STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Body Is Undecided Just What to Do and Fails to Answer Pertinent Questions That Are Put by the Members.

A score of Democrats at a meeting of A score of Democrats at a meeting of their State Central Committee in the Imperial Hotel yesterday, confessed themselves stumped as to the right way to rally the unterrified hosts under the direct primary law, and appointed five of their number—Alex Sweek, chairman of the State Committee; J. B. Ryan, secretary; W. H. Holmes, of Marion; O. P. Coshow, of Douglas, and R. W. Montague, of Portland—to peer into the law and carry the light ahead.

The five warhorses will issue a printed manifesto proclaiming to the party just how many signatures are needed on a primary petition; how many from each of the counties and each of the precincts represented and whether the present state committee should conduct the June cam-paign or a new state committee, its mem-bers to be elected by county central committees, should perform that func-

Talk Charily of Convention.

Did the brethren talk of holding a state ention. like the one which the Republican lovefeast of October 12 called for after the primaries? Yea, indeed, but very charity. Judge William Galoway. of Yamhill, prompted by State Senator Milton A. Miller, of Linn, brought up the subject, but it was dismissed, on suggestion of W. H. Holmes, of Marion, as a matter fraught with danger,

"Better wait," said he, "and take advantage of the mistukes of our enemies.
A convention call at present would be premature. We have ample time to consider this matter," and Mr. Holmes said the Democratic party was in a more ad-vantageous position than for a long time, especially in Marion County.

"Republicans in my county," said be.

Nine Members Present.

Nine members of the central commit tre were present and seven more held

Those present were: Judge C. J. Trenchard, of Clatsop, who said that the Republican machine in his county the Republican machine in his county had received a hard jolt in the last city election; J. O. Booth, of Josephine, who carried himself like a "Colonel": Milton A. Miller, of Linn, who borrowed $5 from somebody to pay Linn's share of the fund for publishing the manifesto, and then moved to adjourn; W. H. Holmes, of Marion, who was boomed for the job now held by Senator Gearin; John B. Ryan, of Multnomah, secretary of the state committee, who received the $5 contributions from the counties until the total from the counties until the total amounted to $56; C. N. Wait, of Clackamas, who repeatedly and valuely asked the committee to "educate" him in the meaning of the direct primary law and did not want to wait: L. E. Morse of Wasco, who declared that he would soon show that Wasco contained more suggested the $5 contributions; and J. N. Wall, of Washington, who said never a word the whole meeting.

List of the Proxies.

The proxies were: Judge William Galloway, of Yambill, who represented J. B. Rogers, of Baker, and whose son, Charles, is boomed for Congress in the First district; J. D. Matlock, of Lane, representing Lark Bilyeu, of that county (Mr. Matlock was in town, but did not reach the meeting); W. N. Gatens, of Salem, who represented J. W. Maloney, of Umatilla, and told how primary petitions should be made up; Alex Sweek, of Multnomah, representrepresented F. Wilson, of Union; H. L. Mc-Cann, of Yamhili, a newspaper editor, representing R. N. Sneil, no longer a resident of the state; O. P. Coshow, of Douglans, who represented F. G. Micelli, of that county, and who is a State Senator, the only hold-over Demstate Senator, the only hold-over Dem-ocrat in the upper branch of the Legis-lature; R. H. Mitchell, of Columbia, representing Ether Clark, of that county; R. W. Montagué, of Multinothat mah, representing A. J. Sherwood, of

Other Warhorses Present.

Others present were: W. H. Wehothers present were: W. H. Wehrung, of Washington, ex-State Senator; C. W. James, of Salem, Warden of the Penitentiary; John Lamont, of Multhomah, one of the battle-scarred veterans of the local camp, who, like others of the faith, was glad that the Jackson day feast, once proposed for yesterday, had been called off; N. A. Peery, of Portland, who looked after things for his brother the scalebrated things for his brother, the celebrated L. T. Peery, foe of Alex Sweek; P. A. Cochran, of Woodburn, candidate for Cochran, of Woodburn, candidate for Congress in the First District; Charles V. Galloway, of McMinnville, his competitor; Dr. W. W. Ogiesby, of Linn, who declared that the Democrats and things coming their way "If the darn fools would not throw the thing into the ditch again;" B. Bernard, of Yamhill; D. V. Vaughn, of Silverton.

Those Who Were Absent.

The absentees were: Robert Johnson, of Benton: W. C. Congleton, of Crook; M. Doyle, of Curry; Edward Dunn, of Gilliam; J. F. Klink, of Grant: Cariton Biggs, of Harney: E. B. Dufur, of Jackson; George T. Baldwin, of Klamath; S. P. Moss, of Lake; John Lomis, of Lincoln; E. H. Test, of Malheur; Henry Blackman, of Mor-Malheur; Henry Blackman, of Mor-row; George W. Myers, of Polk; Frank Fulton, of Sherman; B. O. Snuffer, of Tillamook; W. W. Waite, of Wallowa; Hoover, of Wheeler.

W. N. Gatens explained that the 1000 signatures required on a Republican state primary petition and the 559 on a Demo. cratic need not be apportioned between the minimum seven counties in the ratio of their vote for Congressman in the last state election—the total number being 2 per cent of the votes cast for Congressman. Mr. Gatens showed that each precinct having voters on a primary petition must have a separate petition, and that the number of signers from each of the precincts need be no larger than 2 per cent of the votes cast by the parity concerned in that precinct, just so long as the total signers for the entire state shall be 1600 for a Republican candidate and E96 for a Democratic. MISTAKES BRUIN FOR HIGH-WAYMAN.

Rudolph Gottleib, a walter in the Quetle grillroom, mistook Captain of Detectives and Inspector of Police Bruin for a highwayman last Friday night, and because of the misunderstanding. Gottleib, who was entirely innocent, was taken to Police Headquarters and booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Gottleib demanded a jury trial, which was granted, and it was to have taken place yesterday morning. but when Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald investigated the evidence he firmissed the action. The matter has caused a great deal of laughter among the rank and file of the Police Department, but Captain Bruin seems not to be among those who appreciate the joke.

Captain of Detectives and Inspector of Police Bruin arrested Rudolph Gottheadquarters on a charge of disorder-ly conduct. The prisoner demanded a trial by jury, which was granted, but when Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald investigated the case and found there was no evidence save that to be given by Bruin, he dismissed the action. The trial was to have taken place yesterday morning, and the jurors were present, but as soon as the order of dismissal was entered they were Rankin Seeks Further Ruling.

An amended petition in the mandamus suit of John Rankin against the City Engineer, was filed in the State Circuit Engineer, was filed in the State Circuit Court yesterday by Raiph E. Moody, attorney. Rankin was reduced from the position of a regular inspector in March. 1865, at a saiary of $75 a month, to a position of day inspector at $2.50 a day when employed. The desire of Mr. Moody is to have Judge Frazer rule directly upon the point whether a city official can, under the civil service rules, shift an employe from one position to another change. The city contends

William A. (Mysterious Billy) Smith asserts that his wife's brother-in-law. Joseph McCarthy, Jack Fahle, Jake Rickosseph McCartny, Jack Fame, Jake Rick-ers and one Walker are the cause of his domestic infelicity. This is set forth in Smith's answer to the suit of his wife, May Smith, for a divorce. The mys-terious one says McCarthy's wife died not long ago and ever since McCarthy has boarded at his (Smith's) house, without paying for it and his relations with Mrs. Smith were scandalous. Billy also alleges that Mrs. Smith entertained his enemies, Jack Fahle, Walker and Jake Rickers, who threatened to kill him and he was compelled to leave home in June last. He denies improper conduct with to pay Mrs. Smith the large sum she demands for legal expenses and attor-ney's fees.

Objects to Guardian's Report.

Objections to the final report of H. H. Newhall as guardian of Mary Bane, in sane, were partly heard by Judge Webster yesterday. Mary Bane was committed to the insane asylum several months ago She was recently released on parole, She owns property on East Washington street. Before her commitment to the asylum, she arranged to move and repair several houses. The guardian completed the work, and found it necessary to borrow some money. Mary Bane and Attorney A. C.
