

CABINET STEPS OUT

Italian Chamber Votes Down Pet Measure.

SITTING IS VERY EXCITING

Deputies Are Greatly Opposed to the Commercial Modus Vivendi With Spain Strongly Supported by Premier Fortis.

ROME, Dec. 17.—The Cabinet of Prime Minister Fortis resigned this evening, following a 12 hours' debate in the Chamber of Deputies and the defeat by the opposition of the commercial modus vivendi with Spain. The sitting was a most exciting one. It had been understood that the fate of the Cabinet would be decided by the vote on the measure, and all the deputies were present. The galleries were crowded to overflowing and the famous tragedian, Salvini, who had been unable to gain admittance, was sent to the press tribune with a ticket on which was written, "Salvini, editor of success."

REVOLT IS ON AT BATOUM

Fierce Fighting Takes Place in Barricaded Streets.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 17.—A dispatch received here from Batoum, in the Government of Kutais, Transcaucasia, reports the outbreak of a revolution there. It says that the streets were barricaded and that fierce fighting took place. The military-employed artillery and many persons, including subjects of the Ottoman empire, were killed. In response to a request made by the Turkish Consul the Porte is now arranging for the dispatch of vessels to Batoum to bring the revolutionaries to the dispatch of a similar state of affairs exists at Poti. In the same government, and in the town of Kutais.

International Fleet Recalled.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 17.—The international fleet, which has been making a demonstration in Turkish waters, has been recalled.

Montenegro Ministry Resigns.

CETTINJE, Montenegro, Dec. 17.—The Ministry resigned today.

ANGLO-GERMAN ENTENTE.

The resolution emphasizes especially the advantages of an entente from a commercial standpoint. Telegrams of sympathy were read from the dramaticists Fuld and Hauptmann.

MASSACRE BY THE TARTARS

Armenians at Elizabetopol Put Up a Stubborn Defense.

PARIS, Dec. 18.—A dispatch to the Journal from Trebizonde, Asia Minor, dated December 14, describes the atrocities committed at Elizabetopol in the early part of December. It says that the Tartars attacked the Armenians December 1. The latter offered resistance and endeavored to send their families away, but all the fugitives were massacred. Street fighting followed and then came house-to-house conflicts, which lasted for several days. Finally the Tartars set fire to the town, which is now a mass of ruins. The dispatch says it is impossible to count the dead, the number of which is estimated at 1000.

SUFFOCATED IN BOILERS.

Fourteen Men Lose Their Lives in French Naval Steel Works.

ROUEN, France, Dec. 17.—Fourteen men were suffocated while cleaning boilers in the naval steel works here today.

"Bomb" Was Not Dangerous.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—The bomb found on the train at Saint Nomla Breche, on which President Loubet was proceeding from Nancy with a shooting party, and which it was supposed was intended to kill the President, turned out to have been harmless. Analysis showed that the contents were composed of clay, crushed glass, and torn paper soaked in petroleum. The bomb was labeled "Long live Maitton," referring to one of the anarchists recently acquitted of the charge of participation in the attempt on the lives of King Alfonso and President Loubet, May 21 last.

Names a New Quartermaster.

LONDON, Dec. 17.—One of the first official acts of the new Secretary of War, Richard Burdon Haldane, is the appointment of General Sir William Nicholson as Quartermaster-General, which makes him the third military member of the Army Council. It is considered that General Nicholson represents the best brains of the army. He was formerly director-general of the military intelligence bureau of the War Office and recently was attached to the Japanese army in Manchuria as an observer.

Babonic Plague on Vessel.

CORONNA, Spain, Dec. 17.—The passengers and cargo of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company's steamer Marston from South American ports which vessel arrived here today, were not permitted to be landed owing to the fact that there were three cases of bubonic plague on board. The steamer has sailed for LaChalce, France.

Run Over by Royalty.

NAPLES, Dec. 17.—The Duke and Duchess of Aosta, cousins of King Victor Emmanuel, while on an automobile trip today ran over a woman. The car was immediately stopped and the Duchess took the woman with her to the home of a doctor who said that she was in a dangerous condition.

Marquis Involved in Frauds.

MADRID, Dec. 17.—The Council of Ministers has decided to order an investigation of the allegations made in the report of the Marquis Caceres, Senator the Marquis Caceres of Implication in gigantic treasury frauds involving a sum of $7,500,000 by means of falsely stamped securities.

Rail Cabinet Has Resigned.

ATHENS, Dec. 17.—The Cabinet of M. Ralli resigned today as the result of the defeat of the government over the election of a president of the Chamber of Deputies. King George has summoned ex-Premier Theotokis to form a new Cabinet.

Theft in Italian Church.

FLORENCE, Italy, Dec. 17.—A most audacious theft has been committed in a church at Pescina, where the thieves succeeded in stealing a notable work of Luca della Robbia, after removing the entire altar. The loss is looked upon as incalculable.

CHICAGO BANKS FAIL.

Depositors Are Said to Be Protected by Clearing-House.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Failure of the Chicago National Bank, the Home Savings Bank and the Equitable Trust Company, all of Chicago, was announced at 3:30 o'clock this morning by representatives of the Chicago Clearing-House Association after a session lasting 18 hours. James B. Walsh, president of the First National Bank, as head of the clearing-house committee of the Chicago Associated Banks, gave forth the statement.

The assets of these institutions, it was asserted, were involved in coal and railway properties of John R. Walsh, president of the Chicago National Bank. John R. Walsh, head of the institutions which have been declared insolvent, was not at the meeting. The following were the members of the committee at the meeting: James B. Forgan, chairman; John J. Mitchell, James H. Eckels, Orson B. Smith, Ernest A. Hamill. The statement was issued at the offices of the First National Bank. It is as follows: "The Chicago National Bank, the Home Savings Bank and Equitable Trust Company, which have been controlled and managed by John R. Walsh and his associates have concluded to wind up their affairs and quit business in this city. After a thorough and careful examination of their affairs by the Chicago clearing-house banks it is stated that all of the depositors of these institutions will be paid in full upon demand, the Chicago clearing-house banks having pledged themselves to this result, thus putting all the resources of the Chicago banks behind the depositors of these three institutions.

Members of Berlin Commercial Community Pass Resolutions.

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—A meeting of 2000 members of the Commercial Community was held at the Boerse today in favor of the Anglo-German entente. Herr Kirschner, burgomaster of Berlin, many members of the Reichstag, and several well-known names were present. Prince Schoenrich-Caroloth, Professor Friederich Paulsen and others spoke strongly in favor of such an entente. A resolution in accordance with the view of the meeting was adopted and it will be forwarded to Prince von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the British Premier, and Lord Ashbury, who recently presided over a meeting in London for the furtherance of friendly relations between Great Britain and Germany.

IT WILL GO TO COREA

Marquis, It is Said, Will Become Resident-General.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The correspondent of the Standard at Kobe, Japan, says that the Marquis Ito has accepted an appointment as Resident-General in Corea.

How He Discovered the Thief.

Philadelphia Public Ledger. An English country clergyman detected a thief in the following astute manner: A laborer had informed him that a sack of potatoes had been stolen from his garden. "Well, well," said the minister, "I'll see to it after service." He preached on the eighth commandment, and ended thus: "And now I have a tale to tell. One of our neighbors has missed a sack of potatoes from his garden, and the thief is even now sitting among you. Has he a feather on his head?" At once a man in the congregation was seen to put his hand surreptitiously to the top of his head.

COMMISSIONER OF CORPORATIONS TELLS HIS STORY

Commissioner of Corporations Tells His Story.

DISCUSSES THE TRUSTS

Government Official Treats of Beef Industry and Holds That Rebate Question Has Two Sides. May Control Combine.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 17.—The report of Commissioner of Corporations J. R. Garfield was made public today. The report treats at length all the various phases of the corporation question in the United States. In his report Mr. Garfield says:

The total appropriations for the bureau were $154,250. Of this amount $138,654 has been expended. An unexpended balance amounting to $15,596 was reappropriated for the fiscal year 1906-7, which, together with the regular appropriations, makes available for this year a total sum of $217,250.

The number of persons employed by the bureau June 30, 1905, was 74, an increase of 22 since the preceding year. The methods of accounting, distribution of expense to the various special investigations, and responsibility for public property have been so elaborated as to show the exact cost of bureau work, and have made it possible to prevent unnecessary expense. With the beginning of the fiscal year the appropriations for the department made possible the disclosure of all regular details of employees from this bureau for departmental work.

The estimates for the year ending June 30, 1907, are $200,000, an increase of $82,000, to keep pace with the growth of the published portion of this report dealt chiefly with the question of prices and the margin of profit in the packing business. In the course of this investigation the Bureau had also obtained much information bearing upon the question of combination as between the large packing companies and the smaller packers. The publication of the report of the Department of Justice had under advisement proceedings against certain packing companies and their officers for violation of the Federal anti-trust law. It was obvious, therefore, that the publication of the information possessed by the Bureau on the subject was inexpedient at that time, and accordingly, the report of the President, all the information possessed by the Bureau on the subject of such combination was withheld from publication. Although this fact was set forth in the published report, it was necessary to treat therein of the question of combination, the extent and nature of Governmental control over such companies was the subject of investigation. A further ground of criticism was the failure of the report to make any mention of the Federal anti-trust law. It was obvious, therefore, that the publication of the information possessed by the Bureau on the subject was inexpedient at that time, and accordingly, the report of the President, all the information possessed by the Bureau on the subject of such combination was withheld from publication.

ONLY SIX DAYS REMAIN

MANY PORTLAND HOMES TO BE MADE HAPPY THIS YEAR WITH FINE PIANOS.

A Special Holiday Offer on Six High-Grade Pianos—Regular Price $475, at Less Than One-Half, or $236—$8.00 Down and $6.00 a Month—New Case Designs—A Rare Chance for Shrewd Buyers—Store Open Evenings.

Thousands and thousands of fine pianos are sold each year by us. But never before have such strictly selected and costly instruments been displayed in such profusion, and never has Christmas buying been so lively and successful.

If you are interested in strictly high-grade instruments, in fancy, exclusive case designs, and are not regularly included in the pianomakers' catalogues, you should not fail to inspect the present display of upright pianos, grand pianos, Pianos, pianos, Pianos, Orchestras, organs, etc., at Eilers Piano House.

Upright pianos are here in almost endless assortment, be it a good, serviceable upright at $124, and from that price down to $100. To other art styles, including Weber or Kimball, or Schumann, or Honig, or Kimball, or other art styles, ranging in price from $145 to $200, up to $215. All are to be obtained on easy payments.

Special Holiday Offer. We are making a special holiday offer on six high-grade pianos, the regular price of which is $475, at less than half, $236. To other art styles, ranging in price from $145 to $200, up to $215. All are to be obtained on easy payments.

Every instrument sold by Eilers Piano House has a two-fold guarantee—one given by the makers, and also the guarantee of Eilers Piano House, which means that if any instrument is not exactly as we represent it, you can be cheerfully refunded.

Depend upon it, too, that every instrument sold to be delivered as a Christmas surprise will be delivered at the exact hour promised. Not a single one was overlooked last year out of over 70 Christmas orders, and we are making this year with automobile service, added to our own three fine piano wagons, to assure a prompt delivery as Christmas presents.

Let this be a joyous Christmas, one to the long memory. A piano will make the most important of all to stop the year. Pay $10 or $20 down, and $5 or $10 a month, and have piano sent home as a Christmas surprise.

Only six days more remain. Settle the matter by selecting your piano at Eilers Piano House, the largest, busiest and best dealers, 351 Washington street, corner Park. Store open evenings.

hand, and subjects relating to economic industrial facts. The other, which examines and compares the statutes under which business is conducted, with industrial and statistical facts.

The commissioner talks of the work of the bureau and says: "The bureau has endeavored not only to obtain accurate, reliable information, and facts sufficient to make it representative, but also to draw conclusions that shall represent permanent tendencies rather than individual cases, and to stop the progress of a force of carefully trained statisticians taken up given industries dealing in important staples, and collected statistics and facts relating thereto; to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form Congress should provide all requirements necessary to insure publicity and honesty in promotion, organization, capitalization and conduct of the corporation, reserving to the Government the right of inspection of the books of such corporation and the further right to determine the relative merits of Federal licenses of commerce or by a charter granted by the Federal Government. Under either form