neeting for the East Side will be tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in Cen-tenary M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. It will be the first Judge Cameron Tries to Learn Which Character R. G. Edwards Sustains.

LAN'S COMPLAINT

In the Municipal Court He Accuse Another Edwards of Assault and Battery, and Prisoner Is Fined.

Whether R. G. Edwards, a crawfish fisherman, who supplies the shellflish to the local restaurants, is a Good Samaritan or a highway robber, Judge Samaritan or a highway robber, Judge Cameron is unable to determine. The impression gained from his tale was that he is as harmiess as a codfish in a snow bank. But because he ran in the opposite direction from his home after receiving 25 cents for services performed in lugging S. G. Smart. who, it is said, was suffering from too much liquor, up the street, his cane was continued until next Wednesday.

Edwards was accused by Smart of Edwards was accused by Smart of knocking him down and trying to rob him of $5.05. Edwards claimed that he met Smart and another inebriated home-goer at Third and Morrison streets and consented to assist Smart to his lodgings because he lived in the neighborhood for which Smart was bound. Smart denied that his legs or head was suffering from griph, and said. head was suffering from drink and said that Edwards slugged him when he was not looking. knocked him down and tried to rob him, but was prevent-ed because he held his left arm across the pocket in which the coin was hidden. Edwards claimed that Smart was so intoxicated that when he lost his grip on his arm he fell to the pavement and was unable to regain an upright position again. He swore that Smart had insisted on giving him 25 cents for his exertions in performing an act of good-followship, and that he took the change to quiet the protestations of brotherly love. "The reason I ran," said Edwarda, "was because the hour was late and the fellow was shouting 'Murder! Murder! I've been robbed! so I didn't want to get mixed up in any deal like that and thought I would let lie theru.

Policeman Porter, who said that he could run like the wind, overtook Edwards, who was jogging along in a different direction from that in which he said he resided. Both men were arrested and taken to jail. Edwards was charged with larceny and Smart was charged with being drunk. The was charged with being drunk. The court will try to determine Wednesday whether Edwards is a robber or a Good Samaritan.

A. Turtledove, with as soft a conscience as his feathered namesake, quit cooling when arrested for driving faster than the law perinits. It was charged that Turtle-dove urged his flying steeds through the streets to the consternation of pedes-trians. His flight was stopped by a patrolinant. Turtledove, who was summoned before Judge Cameron in the Municipal Court, says that his team was going no faster than a messenger boy.

Turtledove convinced the court that the charge against him was without foun tion and the Judge dismissed the case.

Lung Len shouted in pigeon-English to Deputy City Attorney Pitzgerald yesterday morning that he was unable to open his mouth because he had been struck by the fint of G. S. Edwards when he was on his way to a fire Wednesday night. Edwards pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault and battery, but experienced a lapse of memory at all points of the trial. It developed that drink was responsible for the void in the prisoner's memory. had adjourned yesterday afternoon, the Mayor proceeded to criticise some of Mr. Banfield's assertions.

"I wish to say," remarked the Mayor, "that I am quite willing at any time to sign shy franchise that will protect the rights of the city and is of benefit to the community.

"Relative to his declination to give his prisoner's memory, withority that I would not sign his franauthority that I would not sign his fran-chise, no matter what it contained, I will say that he will not do so because he is not able to, and cannot give his authority to a 12-months' term by the Judge yes-terday.

Judge Cameron got the clue, worked up the evidence, caught the thief, obtained a confession, sat in judgment over the prisoner and gave the verdict, all in a period of 24 hours. Judge Cameron saw the Chinese riding the wheel, and it was such a funny spectacle in the syes of His Montage that he storged the Celestial and such a runny speciacie in the eyes of ris Honor that he stopped the Ceiestial and questioned him. "Highbinders gette me alle same pretty quick when walkes, so lide 'em wheel," said Ling in explana-tion. The Judge was not satisfied and on

The Judge hunted up the messenger boy, and had him come to court in case that his own word was not sufficient in his own eyes to convict the prisoner. After weighing his own teatimony for a minute he decided that the evidence was overwhelmingly against Ling, and sentenced him to one year in the County Jall.

Writing from the vicinity David Harum made famous, a man says that he was an habitual coffee drinker, and, although he knew it was doing him harm, was too obstinate to give it up, till all at once he went to pleces with nervousness and insomnia, loss of appetite, weakness, and a generally used-up feeling, which oractically unfitted him for his arduous occupation, and kept him on a couch at home when his duty did not call him out.

"While in this condition Grape-Nuts food was suggested to me, and abandoning coffee, I began to use it. Although it was in the middle of Winter and the thermometer was often below zero, my entire living for about aix weeks of severe exposure was Grape-Nuts with a little bread and butter and a cup of hot water, till I was wise enough to make Postum Food Coffee my table betwerage.

"After the first two weeks I began to feel better and during the whole Winter I never lost a trip on my mail route, frequently, being on the road seven or eight hours at a time. The constant marvel to me was how a person could do the amount of work and endure the fatigue and hardship as I did, on so small an amount of food. But I found my new rations so perfectly satisfactory that I have continued them—using both Postum and Grape-Nuts at every meal, and often they comprise my entire meal. All my nervousness, irritability and insomnia have disappeared and healthy, natural sleep has come back to me.

"But what has been perhaps the greatest surprise to me is the fact that with the benefit to my general health has come a remarkable improvement in my eyesight.
