

FINDS WRECK UNAVOIDABLE

Verdict of Coroner's Jury Over Disaster at Bridal Veil Is Returned.

WITNESSES OF COLLISION

Their Testimony Is Given to Prove That the Accident Was Not Due to Negligence of Train Crews.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

That John M. Frost, George W. Buchanan, Andrew Edwards and E. L. Sinnott came to their death at Bridal Veil, Multnomah county, Or., about 7:30 A. M., from various injuries sustained in an unavoidable collision between trains No. 5 and No. 3 of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company. The coroner's jury rendering the foregoing verdict comprised W. H. Higgins, C. S. Sever, A. B. Stuart, A. L. Barber, J. H. McBride and H. A. Cotter.

Death called another victim of Tuesday's railroad accident at Bridal Veil, when Mrs. Nellie Riley, of Walla Walla, died at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday morning from the effects of injuries sustained in the trainwreck, resulting from a rear-end collision between trains No. 3 and No. 5 of the O. R. & N. Company. Mrs. Riley was 23 years of age and was so severely mangled in the wreck that it was found necessary to amputate one of her arms at the scene of the collision, after which she was taken to this city. At the hospital the injured woman steadily weakened until 6 o'clock yesterday morning, when death ended her sufferings. She was well known in Portland and in Walla Walla, and is survived by three sons and a daughter, all of whom were in Portland yesterday. They took the remains of their parent back to Walla Walla for burial.

Five Victims of Wreck.

The death of Mrs. Riley swells the number of victims of the wreck to five, the others being George W. Buchanan, E. L. Sinnott, John M. Frost and Andrew Edwards.

Coroner Finley held an inquest into the causes of the accident yesterday morning, and after hearing the evidence introduced by the trainmen in charge of both the "Spokane Flyer" and the "Chicago-Portland Special," the jury returned a verdict of unavoidable accident.

The principal feature of the inquest was the graphic description of the happenings on engine No. 38, hauling the "Chicago-Portland Special" previous to the collision by Fireman Louis Morgan, of the ill-fated locomotive.

According to the testimony at the inquest, both Fireman Morgan and Engineer Swayne played the parts of heroes in the effort to bring their engine to a stop before reaching the station at Bridal Veil.

Conductor Glendenning a Witness.

The first witness was Conductor W. R. Glendenning of No. 3, who told of the arrival of his train at Bridal Veil and of having received orders to wait there until No. 2 arrived from the west, where they were engaged in clearing the tracks of a freight wreck between Troutdale and Hood River. The first notice they had received of trouble ahead was at The Dalles, where they were notified to await orders at Bridal Veil before proceeding to Portland. This same order was also given to No. 5. Glendenning also testified to having sent his flagman back as a matter of precaution, and added for the benefit of Deputy District Attorney Adams, that 10,000 flagmen could not have stopped No. 5 under the circumstances.

Mrs. Nellie Riley, of Walla Walla, who died yesterday as result of injuries received in Bridal Veil wreck.

Drakeman C. C. Lord told of having been sent back to protect his train by Conductor Glendenning upon their arrival at Bridal Veil, and finding that they would be held there indefinitely.

Fireman Morgan's Testimony.

Fireman Louis Morgan of engine 38, hauling train No. 5, was the next witness called. "We received notification of trouble ahead at The Dalles, and on reaching Bonneville, were notified to look out for Number 3 at Bridal Veil, as they were stalled there awaiting the coming of a wrecking train which was clearing the tracks somewhere west of that station," said he. "When we were somewhere about three miles from Bridal Veil, something broke in the cab, which immediately filled the cab with hot steam, driving the engineer and myself from the cab. I climbed back over the tender and then made an effort to get over the roof of the cab with the intention of stopping the train by reaching in on the engineer's side and throwing the lever. We were traveling about 30 miles an hour when the pipe broke, which, of course, was increased to an extent with no one at the controller. My face and arms were scalded some, and the effort to climb over the roof was exceedingly difficult, for there are no handholds on the top of the cab. When I gained the running board and reached through to the engineer's window and threw back the lever, we were almost in the Bridal Veil yards. I tried to get the air clock, but the scalding steam drove me back, and then I noticed that a collision was inevitable, and prepared to jump.

Felt Shock of Air Brakes.

"Before doing so I felt a distinct shock denoting the sudden application of the brakes, and then I knew that someone had cut the air connection or used the conductor's emergency brake, and I jumped from the engine.

Morgan was asked if he saw the engineer after the breaking of the steam pipe, to which he replied that he had felt him on the tender, and believed that Swayne had attempted to get back into the cab, under the impression that it was a water glass that had broken, which explains the serious burns sustained by the driver, Brakeman Smith of No. 5 told of having pulled the emergency brake on passing the section house in the yard that broke, and stated that the first intimation he had of there being any danger, for the train was not going above ordinary speed previous to entering the yard.

Other Witnesses Testify.

J. R. Graham, Superintendent of the motive power, explained the location of the pipe that broke, and stated that he had never heard of a similar occurrence in his 30 years' experience at railroad.

Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie told of the wounds which resulted in the death of four men, which concluded the examination of witnesses, and the jury went into session to consider the evidence, and in a short time returned the verdict.

Plans to Irrigate Big District.

E. H. Libby, president of the Lewiston-Clarkston Company, is now a guest at the Hotel Portland for a few days. Mr. Libby recently returned from the East, and during his recent trip he credited with having strengthened his company by nearly a million dollars for further extensive development operations in the Lewiston-Clarkston country.

The company is now building a 14-mile water pipe to water 30,000 acres of land, which will give it the most perfect irrigation system on the coast outside of California. The pipe will have an interior diameter of four feet, and besides being used for irrigation and the furnishing of power, will supply Clarkston with pressure water service.

This particular project will be completed within the year. All of the land to be irrigated is within six miles of Clarkston.

HAS FIT CASES ON THE DOCKET

Judge Cameron Holds Longest Session in History of the Municipal Court.

W. S. EGAN IS DISMISSED

He Proves That Miss Petra Christopherson Was Mistaken When She Accused Him of Attacking Her.

LONGEST SESSION OF MUNICIPAL COURT.

Judge Cameron yesterday held the longest session in the history of the Municipal Court, which convened at 9 A. M. and adjourned at 4:50 P. M., with but 15 minutes' intermission.

There were just 50 cases on the docket, and the majority of them were given final disposition, while a number were continued.

To add to the Judge's stuporous day, some unknown mother-in-law called him up by telephone before breakfast and upbraided him for his scathing remarks about them.

"How dare you include all mothers-in-law in your remarks!" she demanded.

"Never mind, explanations," she hastily replied, before His Honor could make a statement. "I don't see how your mother-in-law gets along with you."

Then she hung up the receiver, giving the Judge no chance.

That W. S. Egan was not the man who bound, gagged and tied Miss Petra Christopherson while she was alone in the home of W. G. McPherson, 627 Marshall street, recently, was proved beyond doubt in the Municipal Court yesterday when the accused placed his wife and two other witnesses on the stand and showed that home playing late and never left the house. He was therefore discharged by Judge Cameron.

Miss Christopherson picked out Mr. Egan on the street, and it was noticed upon her declaration that he was positive he was the man that he was taken into custody and charged with the crime. He is a well-known man of this city, is employed by a local firm, and the surprise over his arrest was great.

Yesterday afternoon the young woman stuck to it that Egan was the guilty man, but her declaration was shown to be incorrect, because of the positive alibi established by the defense.

"Absolutely the worst case of total depravity ever heard in the Municipal Court," was the way Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald termed the action in which Al Appel, aged 15 years, and two young men figured, and which caused Bardiester O. Garvin, of the New Market saloon, to be fined $25 for complicity. D. P. Meyer, keeper of the resort, will probably lose his license for permitting the scandal, as Stenographer Leonard, of the headquarters staff of clerks, took the testimony and arranged that he be presented to the liquor license committee of the Council, with a request to revoke the license.

The details of the case were such as to cause a veteran politician to blush, and Judge Cameron cleared the court-room while the case was in progress. When it was finished, His Honor delivered a short speech, in which he said that it was beyond his comprehension how two young men and a girl of 15 years could be so depraved as to plead guilty to such charges. He said he could not understand how human beings could be guilty of acts such as the accused admittedly committed.

In adjusting the penalties, Judge Cameron ordered Al Appel into the custody of the Magdalen Home; fined George Lyttton $25 and sentenced Frank Meyer to the City Jail for 30 days, in addition to five days already spent pending the hearing of the case.

Owing to the scandalous affair, which began in the New Market saloon, Third and Market streets, and ended in a room above, rented by the keeper of the resort, Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald called in Clerk Leonard and took a complete transcript of the evidence, which he will submit to the liquor license committee of the Council.

"Don't try to crush a woman when she is trying to reform," pleaded Attorney J. M. Long, who was conducting the defense for Mrs. Glenn Brown, together with Alex Sweeney, Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald was being addressed.

"I will not attempt to lay a straw in the way of a woman who wishes to reform," hotly replied Mr. Fitzgerald, "but I tell the court in this case that the only game Mr. Long and Mr. Sweeney are playing is to work the sympathetic dodge here in this case, get this woman discharged and then before they could finish their statement, Judge Cameron rapped for order.

The case will be decided this morning, together with the Conrad case, which is set for hearing today.

"Doc" Koonia, stranger in Portland, "struck" the wrong man for money when he solicited Sergeant of Police Skiby for a dime to secure food with. The man in plain clothes, he arrested the beggar and Judge Cameron imposed a fine of $5.

Joe La Barge and George Billins, young boys, charged with burglary, were released on one cent and held on another.

Mamie Parker, colored, was held to the grand jury on a charge of larceny from the person.

REVENUE FROM CREMATORY

Hides, Bones and Tallow of Animals Made to Pay.

Since his incumbency as superintendent of the city garbage crematory, C. L. Daggert has created a new municipal industry. Heretofore it has been the custom to cremate, without charge, the carcasses of all animals brought to the institution; but Superintendent Daggert has hit upon a more profitable plan. Under present arrangements, the hides of dead horses, cattle, sheep, dogs and in fact everything with pets of commercial value, are preserved, as well as the bones and tallow, in consequence of which the revenue from these sources goes a long way toward making the crematory self-supporting. Last month Daggert turned into the general fund nearly $10 from hides, $100 from tallow, and about $14 for bones, and it is estimated that these amounts will be hereafter increased considerably.

The horse hides are worth $1 each, cattle hides from 5 to 6 cents a pound, while large dogskins command 25 cents apiece. The latter are valuable in the manufacture of fine driving gloves, being regarded as more impervious to water than buckskin.

It has been suggested that the economic practice by the city in this respect are nothing more than what falls to the lot of many farmers, and that by a little careful management along similar lines the income from those residing in rural districts may be considerably augmented.

BECOMES FEBRUARY BRIDE

Mrs. A. Campbell Calet Married to Major James Calet Wood.

The marriage of Mrs. A. Campbell Calet, daughter of the late Charles E. Calet, of Portland, and Major James Mel Wood took place yesterday at noon in the Congregational Church. The ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. House, the bride was "exceedingly fair" to look upon and murmurs of admiration were heard as she appeared in the aisle followed by her matron of honor, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas. She wore a cloth gown of that soft gray shade known as ashes of roses. Her hair was cut straight and she wore a jacket and was worn with velvet hat of the same shade trimmed with handsome plumes. Her bouquet was of Lady Campbell violets and maiden-hair fern. Miss Thomas wore champagne cloth with white ostrich boa and hat trimmed with white plumes and white flowers.

Mr. Wood, who entered from a door at the side of the chancel rail, was preceded by Carl Spahn, who acted as his best man. Both wore boutonnieres of lilacs of the valley. About a hundred friends and relatives of Major Wood and his bride were present. Major and Mrs. William H. Barnhart with whom Mrs. Wood has recently made her home, were in one of the front seats. Mrs. Wood, who is a very attractive and dignified appearance and showing plainly the family likeness between herself and the new Mrs. Wood, was preceded by Mrs. Wood and her family occupied the pew opposite. Mrs. Wood was in a blue silk of rich color, Miss Nan Wood in white. The bride wore a blue and black dress with white boa and hat trimmed with blue plumes. Miss Lisa Wood wore a brown cloth suit. Among the friends present were Mrs. Wood, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mrs. N. E. Ayer, Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kerr, Andrew Kerr, William D. Wheelwright, J. N. Joseph, Dr. Cardwell, Dr. Mac Cardwell, Mrs. C. A. S. Dunning, Miss Margaret Morrison, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Clifton McArthur. The wedding march and recessional were played by the orchestra.

After the ceremony, which was solemnized by a ring, the bride party were joined by Major and Mrs. Barnhart and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. S. Wood at a wedding breakfast. Major and Mrs. Wood make a winter home in the city. The first part of their honeymoon will be spent at their home in Couch street, which was visited yesterday morning by several of their friends and decorated with flowers for their home-coming.

WILL HOLD CONFERENCE

Commercial Bodies to Discuss Method of Securing Alaskan Trade.

The conference of the committee from the different commercial organizations of Portland will be held in the parlors of the Commercial Club at 12 o'clock this morning to discuss the matter of establishing a steamship line between this port and Alaska. The Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce and Manufacturers' Association will all be represented by a committee of three.

At the conference, President Wallis Nash, of the Board of Trade, will submit the proposals that have been secured on the three steamships at San Francisco and solicit the opinion and advice of those present. It is proposed that the four committees should go over the matter and prepare a definite proposition to be submitted to the merchants and other business men of Portland. The committees are:

Board of Trade, Wallis Nash, J. N. Fieschner, J. N. Page; Manufacturers' Association, George Lawrence, A. H. Devers, Fletcher Linn; Commercial Club, W. B. Duffell, E. S. Loring; Chamber of Commerce, Sylvester Farrell, George Lawrence.

RECITAL TONIGHT.

Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong will be the soloist at the regular Eilers Piano House soloists recital at Recital Hall this evening.

In addition several operatic selections will be rendered on the orchestra and piano.

Admission to the recital is by ticket only, which can be procured gratis at Eilers Piano House, 231 Washington street, before 5 o'clock this evening.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels, it distinguishes the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow bark and other harmless ingredients in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at druggists, and although in some sense a patent preparation, I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

MISS SHEEK'S STORY

Girl Fond of Notoriety Forced to Confess.

SAYS SHE TOLD FALSEHOOD

Wife of Detective Hartman the One Who Secured True Statement From Young Woman About an Imaginary Attack.

THE MAUD SHEEK CASE.

Sunday evening, January 28, Miss Maud Sheek rushed into the home of A. F. Elrath, 450 Schuyler street, where she was temporarily stopping, and said she had been attacked, bound, gagged and brutally treated by two unknown men.

Immediately upon receipt of the news, Captain of Police Sliover dispatched Sergeant Hogeboom and Patrolman Parker to investigate.

Monday, Staff Detective Hartman took up the case and worked on it without much satisfaction for several days. Miss Sheek declared that she had fought off the two men, and that she pulled a mask from the face of one, recognizing him as an Italian who had been following her for months.

So peculiar and mysterious was the case that it finally became necessary for Detective Hartman to call in his wife to assist, and to her is due the credit of a confession from Miss Sheek that the story was all false.

To the wife of Headquarters Detective Hartman is due the credit of clearing up the mystery of the sensational story of Miss Maud Sheek and the securing of a full confession from the girl, declaring her lurid report of being bound, gagged and brutally treated by two masked thugs a pure fabrication.

Mrs. Hartman became interested in the case, and believed she could persuade the alleged victim of the assault to tell the truth about the matter, and arrangements were made to have the two women meet in a room of a Washington-street hotel, where the Hartmans have apartments. While Miss Sheek, confronted with sufficient evidence of her false story to weaken her, sat in one room and told Mrs. Hartman that the lurid tale given to the police was a fabrication, Inspector of Police Bruin and Detective Hartman were seated in an adjoining room, listening.

After the girl made her confession to Mrs. Hartman another meeting was arranged to take place at the Sheek home. There Inspector Bruin, Detective Hartman and his wife again heard the confession, in the presence of the parents of Miss Sheek. Later she made affidavit, as Mayor Lane wished her to do so, swearing her story was untrue.

Miss Sheek at first claimed to have been gagged by the imaginary pair of thugs who, she declared, stuffed a doll wig down her throat to force silence. This very wig was what brought out the full confession, for Mrs. Hartman took it and showed it to Miss Sheek's mother, who identified it. Mrs. Hartman then told the girl about this, and advised her to confess the whole thing, which she did.

Miss Sheek is declared by the police to be fond of figuring in sensational stories, and it is thought probable that she deliberately planned the starting affair for the express purpose of getting into print.

It was two days before the report was made by her that she completed plans for the affair. At that time she made herself some toast and burned two pieces of bread to a crisp. These she exhibited to Mrs. Elrath, shrieking dramatically that within two days two men would foully mistreat her. In two days Miss Sheek said the men attacked her, but later confessed.

The case is easily one of the most remarkable ever coming to the attention of the Portland police.

WINTER ECZEMA SKIN HARD AND DRY

Some skin diseases are active in Summer, while others wait until cold weather to manifest themselves. Winter Eczema sleeps in the system through the long hot months, and gives no sign of its presence; but at the coming of Winter the trouble asserts itself and it becomes one of the most painful and distressing of all skin diseases. The blood is filled with poisonous acids which seem to be excited by the cold; and as these are thrown off through the pores and glands, the skin cracks and bleeds, the flesh becomes hot and feverish and the itching intense. The natural oils which keep the skin soft and pliant are dried up by the cold, bleak winds, causing it to become hard and dry, giving it that shiny, leathery appearance, characteristic of the disease. The head, face, hands and feet are the usual points of attack, though other parts of the body may be affected. So painful and distressing is the trouble that the sufferer constantly "doctors" and treats it trying to get relief. Soothing washes, medicated ointments and salves are used, but aside from giving temporary relief they do no good. The cause is poisonous acids in the blood, and these must be removed before a cure can be effected. The only cure for Winter Eczema is S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers. It cleanses the entire blood supply of the acrid poisons and sends a fresh, healthy stream to the diseased skin, healing and softening it and curing the painful, itching eruptions. S. S. S. enters the blood and purifies it of all waste foreign matter, and cures Winter Eczema—or Tetter as it is sometimes called—safely as well as surely; besides it does not contain any harmful mineral or derange or damage any part of the system.
