

SENATORIAL TOGA ADMITS CLAIMANT

Aspirants Slow to Comply With Provisions of the Primary Law.

WILL THE PEOPLE CHOOSE?

Statute Provides That Selection Shall Be Made by Voters at Primaries, but Politicians Prefer Old System.

- Which Shall It Be?
- Possibilities for United States Senator to succeed John H. Mitchell, March 4, 1907:
- Republicans.
- T. T. GEER, of Salem.
  - T. B. WILCOX, of Portland.
  - W. D. FENTON, of Portland.
  - A. L. MILLS, of Portland.
  - D. R. WEBSTER, of Portland.
  - DR. ANDREW C. SMITH, of Portland.
- Democrats.
- H. W. GOODE, of Portland.
  - JONATHAN BOURNE, of Portland.
  - STEPHEN A. LOWELL, of Pendleton.
  - MALCOLM A. MOODY, of The Dalles.
  - JAMES H. RALEY, of Pendleton.
  - C. E. S. WOOD, of Portland.
  - JEFFERSON MYERS, of Portland.

None of the candidates for the United States Senatorship in Oregon has yet come forth from the woods in compliance with the direct primary law, which aims to take the selection of the officer away from the Legislature and to give it to the people in the nominating primaries, thereby preventing "pull politics" for the job and requiring aspirants to show their physical fitness in the open.

The candidates so far are all unknown; that is they have not introduced themselves to the public. But several have become known as having the best in their bones, through their political affiliations and through their poses before the public at various times; at least, their actions have given rise to strong suspicions that they are nursing the sin in their bosoms, but keeping the smoke out of sight. They will, no doubt, deny that they are candidates, but they are not losing opportunities to make political strikes.

Will they be forced into the limelight? Can they stay under cover and escape the charge of defeating the direct primary law?

Furthermore, will not the man who receives the Republican primary nomination be recommended over his defeated primary rivals and over those aspirants who may stay out of the primaries by the Republican convention, which is to be held after the primaries, "to ratify all nominations made by the people for State offices," according to the convention call made by the Republican reunion, held in Portland October 12?

Plan New Law Intends.

The direct primary law intends that candidates for the Senatorship, Republican and Democratic, shall be nominated the same way as candidates for other state offices—by the electors of each party at the primaries—that the nominees shall be voted for in the general election and that the legislators shall elect the "people's nominee" and none other. For example, the Republican members of the next Legislature, who doubtless will consist of that body against the Democrats will elect, if true to the direct primary law, that man Senator who the Republicans of the entire state shall have chosen at the primaries next April. The Legislature will meet in regular session in January of the following year.

Senatorial elections in Oregon have made Legislatures carnivals of political intrigue and jobbery; engendered political feuds which have split the Republican party in twain; resulted in choice of men who, daring not to go before the people, have sneaked into the office through chicanery and fraud—in short, made speaking the truth he given the people Senators whom they did not want. This is the record of Senatorial elections in other states, too, but the resultant bitterness and public disappointment in Oregon have been equaled in few commonwealths and surpassed in none.

To abolish this turmoil and secure the choice of Senators to the people, the electors of Oregon enacted the direct primary law, in June 1904, by a vote of more than three to one. The Senator who shall succeed John H. Mitchell, March 4, 1907, will be the first elected under the law.

Reluctance of Candidates.

The man who is to win the Senatorial toga now in possession of Mr. Mitchell, must, therefore, go before the people in the primary election and defeat rival aspirants. If the new law is to be observed, when will they reveal themselves to the people? Not one has yet done so. If they plan to obey the law, they must come from under cover before the primary law next April, five and one-half months hence.

But there is a manifest reluctance among them to come out; most of them would prefer to stay in the dark, ignore the law and let the Legislature elect by the old method. All this they would deny, however, if accused of it. But it is admitted on all sides that most of them harbor a lingering belief that the primary nomination method for United States Senators will fall or be ignored by the Legislature, for it should be understood that the primary law does not take from the Legislature the constitutional power of that body to choose Senators; only provides a way whereby that body may be impelled by force of public sentiment, to elect a man whom the people shall nominate at the primaries.

Multinomial Membership.

The direct primary law aims to impel candidates for seats in the Legislature to pledge themselves, if nominated and elected, to support in the Legislature the man for United States Senator who shall receive the most votes at the general election next preceding the election of a Senator. Such candidate, cannot, however, be constitutionally required to make this pledge, and the only way of forcing it from them is through pressure of public sentiment. On the primary ballot they have the option of promising either to vote in the Legislature "for the people's choice for United States Senator" or not to vote for "people's choice," or of making no promise whatever.

Multinomial County will elect 15 members of the Legislature next June and will have 20 out of 30 votes in that body. The candidates for the Republican nominations to those 15 seats, can promise on the primary ballot to vote not for any particular man for Senator, but only for the "people's choice," or they can promise not to vote for the "people's choice," or they need make no promise at all. Therefore, the only way for the followers of Mr. Wilcox or Mr. Mills or Mr. Fenton, for example, to pledge legislative candidates to their respective Senatorial candidate is to make their respective candidate the "people's choice."

The two promises, as their form is prescribed by law, are as follows:

Statement No. 1—"I further state to the people of Oregon, as well as to the people of my legislative district, that during my term of office I will always vote for that candidate for United States Senator in Congress who has received the highest number of the people's votes for that position at the general election next preceding the election of a Senator in Congress, without regard to my individual preference."

Statement No. 2—"During my term of office, I shall consider the vote of the people for United States Senator in Congress as nothing more than a recommendation, which I shall be at liberty to wholly disregard, and the reason for doing so seems to me to be sufficient."

Leading Republican Candidates.

That the people's choice will be a Republican goes without saying, and Democrats universally concede it.

Of the Republican booms, the most frequently mentioned are those of T. T. Geer, ex-Governor, and T. B. Wilcox, president of the Portland Flouring Mills, who represent, respectively, the old-time Simon-Mitchell faction, and the Fulton-Matthews-Carey element, though the division lines between the two men do not everywhere follow these traditional courses. But that the two are in rival camps is manifest, and there is comely bordering on cooperation between Senator Fulton and Mr. Wilcox, aided by remnants of the Matthews-Mitchell machine.

Allied with the same interests is W. D. Fenton, legal counsel for the Southern Pacific, who is recipient of a boomlet of his own, which was expanded by his activity in the Republican reunion of October 12, but who has said that he favors the candidacy of Mr. Wilcox. Another candidate, belonging to the same camp, is A. L. Mills, president of the First National Bank, and still another, H. W. Goode, president of the Portland General Electric Company, and Jonathan Bourne.

It will be noted that all the foregoing men except T. T. Geer belong to the financial and corporation element of Portland. Their interests are more or less allied and they profess admiration of Mr. Wilcox.

L. R. Webster, County Judge, has been boomed for Governor several months, but he is said to have shifted his gaze to the Senatorship recently. Dr. Andrew C. Smith has been mentioned frequently for the Governorship, but has been reluctant to enter the race for that office and now is talked of for the Senatorship. Malcolm A. Moody is boomed both for Representative in Congress and for Senator, but has not announced which of the two he will try for. Stephen A. Lowell is reported from Pendleton to be disposed to try for the Senatorship.

Public Contest Is Inevitable.

It would seem that the Republican convention, to be held after the primaries, perhaps early in May, will strengthen the new election method and that it may establish the new system. That some one or more candidates for the Senatorship will seek the primary nomination and go on the primary ballot is not to be doubted, and that the nominee of the primaries will be endorsed by the convention is altogether probable; indeed it is difficult to see how that outcome can be avoided. This will compel the machines to make their fight before the people.

But the question then arises, will the Legislature elect the "people's choice" or will it revert to its constitutional privilege and pick a Senator by the old method? This will depend on whether a majority of the members of the Legislature can be impelled to pledge themselves in the primaries to support the "people's choice." It is manifest that there are aspirants for the job who would seek election from the Legislature, but not nomination from the people.

CROWD IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Klamath County People Cheer the Visiting Speakers.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The irrigation ratification celebration held here Saturday afternoon was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of town and country folk ever held in Klamath County. A mighty crowd gathered on the courthouse lawn to hear the speakers. Sentiment was so wrought up over the action of the Government in ordering the placing of bids for the construction of the first ten miles of the Klamath irrigation project that time and again the speakers were compelled to await the subsiding of the cheers from more than 300 throats.

Three hundred marching school children, each carrying the Stars and Stripes, followed the band through Main street as a prelude to the speaking. This began at 2 o'clock with Alex. Martin, Jr., making the introduction. Judge H. L. Benson, T. H. Humphreys, of the Reclamation Service, ex-Senator Houston and Hon. H. V. Geer of Illinois, were the speakers besides Governor Chamberlain.

The Governor painted a very bright future for Klamath County. While here he was given a banquet at the Lakeside Inn by the Chamber of Commerce Friday night and by the Reclamation Service men Saturday night. He left Sunday for his Salem home after gaining a personal triumph.
