Policeman Told Not to Be Too Finical.

THREE MINUTES INVOLVED

A. L. Gustafson Arrests A. M. Law rence for Keeping His Saloon Open a Few Moments After the Closing Hour.

Policemen should keep in mind the spirit of the law, as well as the letter of it, according to a decision rendered in the Mu- in Portland. nicipal Court yesterday by Judge Cam- ure, capable of seating 10,000 people or more just as the second-hand on his watch had completed its third revolution following the fatal stroke of 1. If he had been possessed of a stop-watch, he might have got the time down a little finer, but it is and to get closer than a second to the right time through the medium of an ordinary timepiece. Therefore, it may never be known the exact length of time Lawrence infringed upon the salcon-closing ordinance. Gustafson brought out these various details when placed on the stand. He added that he had long suspected the defendant of violations of the law, and so rive far more besenfit from this use of pub. He added that he had long suspected the defendant of violations of the law, and so rive far more benefit lay in wait for him.

Then the unexpected happened. Assistant City Attorney Flizgerald said the officer should have warned his victim instead of spying upon him; that the ordinance in on three-minute offenders. It had been enacted to prevent unseemly carousals and orgies late into the night, and not as a bugaboo to induce saloonkeepers to pur-chase stop-watches in order not to overrun their time. Of course, the law must be enforced, but those affected by it should be allowed reasonable latitude. Fifteen minutes, or even ten minutes, might constitute an offense, but three minutes-tha was drawing the line a little too fine. The sole duty of the policeman was to notify the man to close immediately.

court likewise tore a small hole in the fetid, nauscaling atmosphere of the unventilated, unsanitary courtroom, and filled it up with wholesome advice to the embryonic Sherlock Holmes. The court was very decided in the opinion that po-licemen should not grow too finical. The iofendant was dismissed. Miss Jessie Goldman, an angular maiden

Miss Jessie Goldman, an anguar manado of some 30 or more years, was arraigned on a charge of being a chronic firt. The woman seemingly has grown desperate at her prolonged spinsterhood, and has a habit of coming out in front of her house, near Fourth and Salmon streets, to sweep the sidewalk. She manages to sweep a habit of coming out in front of her house, near Fourth and Salmon streets, to sweep the sidewalk. She manages to sweep a little dust on such passersby as she suspects of being matrimonially inclined, it is said, and then leads them into convergences. She might have leaded a hardend a h sation. She might have landed a husband in time if let alone, but it seems she tried to filtr with the policeman on that beat. Seventy-five a month and a big policeman Seventy-five a month and a big policeman was a prize worth going after, but she was doomed to a hard plece of luck. Patrolman Seaman, her intended victim, regarded her advances in the ungallant light of an annoyance and took her down to the station. Miss Goldman was cautioned by the court to be more demure in the future.

Lyman A. Ware, a resident of the local-ity immediately under his battered hat, was charged with jumping on a Southern Pacific train as it passed up Fourth street. There was some thought of changing the charge to one of maintaining an existence on earth, but the prisoner anticipated this change by pleading guilty to the first charge. It cost him $5.

Robert Watson and James Cunningham a brace of old rounders, who need only a change of garb from rags to broadcioth to make them look like distinguished trust magnates, were accused of having Chi-nese lottery tickets in their pockets. They explained that they picked the luckless

it Will Require Eight Hundred and Thirty Thousand Cubic

At the meeting of the East Side Improvement Association, last evening, George C. Flanders, of the committee on fills, reported that Engineer J. R. Lockwood had completed his report on the amount and character of the material available for fills in the bettom of the vallable for fills in the bottom of the available for fills in the bottom of the river, between the Madison and Burnside tridges. Mr. Flanders said the engineer's report was completed, and was full as to details. It would show that there were 800.000 cubic yards of material, some loose and easily handled and some hard pan, while the fills would take $20.000 cubic was that, in the judgment of the engineer, the work could be done at a comparatively the work could be done at a comparatively low figure to the property-owners, much lower than it has cost to make fills here-tefore. As soon as this report goes to the Port of Portland a proposition will soon be made to the property-owners. The report called out hearty applause from all present, as it indicated that substantial progress was being made toward getting the low grounds filled is feet above low-water mark.

It was announced that the annual school meeting will take place at the High School house, on the evening of December Z, and all who can do so were urged to attend the dangerous condition of Union avenue north from East Oak to Burnside, and said that the city should take action to make it reasonably safe. Mr. Brown also insisted that the association should advocate that when once a street was improved the property-owner should be exempt from further cost except to pay taxes. He said that the whole city should then keep up he streets.

In the matter of the appropriation for additional fire protection, electric lights and police station, it was amounted that the appropriations were not likely to be cut down, and even might be increased above the Chief's estimates. The associa-tion adjourned to meet the first Tursday in January.

CLEONE, Or., Dec. 18.-(Special.)-The 56-acre farm belonging to the Oregon Odd-fellows adjoining Cleone will be cut up into five and ten-acre tracts and placed on the market. Surveyors will begin di-viding it this week. For more than 39 years the place has been rented out, although it was originally intended for a home. Two fine buildings are located on the tract near the railroad, and about 4 excellent quality. The original idea of Oddfellows' Home was found to be in practicable, and the plan was abandone in Portland a few years ago, since which time the Oddfellows have been endeavoring to dispose of the property at sor thing near its original cost.
