ARLETA IS ANXIOUS

Fears That Postal Facilities Will Be Abolished.

MASS MEETING IS CALLED

Residents Declare They Have Been Tricked Into Signing What They Supposed Free Delivery, but Means Rural Route.

Residents of Arleta are agitated over what they consider an attempt to abolish their local postoffice, and charge unauthorized proceedings in the effort to secure rural delivery for Arleta at their expense. A meeting will be held this evening at Laurewood Hall for the purpose of discussing the situation. In accordance with the following call: Citizens: You have been grossly deceived into signing a petition to establish a free rural mail route from Arleta, which will abolish the Arleta postoffice and retard the free delivery service we are all strong for. The petition that has been presented you are not for the free city delivery you contemplated when your houses were numbered. Many who signed it now see their mistake and denounce the unauthorized manner in which they have been deceived. Come out to Laurewood Hall tonight, Saturday, April 7, at 8 o'clock, and join in a remonstrance. We want free delivery, not a rural route from Arleta. CITIZENS: The Mount Scott country, which has been growing very rapidly lately, extends from Anabel Station, on the Mount Scott car line, to Arleta, a distance of about 2 1/2 miles, the district being supplied by two postoffices, Arleta and Arleta. Residents of Arleta, in their endeavor to secure free postal delivery, have placed street signs, numbered their houses, improved their streets and otherwise taken steps to achieve the desired result. They claim that Arleta, which already possesses free rural delivery, is imbued with expansion ideas in this respect, and is ambitious to absorb their territory. It is with a view of protesting against these encroachments that the meeting has been called. It is also charged by the people of Arleta that some one from Arleta circulated a petition in their town calculated to deceive its residents into thinking it was

MARRIAGE A FAILURE

Husbands and Wives Who Seek Divorces.

WEDLOCK BONDS IRKSOME

Breathle C. Hoemel yesterday began proceedings in the State Circuit Court against Fred E. Hoemel, a soap manufacturer, for a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds, and the complaint filed by plaintiff recites that she and her husband enjoyed only a brief honeymoon, when domestic trouble came. They were married at Iona, October 22, 1904. Soon afterward Mrs. Hoemel alleges that her husband persuaded her to come to Portland and reside in the home of his parents, which she did against her will. She avers that she could not agree with her mother-in-law, and also fell out with Hoemel, who told her she had no sense and was crazy. He also wrote to her father at Iona accusing her of being a sport. Mrs. Hoemel further alleges that her husband told her he did not love her, and married her to prevent her from suing him for breach of promise. She asserts that he made her advertise his soap business and refused to furnish her with clothing or money. George S. Rheaugh appears as attorney for Mrs. Hoemel. Guy Hockett, who began suit in the State Circuit Court yesterday against Ada Hockett for a divorce, complains that she falsely accused him of infidelity and was guilty of cruel treatment towards him. The litigants were married in San Francisco in March, 1902. Hockett avers that his wife was cross and surly and on one occasion at Oakland, Cal., called him vile names on the street and struck him on the head. He also says she accused him of associating with other women. Judge Bearn presided in the divorce court yesterday and granted five decrees. W. B. Gay was divorced from Marie Gay, who deserted him on September 23, 1906, three weeks after their marriage. Mr. Gay has a child 3 years old by a former wife, and the defendant, he testified, took

CITY FUNDS IDLE

Mills' Amendment Proves to Be Disastrous.

BANKS WILL NOT ACCEPT

No Revenue in the Way of Interest Can Be Obtained for the Money Which the City Now Possesses. By virtue of the Mills amendment to the city charter at the last session of the Legislature, the city funds are doomed to be idle during the year, or until the attitude of local bankers change or the law is changed. The former seems unlikely, and the latter presents difficulties, as it was passed by the referendum after passing the Legislature, and through some misapprehension, the popular majority was large. City Attorney McNary has advised City Treasurer Werlein that no liberal construction can be placed on the law in regard to city money, and the statutes must be complied with. This opinion was rendered a few weeks ago, when a communication was received from the Portland Trust Company, stating it was ready to give up a deposit of $50,000 rather than comply with the new requirements that sums greater than the deposits would be demanded for securities, and the negotiable paper must be of the gilt-edged order. City Treasurer Werlein, after visiting all the city banks and making an unsuccessful effort to secure bids for city money, has given up hope that the funds will be able to earn anything for the city during the coming year. "I felt at the time the amendment passed," said he, "that if it could be made operative, the best securities were none too good for the city's money, but if we cannot get it to work, we shall have to do the best we can. I am waiting to hear from the Council in the matter to see what we shall do with the money. The amendment will not work at all. The city eventually has to pay the cost of the securities put up for the deposits, for if the conditions were not so rigorous, the city would get better interest. An obvious reason why the law will not prove satisfactory is the fact that if the

ROSA DE CICCIO CONVICTED

Beat Former Husband Over the Head With Iron Bar.

BEAT FORMER HUSBAND OVER THE HEAD WITH IRON BAR.

Rosa DeCicco, whose quarrels in the past with Anton DeCicco, her former husband, have attracted public attention, was tried and convicted in Judge George's court yesterday on a charge of beating him on the head with an iron bar. The evidence adduced also showed that DeCicco struck the woman on the head, and there was some testimony to the effect that he drew a revolver. The DeCiccios were divorced several years ago, and the children were awarded to the custody of the father, who is a saloonkeeper. The mother, since the divorce, has worked hard, and has shown much affection for the children, and has had them with her a great deal, partly with the consent of the father. The parents have quarreled over the children, and Mrs. DeCicco, who is possessed of a very violent temper, has several times assaulted DeCicco. About two months ago Judge Frazer committed the two DeCicco boys to the Reform School. A little girl, Cecelia Virginia DeCicco, lives with her father. She complained that he punished her, and she went to her mother. DeCicco went to his former wife's home to get the child. Mrs. DeCicco assaulted and beat him. DeCicco is afraid his wife will kill him in one of her angry moods. Mrs. DeCicco has been incarcerated in the County Jail since the day of her trouble. Charles A. Petrain appeared as her attorney, and Alfred Ferrera assisted Deputy District Attorney Bert Haney in the prosecution of the case. Special prices on shirts and ties today at La Palms Royal, 375 Washington street.
