

BALFOUR GIVES UP

Campbell-Bannerman to Form New Cabinet.

New Premier Defines Home-Rule Policy Which Will Satisfy Irish.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The political crisis in the United Kingdom reached a climax today when Arthur J. Balfour, the Premier, formally tendered the resignations of himself and the members of his cabinet to King Edward, who accepted them.

It may be stated as certain that Lord Rosebery will be entirely ignored in the make-up of the cabinet and that John Morley will be one of the chief advisers of Sir Henry in drawing up the list of his official family, which will be presented to His Majesty.

New Premier's Home Rule Policy.

One thing is certain—that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has explained his attitude on home rule for Ireland to those Liberal leaders who are known to be opposed to home rule on the lines of the last bills introduced in Parliament.

Alliance of Irish and Labor.

An interesting feature of the political situation is the prospect of a closer alliance between the Irish and the labor parties in the new Parliament.

WHO ARE THE GRAFTERS?

Call for the Religion of a Noble Public Spirit.

Cor. Boston Transcript.

Who now are the enemies of good government in our cities? Is it the multitude of the poor and illiterate people? Is it our new immigrants, hardly able to read the English language, and unaccustomed to our institutions? So we are often told by those who are proud of their descent from other poor immigrants, a few generations farther back. On the contrary, we have reason to believe that the poor and even the uneducated prefer good government and honest officials to corrupt government and dishonest officials. The multitudes of the poor have been voting, and on the whole as righteously and effectively as those better off, in New York and Philadelphia. I would sooner trust the judgment of the poor man and the newcomer on almost any public question than the judgment of the man who despises the poor. By some deep law of our being contempt or arrogance gives a strange twist to the sight of the man who exercises it and spoils his opinion.

But the "grafters" we are told, are forever sucking the blood of our cities. Let us be sure what "graft" is. The grafter is nothing new or peculiar to modern cities. He is the man who wants to have more than his share of the good things of life and succeeds in getting more than belongs to him. He may be the president of a business company, or a city contractor, or an alderman, or the power behind the alderman, to whom corporations pay tribute. A woman who despises "grafters" may be a grafter herself, if she is willing to spend income for her own pleasure that comes to her through "unrighteous ways. There is no "graft" in politics that is not also in business. There is no graft among the notorious that has not its counterpart among the respectable. There is nothing about graft that ought to scare anyone who recoils the history of piracy or the slave trade. It is nothing but our old enemy—selfishness or greed—under a more vulgar name. It is the enemy of all civilization, but it resides in no class more than in another. Thank God, not all men are selfish. Generosity, humanity and devotion are to be found in all classes.

Let us be frank to confess that the arch-enemies of good government are the indifferent, the idle, the luxurious, the people who wish to do and to get as much as they can. Such as these will often move out of town, so as to be rid of the burdens of the city, or they will not take the trouble to vote. They will talk of the need of limiting the suffrage and of the perils of democracy, while all the time they represent the survival in modern days of the type of selfish blunderers whose poverty of public spirit and real religion ruined imperial Rome and precipitated its French revolution. New Life for Railroad Ties.
Kansas City Journal.
No, there isn't so much danger of the supply of railroad cross-ties made from wood running out as was apparent a few years ago. You know the railroad companies in the West and Southwest have invented a method of "pickling" the ties and the results are satisfactory. Not only are the oak ties and those of other first-class material being treated with a creosote preparation which makes them endure for years, but softer woods are being so treated. From cottonwood and other timbers heretofore of no value practically for the material, good ties are being made and treated. We get most of our ties from Northwestern Texas and Northwestern Arkansas. A few years ago some of the railroads began planting great forests of catalpa trees for tie-making purposes, but that enterprise seems to have been followed up to no great extent. This is perhaps because of the fact that the treated tie has come into use. Should there eventually become a shortage of ties, iron will be pressed into use.
