

HAY WAS STRONG FRIEND OF BOWEN

Roosevelt Confirms Statement of ex-Assistant Secretary of State.

BOWEN ROUNDLY SCORED

Late Premier Declared He Was Disgusted Beyond Measure With Performance of ex-Minister to Venezuela.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—In correspondence between President Roosevelt and Assistant Secretary Loomis, made public here tonight, the President says that Secretary Hay disagreed with him on even "mild censure" of Mr. Loomis in the Taft report on the investigation of the charges brought by Mr. Bowen, ex-Minister to Venezuela, and adds that Secretary Hay very strongly condemned Mr. Bowen's course. The President quotes Mr. Hay as declaring that most of the charges were really against himself (Mr. Hay) "and not against Mr. Loomis at all" and that Mr. Bowen knew that. The statement made public is as follows: "In order to make known the real facts concerning a widely current misapprehension respecting certain views of the late Secretary of State, Mr. Hay, the following correspondence was given to the Associated Press today: Department of State, Washington, Sept. 25, 1905.—Dear Mr. President: For some time past there have appeared in various newspapers, including the Journal published in New York, statements, more or less direct, to the effect that grave differences of opinion existed between yourself and the late Secretary of State, Mr. Hay, concerning both myself and the action to be taken by you on the findings and report of Secretary Taft in the matter of the charges made against me by Mr. Bowen, ex-Minister to Venezuela. I will cite a case in point: Statement in New York Paper. Not long ago a responsible New York paper, to which I am reliably informed on the best of authority, Mr. Bowen has been freely offering material for use, printed the following paragraphs: "Practically the last official act of Mr. Hay's life was to visit the White House for the purpose of urging the President not to dismiss Bowen and to dismiss Loomis, but to keep Bowen, as his own mind was made up, he went away with his message unspoken. "Mr. Hay thoroughly disliked and distrusted him (Bowen) and said to the President so, but was unable to produce any effect on the President's mind. "Similar suggestions, more or less hostile in form, have so far appeared in the public prints that I am constrained to inquire whether, in so far as you are aware, they are supported by any basis of truth? I do not know of any such conversation. Mr. Hay concerning me and my course of conduct while connected with the public service, but I do know that Mr. Hay's own lips said something of his opinion concerning Mr. Bowen, and I know full well both the unfailing courtesy with which Mr. Hay received my many suggestions concerning Bowen in matters and the personal cordiality which he always manifested toward me. "Kind Words From Mr. Hay. In December last I went to Mr. Hay's house and told him that I expected to resign from the department within the course of the next eight or nine months. He was good enough to say: "I am exceedingly sorry to hear this, I have always hoped you would remain in your present position as long as I remained in the cabinet. "On other occasions, both before and since that time, Mr. Hay accorded me seemingly convincing proof of his confidence. "It may interest you to know that at Mr. Hay's request I spent at his home what proved practically the last hour of his life in Washington. Having upon that occasion indicated to me fully and loudly, as was his wont, what he wished my two colleagues and myself to do in the lines of departmental action and the policy to be carried out during his absence, he referred to the recent Bowen episode with much feeling. "Among other things, he said he was disgusted with Bowen beyond expression; that, vainly appeared to him, as was his wont, and that he was both disloyal and untruthful, and had been treacherous, not only to him (Mr. Hay) but to the country. "In view of the strong disapproval to which I have adverted in the belief that there is any truth in either of the foregoing paragraphs which I have quoted, or any others which have been printed of similar import. "As I am very soon to retire from the public service, I trust you will feel that I am under a duty to improve the public mind on your time with this rather personal matter. Respectfully and sincerely yours, FRANCIS B. LOOMIS.

Northern Railroad; President Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific Railroad; and a party of railroad officials, visited Vancouver today, and were entertained by citizens of the little city on the Columbia, which, if all predictions and promises now made prove true, will be the storm center, during the next year or two, of the greatest railroad activity and development on the Pacific Coast.

A special train bearing the distinguished party arrived at the Northern Pacific depot in Vancouver a few minutes before 11 o'clock, and was heralded by the sounding of whistles, the ringing of bells and the shouts of the assembled crowd.

The party was met at the depot platform by Mayor Crawford and a delegation of leading citizens, and escorted to the Hotel Columbia, where an informal reception was held.

Presidents Hill and Elliott and party were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Crawford in a short address. Mr. Hill responded in characteristic vein. He assured the citizens that the dream of a railroad down the north bank of the Columbia was a reality to be realized.

"Our coming and the proposed building of this new railroad is but in compliance with the demands of the people, for the development and marketing of the resources of this portion of the country.

"Whatever I have been able to do in the past, or may be permitted to do in the future, has been by the help and cooperation of the people.

"The people are the ones who must be depended upon to develop and build up the resources of the country. The railroads can and do assist the people to find a market for their produce by furnishing transportation.

Mr. Hill called attention to the great timber resources of the country, and urged the people not to be in a hurry to get rid of the timber upon their land, but to protect it, as it is adding to the wealth of the country faster than any other product of the soil. At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Hill proposed toasts to the Mayor and the citizens, and to the health and prosperity of the City of Vancouver.

In return, Mayor Crawford proposed the health of President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railroad, who has done more to advance the growth and material prosperity of the State of Washington and the Pacific Coast than any other man, all of which was responded to heartily by the assembled crowd.

President Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, in response to calls from the crowd, made a short address, after which the Hill party was driven to Vancouver barracks, by invitation of Colonel Irons, Fourteenth Infantry, where the distinguished visitors were given another cordial reception by General Williams, Commander of the Department of the Columbia; Colonel Irons and the officers of the post.

At 1 P. M., the party again boarded their special car and left for Portland, via Kalama.

FERRY TO BE ABANDONED.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—It is announced here that upon the completion of that part of the north-bank line between Vancouver and Portland, the Northern Pacific will practically abandon the ferry between Kalama and Goble and the line from Goble into Portland. It is understood that arrangements have been made with the Astoria & Columbia River road whereby this road will care for the business along the 40 miles of Northern Pacific track between Goble and Portland.

The Northern Pacific will also maintain a limited service, unless that part of the road is taken over by the Astoria line.

Big Order for Rails.

Martinique Workmen Are Compelled to Land at Colon. HIRED TO WORK ON CANAL

On Arrival Many of Them Become Frightened at Reports of Health Conditions and at Order Given for Vaccination.

COLON, Oct. 1.—Six hundred and fifty laborers from Martinique, brought here Friday on the French steamer Versailles, under contract to work on the canal, refused to disembark or to submit to vaccination, which is imperative under the American sanitary regulations. They clamored to be taken back to Martinique, asserting that they had been misled as to the conditions here before they embarked, and that later they learned these conditions were intolerable and deadly.

Yesterday morning, however, 500 of them were with difficulty persuaded to land, and these were sent to points along the line of the canal. One hundred and fifty remained on board and declined to leave the ship under any consideration. These were forcibly ejected from the vessel this afternoon by Panamanian and Canal Zone policemen, but not until nearly every one of them had been clubbed and several were bleeding from nasty wounds.

All yesterday and last night the Versailles was guarded by Panamanian police. Early this morning, the French Consul at Colon, M. Bonheur, explained to the men to listen to reason, explaining that they had left Martinique under contract with the Canal Zone emigration agent, guaranteeing the payment of their passage here, and that in addition to pay their wages, the guarantee of free quarters and free medical attendance.

The men, however, were not answerable to this reasoning. Notwithstanding the efforts of the Consul, of the Panamanian and American officials, and despite the information given them by several of their countrymen that the health and other conditions on the isthmus were satisfactory, and that the terms of their employment would enable them to save money, they persistently refused to leave the ship, bearing in mind the fact that they had in preference to going ashore.

The captain of the Versailles, who, all through the trouble, displayed an extraordinary amount of patience, told the men that he was ready to take them back to their homes, but that they must pay their passage, but the men argued that the French government would be willing to reimburse the steamship company rather than that they be taken ashore. Governor Melendez, Mayor Aldron, the Chief of Police and others urged the men, but again without effect.

Ten additional policemen arrived at the wharf, but the Governor, wishing to avoid bloodshed, and considering that the police force was insufficient, telegraphed to President Amador, asking permission to use the Canal Zone police, to which the President consented. Meanwhile, 12 policemen from the Zone had arrived at the dock, and were being held in readiness.

At 2 o'clock the laborers were informed that they would be given two hours to reconsider their decision. At 4 o'clock three of them consented to disembark, the others still holding out. Then the Panamanian police, armed with clubs, approached the laborers, and on their refusal to quit the ship, began to club them right and left.

The Zone police, a few minutes later, assisted in the clubbing, but with better judgment and less indiscriminately. About 100 of the laborers, possibly older even than the captain, however, lowered a boat, which picked them up. Nearly every man had received blows, and several of them were bleeding from ugly wounds.

Seeing that resistance was useless, the men yielded, came ashore, and began to eat the food that had been placed on the wharf in sight of them for several hours. Many of them had not eaten since Saturday. At 5 o'clock all the laborers were in a pitiable condition, were placed on board a train which left for Corozal, where they will be put to work.

Older Than Aztec Monarchy.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 1.—Explorations in an old Aztec pyramid on the Maqueyitos hacienda, in the State of Puebla, have disclosed the fact that the structure was built of clay bricks, which proves it to be far older than the Aztec monarchy and possibly older even than the Toltec occupation of the country. Several elaborately carved figures were found representing men in Chinese dress and with markings on their faces. The figures probably represented warriors.
