Dealers at the present time to obtain their prices, advances must be made in Boston. But the fact remains, and although we all know that wool is now high enough in comparison to other necessities, we must submit to the inevitable if necessary. Talk about substitutes is all right in its place, but wool must be had, whether a greater or less amount is used in the mannfacture of cloth. Consequently the goods market will have to follow the course of the raw material.

Heavy Selling for Account of Insurance Companies.

HAS BADEFFECT ON MARKET

of Currency to San Francisco-Gold From Paris.

day, with damage resulting to pricas. This outbreak of weakness merely represented the working out of the problem thrown upon the financial world by the San Francisco calamity. Selling was clearly in evidence for direct account of some of the insurance companies. Stock certificates in the names of these companies. Stock certificates in the names of these companies were delivered at the Stock Exchange and the selling of these was on orders from some of the principal banking houses. This gave rise to natural conjectures as to whether the insurance companies were simply employing the banking houses in a brokerage capacity to effect the sales of securities out of their treasury holdings or whether they had figured as collateral for loans by the banks who were liquidating the collateral owing to the shrinkage of values and the wiging out of margins. The sentimental effect of this ceiling was bed in any event and had a decidedly depressing effect on speculative sentiment throughout the street.

The shrinkage in values also brought out large sales for account of some of the great commission houses, and this was attributed to the letting go of some speculative accounts. Selling of this character from Western sources was particularly marked and had the appearance of being presumably owing to the wiping out of margins. Earnest assummess have been heard for some time from some prominent speculative sources that the Wall street commission houses had become practically hare of stocks. The was evidently meant to imply that speculative accounts on the long side had been taking stocks out of the market. The amount of long stock which value out today in speculative dealing was a surprise and thoroughly discredits the assurances.

amounted to over $3,000,000 before 2 o'clock. Engagement was made during the day of $4,000,000 gold for import, most of which was secured in Paris. The decidedly weak return of the Hank of England explained the unwillingness of the London market to part with gold. The bank's holding of buillon fell for the week nearly $3,500,000, while the loans expanded in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, thus bringing the proportion of reserves to itabilities to below the traditional line of safety at 40 per cent. The retention of the official discount rate at 315 per cent with official discount rate at 315 per cent with the private rate fully up to jinat level made it certain that heavy resort will be made to the bank by the market while this condition

Commildated Gas steadled on the anacomment of a reduction in its dividends to a 4 per cent basis after a long period of decline in expectation of this action. High-grade investment stocks are specially affected, by the day's ceiling. Bear operators were eager ceilers on the declines and their buying to cover shorts was responsible for occasional railies. Little support was accorded the market while the liquidation seemed to be forced, but with the built in the selling pressure, measures were taken to effect some restoration of the may hower, and consiste was languid at the receivery until the announcement just before the close of large engagements of gold for import. This etimulated an active demand. Reading leading, as at other times during the day, and the close

from the May to the July delivery. There was also considerable straight liquidation by holders of the May option. Crop news was conflicting, but during the early part of the session, advices from the fourthwest seemed to become favorable to the bears, excent reports denying darrage by dry weather. The market was further weakened by a weather bureau forecast of rain in Kansas. Late fresh damage reports were received, and this started fair buying of July and assisted in a steadler feeling. Many local traders, who had sold short early in the session, were moderale buyers by the last hour. The market closed steady. July opened a shade to 160 ac and the declined to 180 c. The close was at 191 c. May ranged between 191 c and 805 680 by. and closed at a not loss of he at 191 670 ac. Scattered liquidation by holders of the May option had a weakening effect on the corn market. Increased local receipts was the factor that induced the selling. The close was easy. FORCES ARE REARRANGED Lines Necessitates Changes.

A rearrangement of forces in the general freight offices of the Hi has been made necessary by the increas-ing business handled by R. B. Miller, general freight agent, and his assistants, and a number of appointments were an-ing business handled by R. B. Miller, general freight agent, and his assistants, and a number of appointments were announced yesterday.

A. A. Morse, general agent of the freight department at Portland, will become special representative of the freight department and will handle only special matters. His place as general agent will be taken by A. McCorquodale, now chief clerk of the O. R. & N. freight office. Both are old employes.

H. E. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent for the Southern Pacific, has been made district freight agent of the company, with headquarters at Portland, C. A. Malboeuf, chief clerk of the Southern Pacific freight department, becomes chief clerk of all the affiliated Harriman lines in the general freight offices. Mr. Malboeuf has been with the Southern Pacific freight department for the past II years, and is thoroughly in touch with traffic matters. R. Burns, general agent for the lines south of Snake River, to and including Umatilla and Pendleton, with headquarters at Walla Walla. Is to become district freight agent R. B. Miller and General Passenger Agent A. L. Craig, while the other appointments were made by Mr. Miller.

George J. Mohler, general agent of the O. R. & N. at Spokane, will become district freight agent of the O. R. & N. north of Riparis, Wash, not including points between Riparis and Lewiston with headquarters at Spokane. All the appointments become effective May I.

"The appointments are in line with more thorough organization," said General Freight Agent Miller. The naming of the new officers will remove much of the detail now handled in the Portland office, and will make it more of an executive office, while the district agents will look after the detail in their respective territories. The increasing development of the territory of the lines make it advisable to cut it into districts."
