Punish Men. Not Corporations.

Tillman spoke of Judge Humphrey's re-nt decision in the beef packers' case, and declared that the tendency was to punish a man of straw, the corporations, without paying attention to the indi-viduals. He declared that we were "too infernally auxlous" about this artificial man; he wanted the beneficiary looked No doubt, he said, the law was correctly interpreted but that was the couble-he wanted the law reformed.
"Now, there's Mr. Jerome," he said.

"He, too, has fallen from grace and is out against reform. So here we go. The dear people are told that we are doing our best for them, but that the dear old stution stands in the way."

He declared that the Attorney-General was the direct progenitor of the doctrine that the corporations could be punished, but not their officers and stockholders. He had laid down the principle in the case of Mr. Morton, and the President had accepted the doctrine, both exclaiming, He's clean and honorable, and should be me; go after the dirty railroad." a natural consequence—the Attorney-Gen-

He traced the popular dissatisfaction to a world-wide restlessness and not to the narrow field of the fixing of railroad rates It is a contest between the individual and the corporation, he said.

Trusts Must Be Smashed.

"The trusts fix everything for us far in advance; each of them has a definite mortgage on the future of all of us. The individual sees his opportunity cut off in all directions and there can be no wonder that he is restless under the circumstances," he remarked. "The general animosity is directed at the railroads most especially, because they are more in evidence than other corporations. He in evidence than other corporations, did not believe that relief would be se-cured until a way was found of controlling the corporations that control the rall-

What Is the Cash Value of Your Insurance Policy Today?

Do you realize that the cash value as contained in your policy is your money, put aside and held in reserve by the company after paying your share of all death losses and your proportion of a liberal amount for conducting the business? Mind you, this reserve is an accumulation in excess of the current cost of your insurance; for this reason the company will return a portion of same if you surrender your policy. But what becomes of this reserve if you die? We issue one form of policy guaranteeing absolute protection for life at a very low cost, allowing you to keep the reserve in your pocket. On our limited payment and endowment policies, in event of death, we return the reserve in addition to the insurance. Let our agents show you.
