LIQUOR ORDINANCE FAILS TO PARE-The St. Johns liquor license ordinance prob-ably received its deathblow in the Council meeting last night. After fillbustering for some time on the part of Councilman Shields, the Council began to vote on the questions leading up to the final passage. The City Attorney reported that it could not be amended as proposed, and the re-port was accepted on a tie vote, the Mayor yoting with the affirmative. When it came to final passage it was found that it could not pass without a majority of the whole vote, and Councilman Edwards being absent, the ordinance could not be acted upon. This action, it is thought, means the death of the ordinance. At this meeting it was reported that M. L. Holbrook had purchased the Olhouse property for the city for $2500, to hold in ironst for the city. He filed a bond in the sum of $7000 to turn the property over to the city on its paying him $1500 April. 1866, and $2000 April, 1967. The bond was accepted and ordered recorded. A con-tract was made with the Portland General Electric Company to furnish eight are lights for two years for 5.30 each. The contract was executed, and the lights will be placed as the Council directs by the first of March. The ferry-owners were given permission to charge 10 cents for passengers who want to make special

FOR CO-OPERATIVE BUTING .- J. J. John n. master of Evening Star Grange, No. Patrons of Husbandry, has appointed the following committee on co-operative buying, or buying household goods by the bulk: Warren S. White, C. H. Welch, E. N. Emery, E. J. Spooner and I. D. Spooner. In his annual report, Mr. Johnson strongly recommended that the white of commended that the subject of co-operative buying by farm-ers be investigated, as it promised to re-duce the cost of living materially to those who bought in bulk, rather than in small lots. Since then the subject has attracted wide attention among farmers. Mr. Johnson has received letters from dif-ferent portions of the state, and he re-ceived an invitation to address the Rock-wood Grange on the principles involved wood Grange on the principles involved in the plan and how to carry them out. He expects to do so in March. In the East it is found that co-operative buying is carried out successfully, and this com-mittee will open up correspondence with those who are informed about the working of the plan. Data and statistics will be gathered bearing on the subject.

WANTS TO BE COMMISSIONER.-David O. Fisher, a resident farmer of Columbia Fisher, a resident farmer of Columbia Siough, wants to be County Commissioner, on the Republican ticket. He is the son of a pioneer. The farmers east of the city are discussing the nomination ing and supporting somebody from the county' for County Commissioner. "The county district," said C. Milen, "is entitled to a County Commissioner, and we should melect a suitable man and support him for the nomination." E N Emery, of Russellville, is emphatic in the opinion that the County Commissioner, sioner should come from the country. The names of B. Reynolds, of Columbia Stough, and J. Shattuck, of Gresham, are mentioned W B. Steel of the Section the option that the County Commis-sioner should come from the country. The names of B. Reynolds, of Columbia Slough and J. Sinstuck, of Gresham, are mentioned. W. B. Steel, of the Section Line road, who served one term, is said now to be a condidate Slough, and J. Shattuck, of Gresham, are mentioned. W. B. Steel, of the Section Line road, who served one term, is said now to be a candidate. Mr. Schenck Chorus of Minnesingers, Pilgrims, Ladies and Attendants, STNOPSIS OF SCENES.

Act 1.-Boene I. Interior of the Hoerselberg, near Eisenbach. Some 2. A valley before the Wartburg (Spring). Act II .- The Wartburg. Act III .- Valley before the Wartbufr (Autump).

THE Marquam Grand Theater last evening was filled with vanity, perfume and music. The ingredients are named in proper order according to their quantities. I do not approach this subject with gloves or superciliousness-merely with truth. The highest achievement of criticism is to give the reader impressions and emotions similar to those inspired by the object criticized itself. Now, the art work just night-a performance of Wagner's "Tannhauser" by the Savage opera company-was only a part of the momentous happening at the the ater. The composition, and frame of mind, of the audience, coupled with the fact that this is the first important appearance of grand opera in town for many years-and, indeed, a type of performance in English that will have some longevity -make it imperative that a faithful idea of the event be set down. Portland ought to take a look at itself in review regarding its attitude toward this affair fits air of fashionable patronage, as it were), as well' as read some one else's estimate of the company and production for the comfort and satisfaction of disagreeing with the screed. Above all other operas of any school period or language, it is impossible to turn Wagner's masterpiece, "Tannhauser" into English and preserve entirely the beauties and effects of the original, Wagner is the only real and successful opera-drama maker the world has been oppressed with. He was a ponderous artistic pill to take, but finally cultured humanity swallowed and assimilated him. 1 am not at all barren of Wagnerian results. The germs of his wonderful variety have fructified bountifully in my artistic conception, even if I do confems to a lingering constancy to Verdi, Meyerbeer, Donnizetti and the lyric old ones that went before the musical flood. I have on earth, the "Evening Star" song in the last act. Great lavishness has been shown in the details as to contumes and scenery. The artists appearing in the first opera prenented are far above par, but, as I have already said. Miss Rennyson was the only person of the number who can at present put forth claims to greatness. A. H. BALLARD.

PATRONS OF GRAND OPERA List of Those Who Are Attending the Performances.

It is doubtful if there has ever been in the past so great a demand for seals at any musical or theatrical engagement in Portland as greeted the management of the Marquam Grand Theater in its presen-tation of the Savage Grand Opera Com-pany, which gave the first of its five per-formances in this city last night. Before the box office opened, nearly all of the desirable seats for the four operas first announced were exhausted, and the com-pany added the Tuesday afternoon mati-nee. The orders which came to Manager Pan-

The orders which came to Manager Pan-gie in a regular flood through the mails represented nearly every portion of the state. Portlanders, of course, secured the bulk of the tickets, but many orders were filled for citizens in Oregon City, Van-couver and nearly all of the larger Ore-gon cities. Almost as many mail orders were returned after the stats were all taken as were filled. Following is a practically complete list of the subscribers by mail to the grand opera season, many of them holding sea-son tickets:

We could not expect artists of the highest class among the principals, and I should say that, with perhaps the excep-tion of Miss Gentrude Rennyson, the "Elizabeth," we were not accorded those at the zenith of operatic achievement. Miss Rennyson was the greatest artist Miss Rennyson was the greatest artist Miss Rennyson was the greatest artist. Miss Remyson was the greatest artist in the cast. She has a pure soprano of bell-like timbre and agreeable figures, and she adds to this remarkable powers as an actress. Some magnetism is also to be felt in her spiritual aura. Note-worthy work her timbre to to be felt in her spiritual aura. Note-worthy were her rises to climaxes when they came (she was great in the second act, carrying portions of it alone), and she put real adoration and pathos into her prayer to the Virgin before the shrine in the last act. Miss Rita Newman was acceptable as "Venus." She mars a fine contraito by unsteadiness, and allows a tremolo to interfere with the otherwise favorable impression she creates. Francis Maclennan took brave hold of "Tann-hauser." a part that even Jean de Reske did not want to tackle, and made every-thing in his power out of the most diff-The search of the search of the

"If I am nominated and elected, I will during my term of office perform my dutice as a public official in a careful and businesslike way, as I have endeav-ored to de in the past." This declaration appears in the petition filed yesterday by Tom M. Word for nom-ination for the office of Sheriff on the Democratic ticket. The petition further states that the following words shall be printed after his name on the ballot: "Try to do better than I have done in the past."

the past." Sheriff Word is the first Democrat to file a petition for a nomination County Cierk's office this year.

Resolutions Against Vice.

The following resolutions have been sent to Mayor Lane by the Home Training Association:

sociation: Whereas. We recognize that there are many pitfalls and dangerous places where young boys and girls are lured to their ruin; and. Whereas, We realize the insufficiency of the training in many homes to protect girls and boys from the snares set for their de-struction; therefore, be it Resolved. That we most heartily com-mend Mayor Lane for his efforts to eliminate
