THE LAXATIVE OF

KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California

Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that guilty to that extent. Dr. Madden further declares that Health Officer Wheeler is absolutely mistaken about the smallpox, socalled, and says that it was three weeks after the illness of the family that Wheeler learned of the case, through a young woman who is now at the pesthouse. Health Officer Wheeler states that, through the illness of a young woman now confined in the pesthouse with small-pox, be learned of the contagion previously existing at the Holden home. She steited there, it seems, and later was taken with what is pronounced by Dr. Wheeler to be smallpox. An investigation, conducted at once, satisfied Dr. Wheeler that the young woman had contracted the malady at the Holden home, and as no contagious disease whatever and as no contagious disease whatever and as no contagious disease whatever rant for Dr. Madden's arrest was issued. 'Dr. Wheeler never entered the home of Holdens-until three weeks after the family recovered from slight cases of chickenpox," said Dr. Madden. "From a young woman, who was taken ill with what he thinks is smallpox, Dr. Wheeler got the idea, purely presumptive, that the disease was contracted by her at the Holden home and threatened to arrest the family and myself; said he would do all sorts of things and acted very pecu-

SHOW OREGON-MADE GOODS

Every Manufactured Article in the State to Be Exhibited.

An exhibit of Oregon-made goods, embracing every article manufactured in the state, and intended to call attention to the excellence and diversity of home manufactures, is planned by the Admen's League and the Manufacturers' Association for the week beginning May 19. Other commercial organizations of the city and state will join in the movement, and a striking demonstration of what Oregon can do in manufacturing will be made. Details of the exposition remain to be worked out, but, judging from the enthu-siasm with which the movement has been started. Oregon goods will receive valuable exploitation.

There was a large meeting of the Admen's League last night at the Commercial Club, that was attended by the officers and directors of the annufacturers Association. The proposed exhibit of Oregon products furnished the noticeable enthusiasm and the theme for short speeches by Messrs Devers, Holmes, Morrow, Montag, Lawrence, Friedlander, Chapman, Whittier and Sullivan. A general meeting of all the commercial organizations of the city will be held within a few days to start a concerted movement for the proposed exhibit.

The following resolution, passed by the Manufacturers' Association, was read to

I will then make a report on the situation and this, together with the plans and specifi-cations now being prepared, will be for-warded to Washington. There they will pass through the hands of Chief En-gineer F. H. Newell, of the Reclamation Service, and after he makes his recommendations, they will go to the Director and to the Secretary of the Interior.

"I hope to have the construction of the big dam in Cold Springs Canyon started within a short time. This promises to be one of the higgest structures of earth in the world. It will be 50 feet high, over a quarter of a mile in length and will contain about 600,000 cubic yards of material. It will store about $6,000 acre-feet of water, and 83 feet of water will stand against the dam. SUPPLEMENT EXPOSITION

INDUSTRIAL FAIR FOR STATE street, Sunday night, the young man OF OREGON.

It Is Proposed to House Under One Roof All the Scattered Exhibits.

The provisional committee of the 1966 industrial fair held its organization meeting at the Commercial Club last night. The 21 manufacturers, merchants and business men who consti-ture the committee chose at their chair, man Adolph Wolfe. of Lipman & Wolfe, and as secretary Dan McAllen, of McAllen & McDonnell. There was a full attendance of the members and feature of the project was earnestly discussed. During the meeting it developed that there was a strong sentiment in favor of making the exhibit a permanent affair, a typical state and city mu-seum, appealing to the pride and patriotism of the people of Oregon, col-lecting under one roof all the scattered exhibits now maintained in Portland. Speeches were made by Mr. Wolfe, Tom Richardson, manager of the Com-mercial Club; I. N. Lipman, Henry Reed, Henry E. Dosch and County Com missioner Frank C. Barnes.

The general sentiment expressed was that the industrial fair should supple-ment and keep alive the work begun by the Lewis and Clark Exposition and keep in the foreground the natural and ndustrial resources of the city and Proceedings of a Day in the Municipal Court With the Findings of Judge Cameron in Various Cases.

Alfreda Woods, a young woman, was acquitted of a charge of larceny in the Municipal Court yesterday morning. In discharging the woman, Judge Cameron remarked that it was one of the most peculiar cases ever coming to his attention.

Miss Woods took the stand in her own behalf and told a straightforward story, denying any connection with the loss of $100, belonging to A. B. Barnett, of Lewiston, Idaho, which, he claimed, was stolen from his room in the Fremont hotel last Saturday morning.

The $100 Barnett declared, was taken from his room during a very brief absence. As Miss Woods was the only person known to have entered the room while he was out, Barnett swore to a warrant charging her with the larceny, and she was arrested by Headquarters Detective Hartman.

Miss Woods admitted that she was the only person in the Fremont Hotel who entered Barnett's room the morning of the robbery. She was acting as chambermald at the time. She is attending school on regular school days, but works about the hostelry Saturday and Sunday. She swore that she went into Barnett's room and did the work, and that was all she knew about it. She said she saw no purse or money in the room, and had no knowledge of the robbery

"The law says the defendant shall have the benefit of the doubt," remarked Judge Cameron, "and there is a doubt in the court's mind regarding the case. I will say, however, that it is a very peculiar case, indeed; but there is no evidence before me to convict the defendant with the robbery."

"If at first you don't succeed, try try again," is the motto of Frank Levely. In his first attempt to get into

"Did you hit Moon with the ax?" asked Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald. "He would have seen stars if I had." reptied Levely.

Hopkins on a charge of disorderly con "Your name is not Robert Burns, is it?" asked Mr. Fitzgerald. "That's my name," replied the defendant.
