CHIEF CAMPBELL'S RECOMMENDATIONS. Chief Campbell's recommendations for improvement of the fire departments carries the following East-Side additions: Reinstalling of the hook and ladder com-pany in the Albina station on Russell street, cut out in 1883 on account of lack of funds; placing a fire engine company at Powell and Milwaukle streets; engine at Holladay and Union avenues and an engine at Highland, taking the place of the chemicals at these two places; an engine at East Ankeny and Twenty-engine at Highland, taking the place of the chemicals at these two piaces; an engine at East Ankeny and Twenty-eighth streets. For Brooklyn, it is probable, if a change be made, that an engine will be placed in the building at Seventh and Stephens streets, and Hose Company No. 3 moved to Powelll and Milwaukie streets. The people of Midway are taking steps for providing fire protection on their own responsibility, by erecting a public hall and fire quarters. That section has a volunteer company, as also has Sellwood. It is thought Sellwood may secure a combination chemical in place of the volunteer service now given that growing district.

Grandes Hold Farra.—October is the month in which Grange's hold their fairs. However, owing to the Lewis and Clark Exposition, some have postponed these events until next year. This has been done in Multinomsh County generally. In Clackamas County several local fairs will be held. At Maple Laine the Grange holds its fair next Saturday, October 7, when there will be an agricultural display, including household products and some livestock. There will be be before the didulous English chapple. He doesn't overlook anything in what he finds to do for the drange ments are being made for the annual fair to continue two days, Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21. An effort will be put forth to make the display the most complete yet made under the auspices of the Grange. There will be a baby contest. Friday evening a programme with short addresses will be rendered. W. K. Newell, of Dilly, has consented to talk to the people on one of the days of the fair. Oswego Grange 172 also is making preparations to have a colonial display this month. fair. Oswego Grange 172 also is making preparations to have a colonial display this month.

By Arthur A. Greene. The very tuneful and diverting musical comedy at the Marquam is "smart." It Winter's snow was wrapping everything in a mantle of white, a famous painter on his travels stopped to admire a faded occurs to me, as it must to most of those who saw it, that the word conveys a comprehensive idea of the piece. It is English with a French accent, and fairly picture in a venerable abbey. "It's only an old picture, and not worth much," hinted the sexton, bleary of eyesight, but the painter called for his brushes and his paints, and lo! under his genius the pic-I have seldom heard a score that is more delightful, although there is no one ture began to glow with new life, and was a thing of beauty again. Thousands came to see it from far and near. Now, a great many people have seen and admired the four-act comedy-drama, "The Charity Ball," and treasure it in their memories as a sweet recollection. At the Belasco Theater, it is the attraction this week, and people were hardly prepared for the gorgeous new setting the play has received. It's a case of wine all the better for having been kept a little while, and where the gifted painter has made the old picture new and pulsating. The greatest scene viewed here for a long time is that representing the ante-room of the New York Metropolitan Opera-House, in the second act. A bouquet to Manager "Jack Sainpolis, and the stage people who built it! Many shows at $1.50 do not have so good scenery and stage setting. The artistic eye is pleased. The play is one in which the women of the company wear charming gowns, and Miss Lawrence looks piquant and other-wise all that's charming, first in a red velvet skirt trimmed with lace, and a lace walst, and afterwards in a white silk gown that is just too lovely for anything. She made a living, breathing Ann Cruger, the charitable. Quite a lot of Wall-street expressions are heard throughout, especially from John Sain-polls, who makes a positive hit for re-pressed acting as rilchard Van Buren, breaker of a woman's heart and stock-

Mr. Walling is austere yet human as a church rector. Edith Angus was convina morbid part of a woman with a past, and the comedy was delicious in the hands of Virginia Brissac and Charles Ruggles. The spirit of a master hand is young bride, is charming every moment of her participation in all of the three acts, while Kathleen Clifford, who plays recognized in the lines-laughter and song, and tears and troubles are mixed to taste. Another Belasco auccess.

Paul Armstrong's Play Coming West With Florence Roberts.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2.—Paul Armstrong's new play, "Ann Lamont," was produced here for the first time tonight, with the California actress, Florence Rob-erts, in the title role, "Ann Lamont" is what has been termed a problem play. The scenes are laid in New York, London and Hawaii. Ann is a young weman of good breeding and education, a struggling artist, whose ambition leads her to association with a so-called Bohemian class in New York City, where whe throws salds in New York City, where she throws aside conventionalities and lives the easy life of her associates.

And of the actress: "Before the play was over the spectators were at her feet. Tribune will say that Miss Roberts and her talented company gave an artistic performance, and that the play, while it has much merit, has its weak places. "Ann Lamont" was produced by John

Cort, of Seattle, general manager of the Northwestern Theatrical Association, who is well known in Portland. Although he is an old theatrical man, this is Mr. Cort's first experience as a road manager. He will also have charge of Calve's tour of this country, which begins in New York this month. Calvin Hellig, of Portland, is the president of the Northwest Thearical Association, of which Mr. Cort is general manager, and which has the largest circuit in the United States. As Florence Roberts will tour the Pacific Coast in the near future with her new play, "Ann Lamont" will soon be seen in Portland. Paul Armstrong, who wrote this new and highly successful play produced by Mr. Cort is also the author of "The Heir to the Hovrah," which has made such a decided hit in New York.

Bank, and H. C. Clemens have returned from their trip down the coast from Newport. They traveled on foot along and through the Coast Range, a distance of about 50 miles, carrying a tent and camping equippage with them and staying at night wherever they happened to be at the end of the day's tramp. They killed one deer and saw bear signs, but did not get a shot.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Orespectionally clever. The Celtic songs of Mabel Howard are quaint and odd chough to catch the popular fancy, which they did. Teed and Lazelle are funny and keep the house in an uproar over "a scandalous offair." A one-act comedy entitled "Winning an Helical" by act comedy entitled "Winning Heirers," by Eunice Drake and co proved a great entertainer and was well received. The grandiscope concludes the bill.

Star

The Star presents one of the most clever bird acts this week which has ever been shown in Portland, and those who are fond of such performances should not fail to see the cockatoo circus. Some of these birds do great stunts, one ringing a bell any given number of times, the audience suggesting the numbers as tests. This educated cockatoo also picks out flags of various countries which are named to him. Fred Hilton does some clever ring and bar Hilton does some clever ring and bar work, including novelties on a revolving ladder. The musical numbers are furnished by the Royal Trio, which com-bines high-class vocal selections with an interesting skit. VAUGHN'S BOX ORDINANCE.

He Introduces New Measure With Many Features of Old One.

Another proposed box ordinance was ubmitted at the meeting of the liquor license committee of the City Council yesterday by Councilman Vaughn, as an amendment to the Bennett ordinance, now before the committee, a measure that its author claims bore the indorsement of Mayor Lane, the Municipal Association, the Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers' Association and about all the contending elements in the city. The measure is a medification of the ordinance that was first adopted, which had a tumultuous career in the courts.

The chief features of the new measure are its exemption of hotels from the operations of its restrictive provisions, and the increase in size of all rooms in which liquor may be sold from 169 to 200 square feet. Annand. Gray, Wills and Shepherd were particularly op-posed to the hotel exemption feature, and in the argument following its in-tro-function contended that all the dis-reputable joints in the North End would be permitted, under its provi-sions, to go into the hotel business and nothing could stop even the Paris House from hanging out its shingle as a hostelry for the accommodation of the traveling public.

After some animated discussion action was postponed until 11 o'clock to-morrow morning, at walch time the committee will hold a special meeting to consider further the qestion of recom-mending either the Bennett ordinance or the one introdced as an amendmen by Vaughn.

License Committee's Action.

The license committee of the City Coun cll yesterday recommended an amendment to section 17, of ordinance 14.003, so as to permit bons fide local manufacturers to engage in business upon payment of a license at the rate of $30 weekly, $75 monthly and $200 quarterly. The measure was introduced to cover the case of Mrs. J. H.
