CHINESE BOYCOTT SEVERELY FELT ON PUGET SOUND.

Few Orders Are Received From the Orlent and One Big Plant Is Already Idle.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 9.-(Special.)-Instead of waning, as has been frequently reported, the Chinese boycott is becoming stronger, and if orders are not soon received from the Orient the large exporters of flour on Puget Sound will have to close their plants and the loss will be enormous. This is the opinion of some of the managers of the largest flour mills companies will be companied to the largest flour mills companied walls.

The Tacoma Grain Company's plant, having a capacity of 2000 barrels a day, is idle, while the mill of the Puget

The Tacoma Wareho mills is running today, but grinding to fill any Chinese orders. Where the flour companies were formerly receiving orders from China for 100,000 barrels of flour they are now getting orders for 10,000 sacks, and these are coming infrequently.

"The boycott has paralyzed the flour business in China," said John D. Armstrong of the Tacoma Warehouse & Sperry Mills. "According to our advices, the boycott is getting worse instead of better."

These three mills depend on the export trade. Less than 8 per cent of their output is consumed at home. The Siberian market is pretty well supplied with flour, a number of cargoes being on the way there now, and as Japan is not buying as heavily as at the close of the way. China is the care the close of the war. China is the only large consumer left. The boycott has practically killed the flour trade there. John T. Bibb, manager of the Tgcompany had not an order on the books, and when the mill will start again he does not know. The last cable that the Tacoma Grain Company received from China, Mr. Bibb said, stated that the boycott is getting "worse and worse." On receiving this word Mr. Bibb sent a cable, asking if a reduction in the price of flour would result in getting some orders, reply was negative.

Ralph B. Smith, of the Puget Sound Flouring Mills, says the boycott is more serious than globe-trotters and others returning from the Orient say Telephone Line to Princville.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 9 .- (Special.)-Telephonic communication between Albany and Prineville. Crook County, will be established in the early months of the coming Spring. For some time there has been a telephone line between Albany and Cascadia, a mountain resort about 50 miles from Albany on the line of the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain wagon road, and it has been a great convenience. Now when this line is extended to Prine-ville the valley will be directly connected with Eastern Oregon by tele-
