Monarchists besiege university and troops release students. "Black Hundred" murders and robs. BORNIVICE, POLAND—General strike in iron and coal works. Passenger train driven back to Germany by mob. LONDON, Oct. 31.—The correspondent of the Standard at Moscow sends the following account of the happenings of recent days there: On Friday and Saturday a dozen meetings of different parties sat in constant session in different halls of the university numbering all together probably 30,000 persons. Saturday night the rector appealed to the prefect to protect the university buildings against attacks instigated by the Moscow Gazette and the monarchist party, which appealed through the priests to all true Russians to unite to beat the students and rebels. The prefect refused the call. The university district with a strong cordon of troops, while the students erected formidable barricades at every gate and organized their defense with military precision. The monarchists, "Black Hundred" in the meantime waited outside for any students venturing to leave the precincts. This siege continued until Sunday night, when, after negotiations, the besieged marched out, escorted by dragons, who kept the "Black Hundred" off until the students were able to disperse safely. At noon Saturday a crowd of men caught between two troops of dragons with drawn sabres, many persons being wounded. A great meeting of delegates of all parties sat in the town hall on Saturday afternoon until Sunday morning, discussing proposals for the formation of a militia and a committee of public safety, but nothing was definitely settled. The municipal authorities found it impossible to go to the lengths demanded by the revolutionists, who left the hall after threatening vengeance upon the members of the Municipal Council when they got the upper hand. The delegates of the workers' party were more reasonable and consented to permit the restarting of the water works after Moscow had been deprived of water for 38 hours. Sunday was signalized by a blinding snow storm, and the condition of the streets was abominable. At night thieves and ruffians harried the pedestrians, using knives and bludgeons. Numerous students and others were severely beaten and injured by the "Black Hundred," which worked unmolested by the police or the troops. COSSACK REIGN OF TERROR Shoot People on Sight at Odessa and Guard Suspected Infantry. ODESSA, Oct. 30.—It is impossible to fix even approximately the number of yesterday's victims. The officials in charge of the hospitals, cemeteries and lockups are strictly forbidden to give the slightest information. The dead and wounded, whose numbers must be very considerable, have been removed by the police and hidden out of sight of inquirers. The infantry, of whose loyalty the authorities are doubtful, are kept in barracks, and the Cossacks and gendarmes who show no disinclination to shoot down people on sight, are left to deal with the crowds. At one barricaded corner yesterday, a student, on the appearance of the Cossacks, mounted the barricade and appealed to them to join them instead of killing their brothers, who were struggling for the freedom of their common country. The Cossacks responded with four volleys, killing nine and wounding about 40 persons. Scenes similar are occurring everywhere. The crowds, fleeing before the charging Cossacks, invade private houses and hide in garrets and on roofs. Many private apartments have been converted into temporary hospitals for the succor of wounded refugees. The Governor has issued a proclamation announcing that he will not hesitate to adopt the severest measures to repress disturbances. Railroad traffic is partly restored. Two trains guarded by troops were dispatched during the day, and one of them arrived at its destination. Telegram communication with St. Petersburg is interrupted. Some of the striking establishments, especially the drugstores, have been converted into temporary hospitals. A semblance of order is slowly being restored. A number of stores have reopened, but additional factories struck today. The City Council has decided to grant pensions to the families of the killed and wounded and to attend the funerals of the victims.

SOLDIERS REFUSE TO SHOOT

Fire in Air, Not at Revolutionists. Anarchy Rules Lodz. LODZ, Russian Poland, Oct. 30.—The situation here grows worse hourly. The infantry, when ordered to fire on the people, discharged their rifles in the air. The shops are closed, and those whose owners refuse to shut up are destroyed. Crowds are busy tearing down Russian flags which were displayed by order of the police. Bands of peasants in the Government of Suwalki are destroying the government alcohol stores. All business here is suspended. About 130,000 workmen are on strike. No newspapers are published, and many of the restaurants are closed. Such establishments as opened today were forcibly closed or destroyed. Several thousand workmen marched through the streets. The military generally fire blank cartridges, but a ball cartridge is expected. Two workmen were killed at Oia, a suburb of this city. Disorders are reported to have occurred at Radom.

WARSAW, Oct. 30.—A telegram received here from Moscow says the strikers have destroyed the Belt railroad and two houses on Tweria street, one of them belonging to the government.

CZAR'S PROCLAMATION OF LIBERTY

We, Nicholas II, by the Grace of God Emperor and Autocrat of all the Russian, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow. The happiness of the Russian Sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people, and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the Sovereign. From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our empire. The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourselves and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central government and to assure the success of measures for participation in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well-being of our people. We therefore direct our government to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner: First—To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civil liberty based on the real inalienability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association. Second—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the state Duma, to invite the participation in the Duma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the Duma will permit, of those classes of the population now, completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things. Third—To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the State Duma, and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us. We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty toward the fatherland, to aid in terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply their forces, in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our natal soil. Given at Peterhof, October 30, in the sixteenth year of our reign. (Signed) NICHOLAS.

TELEGRAPH SERVICE BETTER

Berlin and St. Petersburg Connected, but Messages Badly Delayed. BERLIN, Oct. 30.—(1:45 P. M.)—The telegraph was in working all the morning with St. Petersburg and the principal cities of Russia except Moscow, which for some hours was entirely cut off from telegraphic communication. The telegraphic offices are 12 to 14 hours behind their work, because of the extraordinary quantities of dispatches being exchanged between the governments and their representatives at St. Petersburg, the masses of press telegrams and the large amount of commercial business, due to the desire of business connections in Russia to arrange for the future. Telegraphic communication with St. Petersburg appears to be improving. A dispatch received by the Wolff Bureau was only an hour and a half in transmission. The German mails are being sent to Russia by way of Stockholm. Travelers from
