearing season ahead $18.50

COATS FOR THEATER WEAR AND AUTOMOBILING.

The finest line ever shown in all the West. No local house could hope to compete with such a monster showing of authoritative styles. Among this gathering we call especial attention to the magnificent convention of FUR-LINED COATS. Rich broadcloths in black and colors, with padded and quilted linings for elderly women. Among the furs we note mink, squirrel, astrachan and Persian lamb. As low as $35.00. As good as $175.00

Three-Quarter Length Coats $7.50 to $85.00

Especially Strong Lines at $12.50, $15 and $18.50

(The biggest values ever shown in the city by any house.)

A GREAT VALUE IS A NEW 3/4-LENGTH COAT FOR $7.50.

A handsome Coat cut in very latest and smartest mode, made of stylish mannish mixed tweedish materials, in the swell box effect; has leg-o'-mutton sleeves, belted back, self collar and trimmed in strap and button effects. Most stores would consider these coats priced low at $10.00. It's a habit we have to undersell—our price for these coats is $7.50

HANDSOME COATS AT $18.50—MATCHLESS VALUES.

We've arranged several lines to be offered at the above price, and allow choice of all leading styles. Empire modes, Raglans or Box Coats, all in the popular 3/4 lengths, materials the smart mannish mixtures in the roughish effects so much favored by swell dressers. Buttons and strappings form the trimming accessories. Outside patch pockets are a feature on many. Some have velvet collars; others have collars of the materials. The styles are very smart and mannish. These are the much-advertised "$25.00 values" of some stores. Price here $18.50

A GREAT VALUE IN FULL-LENGTH RAGLANS AT $25.00.

For those who prefer the full lengths in Raglans, we offer especially great values at $25.00. The choosing is wide in this class. You may select a fancy mixture, covert, chevot, homespun or tweedish mixed cloth. Suit your preference as to color from reds, greens, grays and mixtures. All are smartly trimmed with strappings of the materials, fancy stitchings, fancy buckles and touches of velvet. Greatest value ever offered in the city for $25.00
