HOP MARKET IMPROVING.

HOP MARKET IMPROVING.

Jusciph Harris, of Salem, Says Prices Will Scorn Advance.

"The hop market locks better now than it has at any time this acason. There is less disposition on the part of growers who still have hope to do business, and huyers are compelled to go after them when they want the goods. The growers are finding out that its now up to them to dictate what prices shall be paid. Let them stand together and name the price, and the market will be all right."

These were the words of Jusciph Harris, of Salem, at the Belvedere Hotel last evening. Mr. Harris is the Oregon representative of Benjamin Schwarz & Sons, of New York, one

They must pay whatever prices the growers demand. If the farmers are willing to force their hops on the market and sell low, why they must take the consequences. But, I repeat, if the growers will stand together

The Exetern market is quoted at $9.50@30, and on a parity cranberries are worth $12@12.50 laid flown here, though some local sales are being made as low as $11.50. Prices on cranberries are ing at $14@15.

"Why cannot the grower do a little speen-lating now? He was willing enough to act the plunger when hope were at 30 cents. and he certainly takes very little risk now, when hops are selling for less than it costs to raise them. If he holds for an advance and an advance is bound to come. Within the pext three months you will see prices materially higher than they are now.

The greater part of the selling up to this time has been by growers who were forced to part with their crops, owing to having mortgages on them. These weaker growers have now been weeded out, and it is becoming much more difficult to buy. A short time ago the hop offices were crowded with sellers. Now when a buyer wants hops he is forced to go to the country.

Relaxation of Tension Causes Stocks to Advance.

RECOVERY AT NEW YORK

Liquidation of Monday Is Factor in Strengthening of Banking Position-Less Prospect of Import Movement of Gold,

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.-Stocks made a vig ous recovery today from the decided weak ness of yesterday. The relaxation in the money market was the numbral cause of the ency that had a decided restraint on any large renewal of apeculative operations. The rationabed was 18 per cent, as against the actual high rate of 20 per cent yesterday, not counting the flurry to 25 per cent just before the close, which was regarded as having no sig-nificance. But the high rate of today was held only momentarily, and a very small need only momentarily, and a very small amount of money was placed at that rate of interest. Later in the day, after the principal demand had been satisfied, the rate fell below 16 per cent. This occurred much earlier in the day than was the case yesterday, and was the result of freer offerings of funds. The actual situation of the money market, therefore, was considerably ameliorated as compared with yesterday. pared with yesterday. The liquidation affected yesterday of course was a factor in the etrengthening of course, was a factor in the etrengthening of the banking position. Large loans placed by foreign capitalists also played a pert. Reports were current that placing of Canadian funds and a movement of gold to New York from Canadian ports were factors at work in the money struction. The circulation of rumons also continued of ultimate intervention by money situation. The circulation of rumons also continued of ultimate intervention by the Secretary of the Treasury to ease the situation in case of any threat of dangerous consequences, sithough the retterated intention of the Secretary of the Treasury to confine any intended relief measures to the needs of regular business borrowers was again reported from Washington. Besides all this there was a growth of a feeling that the sit reserve requirement established on Saturday left the percentage of total reserves to depogi-liabilities at 24.76 per cent, while the percent age of total reserves ever since September 1 with the exception of the week ending October with the exception of the week ending Ortober 21, and that ended October 8, was not below 28 per cent. The actual change in the condition of the banks therefore was not great, aside from the sentimental effect of the extension of an actual deficit in legal reserves.

Speculative feeling was disposed to the view that the banks were not called upon at this time to go further than to result the actual time to go further than to repair the actual deficit. The pressure upon the money mar ket at this time is recognized as due entirely to the active business conditions, supplemented by the speculative demand based on ience in the general business session, condition explains the extraordinary el don to which credits of the bank have extended and those same conditions are looke to maintain confidence in the great volume of outstanding credits. Nothing like distribu-has been cited as the cause for any of the lean contraction which has been put into force, but simply the limitation of resources to meet the extraordinary demands for credits. However, the demand upon the bank reserves continues, the operations with the sub-Treasury

With the easing of the money rate during the course of today, there was also a rally in foreign exchange rairs, and the prospect of an import movement of gold was thus dissi-pated for the present. The last prices for stocks were the best and the closing was ac-
