

BANKING LAW TO

Careless and Fraudulent Use of People's Deposits Would Then Be Prevented.

UNSOOUND BANKS A MENACE

Compulsory Publicity Is First Step Advocated by Benjamin I. Cohen.

Secretive Banking Methods Are Dangerous.

To keep state banks from looting the public through careless and fraudulent use of the people's deposits, and to protect solvent banks from the effects of such dishonest practices, the next Oregon Legislature, one year hence, will be asked to make it law for regulation of all private banks and supervision by a state examiner, as in Idaho and California and Eastern States.

Benjamin I. Cohen, president of the Portland Trust Company of Oregon, is a vigorous advocate of state supervision in Oregon, to protect not only the public but also honest banks from "wildcat" practices which injure solvent institutions as well as depositors. As Mr. Cohen's bank is a private institution, which would be supervised, as well as the 38 other state institutions that would be affected by a banking law, his opinion is of all the more weight. The first and best remedy, he says, is publicity as to the finances of state banks, like that required by the General Government of National banks, said he yesterday.

No Protection to Public Now.

"I am very strongly in favor of a state law regulating banks, and insuring publicity in connection with them. At the present time there is absolutely no check upon this class of business. Any individual may open a bank, and deposit money by plausible statements, backed up by a little good furniture and gilding, may entrap the public into making deposits with him, whether he be solvent or insolvent. Private banking firms are at liberty to use the money deposited with them in any way they may see fit, either in speculative enterprises or to further their private ends, at the expense of depositors. Should it be desired to evade all individual responsibility, a corporation may be formed with any capital stock that the parties may see fit, and without having a dollar paid in may begin business, and by liberal advertising attract large sums of money without any safeguards in the way of conservative investments to guarantee the permanency of the institution so formed.

"It has come to my personal observation, upon more than one occasion, that banks which were utterly unworthy of confidence have succeeded in obtaining the savings of other people's money. In some instances they have failed, with most disastrous consequences, and in other instances they have pulled through by reason of favorable circumstances, and are still in existence, and constitute a menace to the sounder and more conservatively managed banks of the several communities where these unsound banks exist.

Publicity Should Be Compulsory.

"I believe that one of the most important features of the state law should be compulsory publicity. There are seven banks or trust companies that do not publish statements; in other words, there is no way in which a depositor or any other individual can tell whether these banks are sound or unsound. Some of them do business on a large scale and have excellent reputations, but in about five cases out of ten, where similar institutions have failed, the unfortunate ones had good reputations up to the day before the failure was announced.

"Moreover, any bank that is not compelled to take the public into its confidence becomes a menace to the community, and to all the other banks in the community whenever a panic arises with widespread trouble in the financial world.

Unknown Always Terrible.

"The unknown is always terrible. Let us assume a case. Suppose a panic is raging and in the City of Bankville there are two banks, one of which is the Stockmen and Farmers' National Bank, and the other Smith, Jones & Co. The public becomes suspicious of Smith, Jones & Co. and begins a run, forcing that concern to close its doors. The effect of this is to put such a strain upon the Stockmen and Farmers' National Bank that in all probability it also is forced to close. Had Smith, Jones & Co. been compelled to publish a statement, and had the public been satisfied with the nature of their assets, in all probability, notwithstanding the panic, they would have pulled through.

"If we analyze the banking situation in Oregon, without seeking minute accuracy, it will be seen that there were last Summer the following number of banks that were not required by any state or National authority to publish statements:

"One in Astoria, one in Baker City, one in Corvallis, two in Eugene, one in Grant's Pass, one in Roseburg, two in Salem, two in Silverton, one in The Dalles and 20 in other parts of the state.

State Examiner Next.

"I believe that after a law has been passed, forcing publicity upon private banks and state banks in general, the next step should be to give a state examiner or a state bank commissioner some reasonable powers to investigate investments, or to require any impairment of capital, arising therefrom, to be made up within a limited time, either by new cash or by the reduction of the capital stock.

"I think it would not be wise to enact too elaborate a law, but under our present system too much opportunity is afforded for carrying on loose, irregular and unsafe methods of banking in the State of Oregon."

TO TRY CANAL-DIGGERS

cost no more to send such a man to Panama than to print pamphlets denouncing those who criticize the Canal Commission.

"Colon today is mainly a swamp, into which is dumped all the human excrement of the negro population and where this population is compelled to sleep. There is no water in the Canal except the swamp water and what can be collected by the dripping from the roofs of the shanties. The sanitary inspection of Colon is a shame. The negroes are leaving in large numbers, and the legitimate grievance, which is a matter of common knowledge.

"Mr. Taft can hire hundreds of politicians to call me offensive names, but unless he will give a respectable engineer or man of business to endorse the present state of administration on the canal zone, no amount of Government printing will afford him any real comfort."

BIG BLAZE STRIKES PANAMA

Sanitary Employees Accused of Causing It by Carelessness.

PANAMA, Jan. 12.—At about 12:30 P. M. today the biggest fire which has occurred here in three years started on Malambo street, but was practically under control at 2 P. M. after burning two blocks, inhabited by the poorer classes.

There is much indignation against the sanitary department, owing to the fact that, according to current reports, the fire was caused by the carelessness of employees of that department in fumigating the houses where the flames started. The buildings burned include two public schools and an orphan asylum.

GUESTS OF NATION

Chinese Commissioners Come to Study America.

WELCOMED BY PRESIDENT

Professor Jenks Receives Them as Roosevelt's Representative.—Statesmen and Scholars of High Rank in Empire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The steamer Siberia arrived today from the Orient, having on board the Imperial Chinese Commissioners, Tuan Fang and Tai Hong Tsou, with their subordinates and suites, 42 persons in all. The steamer was delayed by adverse weather and did not arrive until late, but the welcome of the distinguished visitors was fully as cordial as had been anticipated.

Will Be Banqueted by Consul.

The Chinese officials were cordially greeted, and after the steamer had passed were landed and escorted to the St. Francis Hotel, where they will remain during their sojourn in this city, the duration of which is indefinite. They will be given a banquet by the Chinese Consul and Vice-Consul tomorrow night, and during their visit will probably meet representatives of the commercial organizations of the city at a reception on the floor of the Chamber of Commerce.

Both of the Commissioners, who are appointed directly by the Emperor, stand high in the estimation of their countrymen and they have expressed themselves as greatly pleased with their reception in America.

Both Men of Distinction.

Tuan Fang is a scholar of recognized standing, an art critic, and a collector, who has the finest collection of Chinese antiquities to be found in the Chinese Empire. He has been Governor of four provinces and a viceroys of two important provinces prior to his present appointment as a Viceroy. While Governor of Shensi province at the time of the Boxer trouble, he gathered all the foreigners in his province and afforded them official protection.

Tai Hong Tsou is one of the great scholars of China. While quite young, he graduated from the Tsinglin College, which is the highest scholarly distinction to be secured in the Chinese Empire. He has been chief examiner in several of the provinces for the civil service. Recently he has filled the position of secretary of the Board of Revenue.

China Will Assert Dignity

Attacks Labor Element for Upholding Exclusion Law.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Dr. Tong, special representative of the Chinese government for the investigation of commerce, declared last night at the Men's League Club dinner that the Chinese boycott of American goods rose from the Chinese exclusion act, and showed that the Chinese people were determined to assert their dignity as a nation. He also assailed the labor element for opposition to a reform of the anti-Chinese laws, and declared that they were kept in force simply because our representatives forced their seats in Congress.

"How much longer," said the American people to allow themselves to be dictated to by the laboring element?" Dr. Tong paid a high tribute to the American missionaries, but said the United States did not always send out the best men.

South Africa Needs More Chinese.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—In an interview published in the Standard this morning, Rev. Joseph C. Harzell, missionary bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in South Africa, who has just returned to London after a year's tour of South Africa, says that an exhaustive study of the Chinese coolie question has convinced him that "China is necessary for the development of that country."

"The Chinese," the bishop says, "are well treated and are well behaved. The cry everywhere on both coasts is for more labor, and without such labor South Africa in its mines and other enterprises could absorb half a million more laborers in the next year."

Chinese Towns Opened to Trade.

Glad Hands Given Each

also handed from the millers' standpoint by M. M. Hausberg Pomeroy, and M. Moriarity, of Reardon, and As everybody on the program seemed to have taken a liking to the departed Red Russian, President Bryan offered a few words of explanation as to why it was so extensively given, touching on its good points as a yielder and a weed-killer. Mr. Reed's address on "Influences Affecting Markets and Prices" was mainly a literal acceptance of which would show that the exporters were exacting from 10 to 15 cents per bushel from the farmers for handling the wheat. He also hinted at short-weight scales, unfair grading and general thievery. All of the exporters in attendance were leaving on the 3:30 train before Mr. Reed concluded, and his assertions were not refuted, although a number of farmers privately expressed surprise that Mr. Reed did not engage in such a highly remunerative business himself. Professor Beach, of the State College, discussed distribution of wheat, and Professor Elliott spoke on the relation between the Government and the farmer. The Washington wheat convention was a grand success in every way, so much so that it has become a fixture, and it was the unanimous sense of the meeting today that another meeting will be held next year. Among the prominent visitors in attendance were: Samuel Glasgow, president of Centennial Milling Company, Spokane; John T. Bibb, manager Tacoma Grain Company; E. P. Noonan, manager Puget Sound Warehouse Company; D. Armstrong, manager Sperry Mill; Tacoma State Grain Inspector, Smith and Deputy King; W. E. Coman, assistant general freight agent, O. R. & N.; Henry Blakeley, general freight agent Northern Pacific; B. S. Grosscup, attorney Northern Pacific; M. M. Hauser, Pomeroy; S. C. Armstrong, Colfax, and a large number of prominent farmers from all parts of the state.

SOUND WISHES JOINT RATE

Complaint Made Against O. R. & N. by Seattle and Tacoma Millers.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—The Railroad Commission issued a statement tonight announcing that complaint had been made to it against the railroad companies concerning a joint rate on wheat from O. R. & N. points to Puget Sound. The origin of the complaint or complaints is not stated, but it became known through other sources here tonight that the millers of Seattle and Tacoma to the number of six had signed a strongly-worded complaint, asking for a joint wheat rate, and that this complaint had been on file here for several days. In addition thereto, it has heretofore been stated on competent authority that a complaint was in course of preparation by shippers in the Palouse country. The Railroad Commission is silent as to the character or the number of the complaints, but the reason for withholding information concerning them is given in the statement as follows:

Owing to the fact that the meeting of the Railroad Commission has been delayed by the sickness of Chairman Fairclough, it is desired that a home in Bellingham, no announcement has heretofore been made of the filing of a complaint against the railways asking for a joint rate on wheat from O. R. & N. points in Eastern Washington. Definite information concerning complaints of this character will not be given out until after the meeting of the Commission to be held early next week. The statement concludes with the announcement that a complaint has been filed.

Complaint from Western shippers of wheat was wholly unexpected, and it is believed that the Commission very much by surprise. It has been anticipated that the hearing on this, the mainpring of the Railroad Commission legislation, would be held in Eastern Washington. The law requires that the hearing should be held in the county where the complaint originates. It is believed the Commission will choose Eastern Washington for the hearing in the Palouse district, and Vice-Consul tomorrow night, and during their visit will probably meet representatives of the commercial organizations of the city at a reception on the floor of the Chamber of Commerce.

Complaint on Wheat Rate.

TACOMA, Jan. 12.—An Olympia special to the Tacoma Record says that the Tacoma millers have joined in a complaint to the Railroad Commission concerning the refusal of the railroad companies to establish a joint rate on wheat from the Palouse district of Eastern Washington to Puget Sound, and interested shippers in the Palouse country have also been preparing a similar complaint for filing here. The Railroad Commission says reliable information concerning complaints of this character will not be given out until after the meeting of the Commission to be held early next week.

Puts Weaver Out of It

Republican Party in Hands of Reorganizers, but Senator Will Dictate Next Governor.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—The regular Republicans of Philadelphia held a convention tonight. Tonight the 43 ward committees met for their annual organization and each chose a man to represent it in the Republican city committee.

Penrose Has Majority of Philadelphia Delegates.

In many of the wards Republicans were prominent in the reform movement, and were enlisted in the fight, with the result that the "reorganizers" are now in control and the old city organization, of which Israel W. Durham was the leader, is practically out of existence. The city committee men selected tonight will meet next Monday, name a new city chairman and otherwise organize the committee. The old committee was led by Durham for ten years.

Of equal importance with the fight for control of the city committee was the fight for the nomination of a representative of Philadelphia in the state committee, which meets in Harrisburg on June 12. This committee will select candidates for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs and Auditor-General.

Of the 114 delegates elected it is claimed that United States Senator Penrose and the statement has been made that the delegation from Philadelphia will support his candidacy. The surprising result of today's convention, it is stated, means that Weaver is eliminated from consideration. Durham and other friends of Senator Penrose claim that with Weaver out of the contest for Governorship the Philadelphia delegation will without doubt be unanimous for the candidate Penrose will favor.

On the other hand, those opposed to Senator Penrose and the State Republican organization claim the delegation elected today will be against all nominees favored by Penrose and his friends.
