Portland High School Alumni Drop Subject.

LARGE GATHERING HELD

Former Students of Institution Ask That a Clock Replace the Dummy in the Tower of the Building.

Members of nearly every class which has completed the course at the Portland High School were drawn to the meeting of the Alumni Association last night by the prospect of an effort being made to the indorsement of the organization for some of its members who have signified their intention of becoming candidates for county and state offices. It was the largest meeting of the alumni ever held, but those who expected to wit-ness a political skirmish were disappointed, for no reference was made to the matter during the session.

the meeting, however, the sub-Before the meeting, however, the subject was thoroughly discussed and the corridors of the High School reaembled a political caucus. Those who wanted the body to indorse its members who have political aspirations were very busy agitating the matter beforehand, but the sentiment of the majority was that the association should not dable in political sentiment of the majority was that the association should not dabble in politics, and, as it was a foregone conclusion that no resolution of this character would carry, the subject was not introduced after the meeting was called to order. There is one branch of politics that the alumni will enter, in all probability, and that is the election of School Directors. Jay Upton and Dr. F. H. Dammasch both spoke in favor of including that among the interests which are given attention by the organization, and the general sentiment was in favor of this policy.

Plans were laid at the meeting for a reunion of all members of the High School union of all members of the High School Alumni, to take place Pebruary 22. Dr.

Dammasch, chairman of the executive committee, will select seven members to make all the necessary arrangements. It is hoped to make the gathering the most enthusiastic session of the association over hold. A westrayme of addresses by ever held. A programme of addresses by prominent men and numbers by leading musicians of the city will be followed by social and banquet.

a social and banquet. ,

The Alumni Association is of the opinion that the dummy clock which has occupied the tower of the High School since the building was erected should be re-placed by a genuine timeplece. The fol-lowing resolutions, introduced by Willis Duniway, were unanimously adopted:
"Whereas. The dummy clock in the tower of the Portland High School is not at all in keeping with the spirit of enter-prise that characterizes the Lewis and Clark city; therefore be it

Fund Will Be Used to Aid the Nationalists in the Present Elections

A circular telegram appealing for funds to aid the Nationalists in their struggle in Ireland for a home-rule government has been sent out to the principal cities of the United States by the National executive committee of the United Irish League of the United States and Canada The home-rulers are now in the middle of a fierce election, and are confronted with a campaign fund of $4,000,000 to be used by the opponents of home rule to crush the Nationalists; but in spite of the enormous difficulties the latter are laboring under they are likely to increase their representation in the next Parliament by several additional seats if they continue to make inroads into their opponents' camp, which they have been dong steadily since the beginning of the present election.

At present, it looks as if the Nationalists would have 75 uncontested seats at an estimated cost of $22,500, and 15 con tested elections, at an estimated cost of $37,500, making a total expense of the entire campaign approximately $60,000. To meet this, the call for aid has been issued in this country, with instructions to wire the fund collected to National Treasurer T. B. Fitzpatrick, at Boston, Mass., to forward by cable to Ireland at once. In a few hours after the telegram was received in Portland the following contributions were handed in, which will be wired to Boston Saturday morning;

WITH A HISTORY Suggestion That They Be Placed

Near Soldier's Monument. PORTLAND. Jan. 28.—(To the Editor.)—Passing through the Plaza blocks today I noticed that the Soldiers Monument is rapidly being completed. In this connection kindly permit me to call the attention of the com-mittee in charge to two howitzers and amnunition I brought from Charleston, S. C., to position, have a most unique and interesting history, and would not only be an ornament, but enhance the appearance of the monument if placed there.

During the Christmas holidays, 1901, while charge of Oregon's exhibits at the Charles in Exposition, a party of officers came there is the purpose of inspecting the coast deses then being constructed, including the covation of historic old Fort Sumter, which demanded practically in its demolished addition since the Civil War. I was personally acquainted with several of these learns of the several of the se had remained practically in its demolished condition since the Civil War. I was per-sonally acquainted with several of these officers, especially one, who had served with and availed myself of their kind invitation to visit Fort Sumter with them.

On arrival and while these officers attended to their duties. I was placed in charge of an old Sergeant, to show me all the points of interest. Fortunately for me, he proved not only a very agreeable guide, but had been stationed at Sumter during its bombardment and again after peace was restored, and knew the history of everything in and about the

After visiting and exploring the casemates, bomb-proof powder magazines and under-ground quarters and tunnels, now disused, we climbed down the outer walls to look for relics. We were favored by an extreme low tide, enabling us to go some 20 to 30 feet from the wais. Ordinarily the water is too high to permit this. On our search I came across what appeared to be the muzzle of an iron cannon sticking about 12 inches out of the sand, and upon inquiry my guide gave me the following history:

This was a howitzer, and there is another one several feet under the sand, and this one will be, too, before long," be said.
"Any history connected with them?" I asked.

"Well, yes. There was a battery of how iters on the second story of this fort-now destroyed as you me, and they were used in the defense of Fort Sumter by Major Ander-son during the bombardment on April 12 and 13, 1861. After the surrender of the fort the Comfederates mounted them on barges and they were used for defense of the harbor for some two years, when they were recaptured by th Federal forces and brought here again. Heigg obsolete and of little value, they were condemned with many others and thrown over the ramparis where they have dain ever Groping our way along the narrow ledge outside, to the east side of the fort, from where the heaviest bombardment was, and poking among the rocks I found three unexploded shells, one shrapnet, one spherical and one round. On returning into the fort I saw a solid sing-shot on a shelf which has a his-tory of its own. This sing was fired by the Confederates from Fort Sumter when Com-Confederates from Fort Sumter when Com-modore Parragut attacked it. When his flag-ship, the Keokuk, was broken up years after-wards, this sing was found embedded in one of the ship's knees.

It occurred to me then to secure these howitzers and shells for our soldiers' monu-ment. With the kind assistance of Colonal Morris, Commandant, the howitzers were dug up, and together with the shells and storup, and, together with the shells and slug were delivered to me at our exhibits, and at the close of the exposition we leaded them on our cars and brought them here. As these howitzers have been used by both the blue and gray, both having lost and won them, no sectional feeling could possibly arise, and I know of no more fitting place than the soldiers' monument, and would suggest to the committee that one be placed on the south and one on the north side of the monument. finned on either side by a shell.

It is to be hoped that these relics may be given the place for which they were originally intended.

PRACTICAL TALK IS GIVEN ON CARE OF CHILDREN.

Dr. Gertrude French Delivers Lecture on Care of Nose and Throat.

At the meeting of the Mothers and = Teachers' Club of the Brooklyn School yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Thomas school, and we respectfully request the Board of Directors of School District No. I to act in accordance with these resolutions at an early date."

The association is considering the offering of medals and cups for forensic and athletic contests in which students of the athletic contests in which students of the ceived from the philanthropic and visiting committees, and other business was transacted. The feature of the meeting was the practical lecture by Dr. Gertrude French, on "The Care of the Nose and Throat," couched in such clear and simple language as to be ceived from the philanthropic and visiting committees, and other business was transacted. The feature of the meeting was the practical lecture by Dr. Gertrude French, on "The Care of the Nose and Throat," couched in such clear and simple language as to be Luke, presiding, reports were re-ceived from the philanthropic and visunderstood by the audience of mothers. It was the message of warning from a physician on the common and vet serious ailments of children to the yet serious aliments of calidren to the mothers, and on a subject about which there is much ignorance. Dr. French spoke at length about the disease of the nose and the necessity of the child breath-ing properly. After describing the aliof the nostrils, Dr. French said:

The remedy for these difficulties is almost without exception surgical, sup-SYMPATHIZERS WITH IRELAND plemented when needed by proper local and constitutional treatment. the word operation strikes terror ost hearts, but in these days of magnificent surgical results the is diminishing and surgery in these fields, if attended with necessary pre-cautions, is almost without danger, and furthermore, causes but little pain

Continuing, Dr. French said: "It is marvelous the way thin, punny chil-dren gain after the operation, and they have a chance to breathe and sleep. Whether an anesthetic is necessary or not, depends upon the parents, the child and the existing conditions, but let me beg of you never to refuse the operation when advised of its necessity by a competent physician.

Dr. French followed with explana-tion of the causes of these troubles, and said that children constantly taking colds should be taken to a doctor, "for they are either in need of medicine, or the mother is in need of instruction in regard to the care and clothing of

"I wish to ask each and all of you to use your influence in stopping a common practice of frightening children by threatening them with the doctor. They should be trained to think the doctor is a good friend of theirs. Many times the child is so afraid of the doctor that he cannot obtain accurate information of the patient's condition, because he cannot properly examine him, and in some instances not even get near him. Also on account of the child's terror his condition is worse at the time and sometimes is actually made worse."

The lecture by Dr. French was listented the condition by the condition by the condition of the Following came a short address by Mrs. Blumauer, of the Portland Jewish Council, who complimented the Brooklyn Mothers' and Teachers' Club for what it had accomplished in the neigh-borhood, and called it the model organization for the general upbuilding and betierment of the community. The resolutions passed by the Women's Club, held Friday, November 10, 1935, commending the work of Mrs. Sarah Evans, market inspector, and demanding that the Portland markets shall be clean and wholesome, were indorsed. A committee consisting of Mesdame Buchannan, Wells and Mrs. A. L. Dimick. was appointed to ascertain the cost of a large clock for the assembly hall, which has been needed for some time. Mrs. Blumauer and several other women present from the Jewish Council were the guests of the club. Following-the programme light refreshments were served. The visitors were present largely to study the methods that have made the Brooklyn Teachers' and Mothers' Club the most successful school organization of the sort in the city, and which is the permanent result of Superintendent Righer's lectures to Portland mothers two years ago, and also the work of Miss A.
