MAY FORCE FIGHT ON TIMBER LAND

Senate Committee Will Report Bill Repealing Present Law.

LITTLE HOPE FROM HOUSE

Committee Will Stifle Senate Bill, as It Stifled Lacey's Bill, Unless Western Senators Can Force Action.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 15.-The Senate committee on public lands is putting the finishing touches on a bill to repeal the timber and stone act and sub-stitute therefor a law authorizing the sale of mature timber on the pub-ile domain at no less than its apthe domain at no less than its appraised value, provision also being made for the sale of stone valuable for building purposes on an equitable basis. For six weeks the committee has been considering this bill, and has now agreed to its various provisions, merely waiting for the admissional merely waiting for the admissional properties to the Senate. Practically every member of the committee is tacorable to the bill in its present from believing it will cure most, if mer all, of the evils that have been perpetrated under the provisions of perpetrated under the provisions of the timber and stone act.

The future of this bill is somewhat in doubt. It seems quite likely that it will pass the Senate, for there is a reneral sentiment in its favor. With the exceptions, the entire Senate is convinced that the timber and stone act is iniquitous in many respects; in its enforcement, if not in its prescribed stipulation. But what will the House committee do to the Senate

Stiffed in Committee.

It will be recalled that only a couple It will be recalled that only a couple of weeks ago the House committee tabled a similar bill. By a vote of eight to five the House committee refused to even permit the House to couplier the subject of repealing the timber and stone act. It was a wise move from the standpoint of the men opposed in reform in the land have, for from the standpoint of the men op-posed to reform in the land laws, for it is a sure thing that once the House has an apportunity to vote to repeal the timber and stone act, that law will go off the statuse books with the cauciton of a large majority of the

There is apparently little reason to becheer that the House committee will per-pair the Senate bill to go before the Hruse for consideration. The opposition to bepait, headed by Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming, is not going to take any unrisk. The surest way to kill the repeal ball is to kill it in committee; in that is the only way, and me knews this better than Mr. Mondell, He awage that he could not kill the repeal to in a feet fight on the floor of the case he would admit, if he spoke frank-that the House would girdly repeal the timber and stone act if the subject was once liven full and free discussion on

That is why Mr. Mondell and his symathizers will again smother the repeal the timber and stone act in committee, they dare do so. There is, however, s hope in the hearts of Western Sen- rest be attics that the House committee may be allowed to make explanation. The circuampelled to report one way or the other on the bill after it has passed the Senate. This does not necessarily follow, although Senators most interested may see to it states vote to give the bill a hearing beore the House and not shelve it, as two House bills have been shelved heretofore, to be diricult to understand the reason ing of the men on the House committee who oppose the repeal of the timber and ct. Mr. Mondell, of course, op pames it because he says the present law works satisfactorily in Wyoming and has led to no fraud there. That is enough for him. His vision does not extend beyond the borders of Wyoming; it seldom does, but from what he knows of conditions in Wyoming, Mr. Mondell is ready to tell he President and the Public Lands Commission all about the workings of the tand laws, and is ready to assume the responsibility for prescribing what those laws shall be. Having made up his mind that the timber and stone act is a good law, he is determined that Congress shall accept his views, so he leads the move mt to table legislation looking to re-

Vision Limited to Wyoming.

Representative French, of Idaho, another man who voted against repeal, believes 13.-With the advance of Spring there are that the timber and stone act is good in symptoms of a reappearance of agrarian workings in his and other states. Since troubles in a number of places in St. que have been enabled in times past to Vrapel Province. workings in his and other states. Sin get $100 worth of timber land for $2.50, why compel the settler or the speculator of the future to pay a higher price? Furermore, argues Mr. French, to repeal he timber and stone act would put a ling the estates of the landowner, be timber and stone act would put a ling the estates of the landowner, to determine the landowner line to early, however, to determine the landowner line to early. However, to determine the landowner line to early the landowner line to ear by the land grant railroads. Of course, he everlooks the fact that wast areas of public timber would continually be on market and in regions adjoining the Senators May Force Action.

And so it goes down the list of men who recently voted to table the repeal bill. They fear that their reasoning would not be indorsed by the House, once they let the bill come up for general discussion, else they would vote to adversely report the bill rather than table it, so as to deny it consideration. It is not a fair fight; it is a fight in which the judgment of a committee is made to pre-vall against the judgment of the House; it is a fight which deprives the House of Representatives of the right to consider bill of the utmost importance to the bill of the utmost importance to the ntire West, but it is a practice occasionlly resorted to by a majority of a committee that opposes popular legislation.
There is a possibility that Western Senators may be able to compet the House to report their repeal bill, but it is a re-inote possibility. Once that end is at-tained, however, the bill will become a law. And nobody knows this better than the wise Mr. Mondell and his colaborers.

HEYBURN'S HOPELESS FIGHT

Persistent in Effort to Prevent Forest Reserve Extension. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-

ngton, March 12. — Fighting President Roosevelt's forest reserve policy is not a popular pastime in Washington City. able results, and, secondly, it lays a man open to all manner of rebukes and countless defeats. This was never more clearly illustrated than in the case of Senator Heyburn of Idaho, who has been bumped by the President, over-ridden by the forest service and recently turned down by a committee of the Senate composed of his associates and more apt to sympathize with him in this fight than either the President or the forestry officials.

Mr. Heyburn has been opposed to forest reserves, first, last and all the time. Falling to induce the President to head his protests or to frighten the forest service with threats to cut off its appropriation, he introduced a bill which he believed would accomplish the end he sought, namely, taking away from the President the right to create forest reserves, and centering that power in reserves, and centering that power in Congress alone. He had a hearing before the committee on forest reservations. Chief Forest Pinchot showed the fallacies of the Senator's arguments, and it took the committee but a few moments to decide against Mr. Heyburn. On this vote Mr. Heyburn was turned down unani-mously, with the lone exception of Senator Kittredge, Now Mr. Heyburn asks for anothe hearing; he thinks he can gather some new arguments against reserve exten-sion, and he will be given further opporfunity to voice his protest, but the result will be the same.

When his bill is formally reported adversely. Mr. Heyburn will introduce another bill, ask to have it referred to the committee on public lands, and will du-plicate his fight before that committee, provided the committee will bear him. But he can't make any headway. There are a few Schators who sympathize with him, but the average Senator has come to realize the wisdom of the forestry policy and is supporting it and the Pres-

There has been no such example of by Mr. Heyburn in his fight on forest reserves. The same energy applied in another direction would accomplish a vast amount of good and would have strengthened the Senator with the Ad-ministration, in the Senate and at home. His mistake was made in the beginning. In starting in the wrong direction. There is nothing in store for him but defeat while he prolongs this fight.

Peasants Don't Care to Vote.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11 .- The returns from the peasants' elections conme generally to show the selection of elders, priests and scribes to represent them at the district conventions, but there are notable instances of apathy for a complete election. At Ardatoff only 83 out of 1900 small farmers participated, and in the provinces along the Volga almost without exception the pensants continue to elect new men.

The full returns from the workmen's election at Moscow show that 65 precincts participated, and that they mostly selected moderate liberals.

Fulton and Wilcox Given Much Hope of Passing Bill Through House. Cannon Is Friendly to the Columbia River.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 12.—Senator Fulton and T. B. Wilcox, of Portland, today talked with hairman Burton, of the river and harbor Chairman Burton, of the river and harbor committee, about an appropriation for the mouth of the Columbia. Mr. Burton expressed himself strongly in favor of this appropriation and again promised to do everything in his power to secure $400,000 by one means or another. He believes there is a fair show of passing through the House Mr. Fulton's bill which went through the Seate law week but in case through the Senate last week, but in case it becomes apparent that this bill cannot get through. Mr. Burton will exert his best energies to have the House agree to Mr. Fulton's atmendment to the sundry civil bill, which carries the same amount. Mr. Wilcox, after talking with Speaker lannon, feels satisfied that this approriation will not meet with any opposition rom that source, but is afraid that Repesentative Tawney, chairman of the ap-ropriations committee, may raise an ob-ction to both the bill and the amendment. However, Mr. Fulton and others directly interested in this appropriation will take up the matter with Mr. Tawney, and they have hopes of not only inducing him to withdraw his objection but of persuading him to actually support the ap-

Fairbanks Honors Oregon Senator by Lending Him Gavel.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 13.—Senator Fulton was called to the Vice-President's chair today and for a considerable part of the after-noon presided over the Senate. Vice-President Fairbanks seldom leaves the chair for as long a time as he did today, and, when he has found it necessary to absent himself from the chamber, he has usually called President Protem Frye to preside. Mr. Fulton remarked as he sur-rendered the gavel to Mr. Fairbanks that his experience, rook him back to the dehis experience took him back to the days when he held a corresponding position in the Oregon Legislature.

When doctors disagree" the patient is liable to suffer. And the patient in this case is shoe-profit that properly should come from a lot of splendid new shoes, just arrived from one of the best known factories in America, a factory famous the world over for painstaking workmanship, superlative style and high quality. The shoes are all that good shoes could be-stylish, perfect in fit and workmanship, smart in appearance and full of quality. But a former manager bought them, and our present manager has his own plans, and means to carry them out along lines he shall plan himself. He says "No room for them on the shelves-other lines all planned for; must either be returned to the factory or sold at once in a forced sale." It is a rule of this house never to cancel orders or return goods to the manufacturer that come through in perfect condition and as bought in good faith from the maker. So no other alternative exists but to sell the shoes at a sacrifice of all profits and a part of the cost. The sale starts this morning, lasting two days only-Wednesday and Thursday. In order to add to the interest in the sale, we have decided at a late hour to reinforce its offerings with about 600 pairs of the famous Laird, Scheber & Pingree Shoes, most of these being in narrow lasts ranging from AA to C and in all sizes.
