Secretary Tells House Committee Bill to Reform Consular Service Is Necessary—Remedy for Chinese Boycott.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Root, while appearing before the House appropriations committee in relation to the expenditure of the State Department, spoke frankly concerning the shortcomings of the American Consular Service.

There are a great many consulates that have been in inefficient condition, and there are some that are still in that condition, and the fact arises from several causes.

Custom Is to Blame. Mr. Brundage—I quite agree with you, Mr. Secretary, as to the blame for that condition?

Secretary Root—It rests upon a long-standing custom, whereby the executive is expected to appoint to important consular positions men from the different states.

Teeth Drawn From Bill. Take this consular bill which is now pending. When it was introduced it contained a series of provisions under which the consulates were to be graded.

Approaching end of the active work of the consular bureau was pointed out in Mr. Root's statement about the expenditures for its maintenance.

Trouble With China. There is no occasion for sending a commission to China. Our Ministers and Consuls at the treaty ports of China are commissioned now.

At the conclusion of the benediction, Mr. Morrison asked that the congregation remain standing in their pews while the casket was borne from the church.

At the cemetery, only the pallbearers and members of the family were present. The management of the cemetery, in order to avoid the crowding of the grounds, had given notice that during the afternoon no one would be permitted to enter the grounds.

Never before in the history of Chicago has such respect been presented to the memory of a private citizen as was shown today to that of Mr. Field.

CLAIM TO IMMUNITY

Beef Trust Lawyers Turn Guns on Garfield. Allege That He Agreed to Consider Evidence Gained From Books as Given at Hearing—Garfield Holds His Fire.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Attorneys for the packers arranged the Government today sharply for the policy they declared they had, through Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, pursued in the investigation of the charges made against the packers.

Mr. Miller contended that under proper construction of the law there could be no doubt that the packers were entitled to immunity, because of their action in turning over to the Commissioner all the information which he sought.

Mr. Garfield would make no comment on the remarks of Mr. Miller, declaring that he might be a witness in the case later on and that it would not be proper for him to discuss the case before he was called to the stand.

Mr. Miller was followed by George W. Brown, also for the packers, who, in opening, referred to the magnitude of the business done by the packers, and entered upon a description of the business of the packers and of the stockyards.
