voluntarily he has not had time to examine them fully. He and his associates believe there were some points in the case overlooked by the Supreme Court in the decision rendered some time ago, and it was for the purpose of examining into these questions that Mr. Paxton desired an extension of time for filing the petition for rehearing.

The time for filing the petition will expire February 1. In the petition, when filed, the attorneys must set forth the reasons which they believe to exist why the Supreme Court should grant a rehearing of the case upon its merits. The Supreme Court will pass upon the request for an extension of time in a few days.

Greuous Find Is Made by Shipwrecked Sailors of King David.

GIRL PLANNED ELOPEMENT

RUNAWAYS FROM CALIFORNIA CAPTURED AT ROSEBURG.

J. E. Langley, Aged 47, Was the Companion of Clara Mase, a Forward Miss of 14 Years.

ROSEBURG, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—

With 14-year-old Clara Mase, Jesse L. Langley, aged 47, was arrested on a train from the south last night, and held here. Instructions had been wired from Martinez, Cal. Langley is charged with felony.

Langley and the girl eloped from Martinez Friday, and walked 15 miles through the rain and mud from Antioch to Brentwood, where they arrived early the next morning, passing themselves off there as husband and wife. Close behind them pursued angry relatives and officers of the law, but the pair had obtained a good start, and the authorities were unable to apprehend them before they crossed the Oregon border.

Langley is a prominent member of the Methodist Church at Martinez, of which church the girl is also a member. He is a prosperous contractor, and was engaged in building an opera-house at Antioch, Cal. From letters found upon him it is apparent the girl made the arrangements for the elopement. James Duffy, who accompanied her on a previous escapade about a month ago, is now serving a term at San Quentin.

ANTIOCH, Cal., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—

The trouble is grave for J. E. Langley, who eloped with Clara Mase, the 14-year-old girl, from here Friday. The mother of the girl went to Martinez this morning and swore to a warrant for Langley's arrest on very serious charges. Constable Wheelan, of Antioch, will leave here Tuesday to bring the couple now detained at Roseburg, Or., to this city. The parents of the girl say they will never consent to her marriage to Langley.

A few months ago the Mase girl figured in an episode similar to the present one. James Duffy, her companion at that time, is now serving a 7-year sentence. The girl has never gotten on with her parents, and is said to have talked of suicide.

PILGRIMS DO NOT TIRE

ENJOY VISIT TO HOME OF FAMOUS FLOWER-PAINTER.

At Venice a Band Meets the Bearers and Speeches Follow a Luncheon.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—

Although they have been on the road over a week, the members of the Oregon Development League party show no signs of fatigue as yet and today enjoyed another long trip traveling from this city to Ocean Park, Venice and Playa del Rey. On the way a stop was made at the home of Paul and Emma, the famous California flower painter. This had permitted the Oregonians to have free access to his residence and studio and added to the pleasure of the guests by accompanying them on the remainder of their journey.

At Ocean Park a short stay was made for the party to visit the beach and at Venice the special cars were met by a band and the excursionists escorted to the Auditorium. A luncheon was served, speeches heard and a special concert given in their honor by Eleri's Italian band. C. H. Brown welcomed the Bearers and his speech to them was seconded by Mayor Dan Burke of Ocean Park.

H. Dorcas Patton delivered the principal address for the Californians. Governor Chamberlain responded in a happy vein, as did Tom Richardson and H. M. Calk. A. W. Skinner, of the reception committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly, followed by Walter Wheat, of Ocean Park.

Later a display of daylight fireworks was enjoyed and the visitors were introduced to many attractions formerly on the Trail at the Lewis and Clark Fair. A luncheon has been arranged for the Oregonians at the Hotel Green at Pasadena for tomorrow, when they will also take in San Gabriel and other points.

Most mills on the river will soon run two shifts a day in consequence.

CHANGE FOR FRESCO

California Town Is Anxious to Enter Baseball League.

SEASON TO BE SHORTER

Clubs From the Pacific Coast Will Be Well Represented in What Promises to Be Long Session at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Tomorrow morning the most important meeting ever held by the officials of the Pacific Coast League will take place in the offices of President Bert, in this city. There is sure to be a long session and it will probably be several days before everything is taken up and considered and finally decided upon. Almost every club in the league has a bone to pick and it will be a case of give and take on all sides if absolute harmony is desired. As the northern directors are anxious to get away as speedily as possible, there will no doubt be both day and night sessions held.

Jim Morley, who will represent Los Angeles, is already on the ground, and also are Judge McCredie, who will look after Portland's interests, and Mike Fisher, the homeless magnate. Cal Ewing will represent Oakland, while Cluett and Bert will attend to San Francisco's business.

Jim Agnew and Russ Hall are now speeding toward San Francisco to see that Seattle gets a square deal and Schrader, one of the Tacoma's club officials, has telegraphed that he will be on hand. Just what the latter has in mind nobody seems to know. Whether he wants the franchise to be given again to Tacoma or a new one to spring on the directors even Mike Fisher does not know, so until he reaches the scene the object of his coming will be simply a matter of conjecture.

Fresno will make a strong bid for a franchise and will come up with sufficient financial support to back up its application. It also trimmed down the Hanlon will endeavor to get Sacramento in the league once more. In a day or so this much-mooted question will be solved, but it surely looks like Fresno at the present writing.

Two important changes that will positively be made, however, are the shortening of the playing season and the reduction in the price of admission, which will be placed at the old figure of 25 cents. The 25-cent basis was an absolute failure, while the expense of running a club as late in the year as December to empty benches was too costly an experiment to be trifled with any more. Almost every manager is heartily in favor of these two changes.

The point that will cause a great deal of discussion and will only be decided after much oratory, is the division of the gate receipts. The smaller towns are going to make a strenuous kick on the present division, in the price of admission, the gate receipts, Oakland will back up the northern towns in this important matter. By the present arrangement the visiting club gets only 20 per cent of the gate receipts, the home club retaining the remainder and paying 10 per cent to enable the traveling clubs to break even on the road and there will be less grumbling by all concerned when the expense run high on a big jump. It would not be surprising to see Seattle drop out if they do not carry this point.

Ewing also is in favor of dropping the clubs on the northern circuit, and while Morley is noncommittal on the subject, he is taking pains to retain them.

Another question which will come before the meeting is the placing of a limit on the salary of the players. The northern clubs are strongly in favor of establishing a salary limit.

FATAL DUET WITH COUGAR

LANE COUNTY HUNTER KILLED BY HIS OWN RIFLE.

Clubb'd With Weapon When the Wounded Beast Closed In for the Death Struggle.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—John R. Goldson, a well-known saw-mill man who resides 20 miles west of Eugene, met death yesterday in a desperate fight with a large cougar, an accidental shot from his own rifle.

Goldson was out with a number of other men, a cougar hunt. The men separated and worked in different directions. After a time shots were heard in the direction Goldson had taken, and also calls for help. His companions went to the place as quickly as possible and found Goldson dead upon the ground and a wounded cougar crouching in a thicket of brush near by. A bullet hole in Goldson's breast showed that he had died from a shot from his own rifle.

From the appearance of the surroundings it was clearly seen what had happened. Goldson had come upon the cougar and shot it, but did not hit a vital spot. The cougar then made for its assailant, who dispatched several more bullets at it, some of them wounding the animal. The hunter had supposed he had fired the last load from his gun when the cougar came upon him and it was then a hand-to-hand struggle.

Goldson used his rifle as a club and the tooth prints of the cougar are in the stock. They evidently fought this way until the cougar broke through the trigger which was pulled and a cartridge was discharged while the man was striking with the gun as a club. The shot penetrated the breast and caused death almost instantly.

Goldson was about 40 years old and leaves a wife and one child.

TIDELANDS ARE IN DISPUTE

NEW YORKERS AFTER VALUABLE HOLDINGS AT SEATTLE.

Halfbreed Sioux Is Said to Have Filed Upon It Many Years Ago.

SEATTLE, Jan. 22.—A combination of Seattle and New York men has been formed for the express purpose of obtaining 300 acres of the most valuable tidelands in Seattle under private ownership.

They were filed in the King County Auditor's office October 8, 1889. The property in question was filed upon by one Louis Longbe, a halfbreed Sioux Indian, at that time. He held land scrip given him by the Government in exchange for his holdings near Lake Pepin, Minn. He in turn sold this property to the late W. C. Hill, of this city, and the late P. T. Barlow, of New York. No mention of the latter-name'd persons has been made in any subsequent abstract.

The heirs of the Hill and Barlow estates are said to be implacable in the effort that is to be made to recover. The land in question has been bought by the transcontinental railroads and is crossed and recrossed with bands of steel.

ELECTRIC LINE TO SEASIDE

Surveys Have Been Completed and Work Is Soon to Begin.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—W. L. Dudley, the promoter of the proposed electric line between this city and Seaside, was here today and says the preliminary work is progressing satisfactorily, and that the building of the line is assured. Negotiations are in progress to have the line connect with the local street-car system, but the new company will own its own power plant, which will be located in Astoria and will supply the power for the entire road.

The line will enter the city near the mouth of Youngs River, and will come over the hill, thus traversing quite a tract of residence property that is now without proper transportation facilities. Leaving the city, the road will cross on a new bridge to be built about 500 feet south of the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad bridge, and keeping to the south Warrenton will run direct to Morrison station, from where it will turn to the east of the sand ridge along the beach and thence to Gearhart and Seaside.

The length of the road will be 15.5 miles, whereas the distance between the two points by railroad is 18.3 miles. Mr. Dudley says all the preliminary surveys have been completed, and the work of construction will be commenced within 30 days. Regarding the construction of the bridge, he says the plans have been submitted to and approved by the United States engineers, with no difficulty anticipated in that regard.
