

PROTESTS PILING UP

Portland Has Many Impoverished Property-Owners.

ASSESSOR NOT WORRYING

Mr. Sigler Declares the Objections Represent Only a Small Portion of the Total Assessment.

Equalization of the new assessment roll, in response to the 500-odd protests made by taxpayers, will not be begun by the County Board of Equalization for perhaps two weeks yet.

All manner of taxpayers are raising their voices against valuations in the new roll, especially merchants who object to the Assessor's estimate of the worth of their merchandise.

Assessor Sigler is not dismayed by the 500 protests that have been filed. He says their number and the valuations they represent are relatively small.

The complaints against assessments on moneys and accounts might make an observer think the supply of cash in Multnomah County as scant as lettuce on the hinges of the devil's regions.

As to realty assessments, but few objections have been made to the high valuations placed on property in the heart of the city.

Three of the largest wholesale grocery houses have been made to confer with the assessors on their stocks—Lang & Co., Allen & Lewis and Mason, Ehrman & Co.

Lang & Co. stated that their stock of goods should be assessed for $5,200, instead of $20,000. Allen & Lewis that their assessment should be $20,000, instead of $30,000, and Mason, Ehrman & Co. that their assessment should be $15,000, instead of $20,000.

Among the remonstrances filed yesterday against personal assessments were the following:

Realty Assessments Protested. The most noteworthy complaint on a realty assessment is that of Rufus Malory, whose two lots on Stark street, between Third and Fourth, are assessed for $10,000, which he alleges is $4500 more than the price paid for the property June 1, 1905.

SHE HAD SHERIFF'S KEY

Wayward Girl Says Polk County Official Was Easy. With a key to the room of Sheriff Ford, of Polk County, in her possession Birdie Cox, of Independence, Or., was arrested last night at the instigation of her father by Detective Resing, Miss Cox, who is under 18 years of age, said she met the Sheriff on the street and took the key from him without resistance.

Miss Ford ran away from her home in Independence a few weeks ago and the police at Portland were notified that she was missing. Resing found her on the street last night in company with another woman, and she was identified by her father, who was waiting for the City Jail for safe keeping and will be taken home this morning by her father, Captain Moore, of the first night relief, has the key to the Sheriff's room in his possession at police headquarters.
