

PURPOSE OF JAPAN

One of Her Diplomats Defines Policy of Empire.

NO DESIGN ON PHILIPPINES

Such Policy Against Japan's Interests—Does Not Claim Exclusive Influence Over China—Immigration Will Decline.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—Eli Hoki, first secretary of the Japanese Legation at Washington, delivered an address to the members of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce this evening, his subject being "Japan, America and the Orient."

Seeing that certain questions are receiving more or less attention in the thinking class of people in this and other countries, it may not be without value to express at this opportunity my humble views on them.

One—the yellow peril: In spite of the influence which now it gained, the doctrine of the yellow peril seems to have practically lost its hold on men's minds, at least in America.

Would Not Fight Best Friend.

Two—Japan has no designs on the Philippines. If a sane and sane statement of responsibility is made to convince, let us try a brief argument. Laying aside entirely for the moment, for the sake of argument, the consideration of the motive of Japan regarding the present subject, let me ask you a question. Can you believe that the great American people who glory in their national spirit, in their gigantic strength, in their boundless wealth, in their marvellous development, and who look forth with proud and confident anticipation to the time when they shall be the first in the race civilization has set for man to run, would allow her flag to be lowered, be it in the Philippines or any other place which legitimately belongs to her by any hands but her own?

Therefore, if Japan harbored such a sinister design as is attributed to her, she must be prepared to plunge in a war far more gigantic than the one just ended, against a nation to which she owes much of what she is today, and to whose people she owes that moral and financial support so unreservedly given at the most critical period in her history.

Japan's Influence in China.

Three—The open-door policy in China: The increased prestige of Japan turned the eyes of the world toward the problem of what influence Japan will wield over China. Without questioning the value of the principle of an open door, and the Monroe Doctrine or its applicability to the Western situation at present, I can simply say that such an idea has not entered into Japanese minds.

Four—Japanese influence in China beneficial to the whole world: Japan is a fair prospect for the increase of Japanese influence in China as a result of her increased prestige.

Immigration Will Increase.

Sixth—Japanese immigration into the United States: It is seen frequently printed in newspapers that, when the war with Russia is over and the army of 50,000 men in Manchuria is disbanded, the Pacific Coast will be flooded with Japanese immigrants. Such a statement cannot be regarded as an expression of a serious opinion, because, unless that enormous army of Japanese had at once descended from the sea just for the purpose of war, there can be no reason why its disembarkment should mean any increase of immigration to the United States, or anywhere else.

Seventh—The future of the Orient: The Orient, with more than half the population and more than one-third of the land of the entire world, and commerce amounting to only $2,000,000,000 annually, that is, only a little over one-seventh of the total trade of the world, offers almost unlimited fields for future development.

MONROE DOCTRINE IN ORIENT

Von Sternberg's Opinion of Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Baron Speck von Sternberg left today on board the Kaiser Wilhelm II for his post in Washington. Before leaving he stoutly denied the condition of his health was such as to prevent his returning to his duties, it being much the same as usual.

He expressed himself hopeful that a tariff war between America and Germany would be avoided.

BREMEN, Oct. 24.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, which sailed from here today for New York, had among her passengers the German Ambassador to the United States, Baron Speck von Sternberg, Mme. Galsky and Jean Gerardy, the violinist.

A Sweeping Sale of Women's Knit Underwear First Floor. The tremendous selling of the past month has reduced many lines to mere remnants—oddments and endments as it were. Some of the best sellers cannot be replaced at this late day from the mills. We never allow our stocks to become encumbered by odd lots or ends of lines—rather a loss now, all at once, and over with it. What seems a remnant to us would do some smaller stores for a line, and there's plenty of all sizes for the individual patron. But we must close all broken lines and propose to do it in one determined, sweeping slaughter. It starts today. Thousands of dollars' worth of women's reasonable weights in new knit undergarments, from the best and largest mills in America; also some grades of imported underwear at less than mill or import prices. Correct Footdress Smart Shoes for Dressy Men and Stylish Women The "Boote Shoppe"—1st Floor, 6th-St. Annex. Two things are absolutely requisite in the dress of men who care for that personal appearance which means so much to success in life. No matter how carefully the tailor has looked to the clothsheaf of the garments that help to constitute a man's wardrobe, if the latter and the shoemaker have not been called in, then the effect is spoiled. A hat oftentimes covers a multitude of sins of omission and commission in the male garb that a perfect-fitting pair of smart shoes helps to excuse. It costs no more to dress the feet correctly and comfortably than it does to make them look gawkish and feel uncomfortable and really ill. But you must come to the store that knows how. This store is in the shoe business with all its might; is better equipped in every way than any other Western store to do shoe business as it should be done. New models are here such as you'll see only in the leading footwear shops of the East—shapely, stylish lasts that are exclusive with Olds, Wortman & King in Portland. Yes, we're hot after the man's shoe trade, and going to have it—the grapples are out—"Style" and low-titan-elsewhere prices. OF COURSE, YOU KNOW THIS GREAT DEPOT OF FOOTWEAR SUPPLY LEADS WITH High-Grade Shoes for Women Even the exclusive shops cannot boast of a stock so large or diversified as here. Shoes at $3.50 are our leaders, better ones at $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 to be sure—and cheaper ones at the lowest prices quoted in the city on shoes of quality. But the shoes at $3.50 are invested with as much grace as such style and as much exclusive character as any five-dollar shoe of which we know, other than ours. Take, for instance, the world-famous "Gloria" Shoes, leader in quality and style, Queen of the Pingree family of shoes—yes, a few distinctive mentions in shoes for men. The Great Silk Sale Continues New Lines are Brought Forward for First Snowing Annex—Fifth Street. These are busy days in the Silk Store. Fashion has never known such a season for silks, and it seems as tho' this store was doing most of the providing, not only for the wearers, but for the dressmakers who, in turn, provide for their patrons. The dressmaker knows best silks and the store that carries them; one of the strongest proofs of the superiority of our stocks is that this house sells fully 90 per cent of Portland's leading modistes. But even with our splendid facilities, we were unable to show the entire lot of special values either last week or Monday—the balance goes on sale bright and early this morning.
