INJUNCTION SUIT ON TRIAL

Claimed That Noise Interferes With Use of Sample-Rooms by Commercial Travelers—Defense Strikes Back.

The question whether the Apollo Skating Rink, in the third floor of the Merrill building at the corner of Seventh and Oak streets, disturbs the commercial travelers of the Oregon Hotel, who use the second floor as a sample room, was argued before Judge Frazer yesterday.

Arthur Langcutt, attorney for the Apollo Skating Rink Company, read an affidavit signed by him, stating that the company has paid $1000 advance rent, has expended $1200 for skates and is enjoying a large, select patronage.
