

CINCH FROM START

Commuters Stand No Show in Ball Game.

SCORE IS NINE TO ZERO

Reidy's Offerings Slammed All Over the Lot by McCredie's Batmen, and Portland Does as It Will.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE. Yesterday's Results. Portland 9, Oakland 0. San Francisco 2, Seattle 0. Fresno 2, Los Angeles 1.

Standing of the Clubs. San Francisco 11, 566. Los Angeles 15, 714. Portland 8, 429. Fresno 9, 429. Seattle 6, 281.

The second game of the season was easy money for the Portland team, for McCredie's men had their batting clothes on and slammed the offerings of Bill Reidy all over the lot. It was a cinch from the start for the local bunch of swatsmen, for in their half of the first canto six bingles were good for five aces, although in the course of the inning Mr. Reidy contributed a palpable balk, and an Umpire Knell ruled accordingly. Manager Van Halten dusted all the way from center field to the scorer's stand for the purpose of registering his disapproval and at the same time let it be known that he protested the game.

No Score for Oakland.

Oakland failed to negotiate a single score during the entire nine innings, and the person to whom most of the credit for this contingency must be accorded is Will Beck, the blonde slab artist McCredie delegated to shoot 'em over for Portland. He surely had something on the bench, for he served to the visitors, because they were helpless when the matter of negotiating hits was necessary to the accumulating of runs. For five innings not an Oaklander was able to land a safe swat, and during the last four seasons just these hits were allowed by the local favorites.

A total of 16 hits, three of which were two-baggers gave Bill Reidy something to think about during the matinee, and incidentally gave 'em credit for a shut-out. Phone Jack Atherton something to crow about. From the time that Jimmy McHale led off in the first inning with a two-base wallop, all the avian-like of base hits rained from off the bats of the Portland players. The chief gunners of the occasion were Mike Mitchell, 'Larry' McLean, 'Fats' Lister, Pat Donahue and Charlie Moore, all of whom acquired two or more hits off the ex-Brooklynite's delivery.

Lightning Double Play.

By remaining until the last inning the game was rewarded by witnessing a lightning double play from the hands of Donahue to Lister, which took place with two Oaklanders on the sacks and none in the cooler, which indicated that a shut-out was about to be averted. The double took the wind out of the sails of the visitors, and the best lanky, red-topped Jim Hackett could do in the effort to score. And Krugger was hit by Mike Mitchell, Phil Knell, while not so raw as on the opening day, was off on several occasions, but on this occasion the home team was the winner.

The most surprising thing of the game was the hooking of two bases in the first inning by Larry McLean, who scored second and a few seconds later purloined home plate assisted by Charlie Moore, who stole second and third in rapid succession.

Today will be ladies' day, and Cliff or Henderson will be pitted against Bill Gates, the ex-Portland pitcher, now with Van Halten. The score:

HENLEY IS WELL BACKED UP

Seals Score Another Shutout in Play With Swishes.

When Tozer Hurt His Finger the Runs Piled Up.

FRESNO, Cal., May 3.—Fresno played errorless ball today, while Fitzgerald pitched in fine form. Errors following two hits in the second inning gave Fresno two runs. The score stood 2 to 3 until the eighth, when Tozer dislocated the first joint of his little finger and was unable to control the ball. After he had filed the bases by walking two and hitting one with the ball, Egan came to bat and lined out a three-bagger, scoring immediately af-

Academy and High Schools.

The underfated teams of the Portland Academy and the Portland High School will meet this afternoon on Multnomah Field. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock. The teams will line up: P. A. Newell, C. Higgins. Word, C. Reed. Jones, C. Jones. Oakes, C. Brownies. Houston, C. Reed. S. S. Meyers. Higgins, C. McPherson. Kutz, C. E. P. Clark, or Corbett. Briggs, C. P. Meyers.

Columbia Defeats Hill.

The Columbia University-Hill Military Academy baseball game at Multnomah Field yesterday afternoon resulted in a victory for the Columbia lads by the score of 7 to 2. Numerous errors behind Street, the Hill pitcher, were responsible for most of the runs scored by Columbia, while the same may be said of the runs scored off the Columbia twirler. Batteries—Columbia, Looney and O. Moore; Hill Military Academy, Street and Taylor. Umpire, Ed Rankin.

were Marvin Hart, of Louisville, Ky., and Mike Schreck, of Chicago, and they appeared in the bout which would up the first series of exhibitions given in the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall by the newly-revived Twentieth Century Athletic Club.

The men were slow in the opening round, but fought each other almost to standstill in the other three rounds. Neither seemed to have trained and they simply slugged wildly without any show of science or judgment. Tim Hart was referee, but his duties were confined to making the men break from clinches, as no decisions are rendered under the existing legal restrictions. Only club members were admitted. The membership books were open until 7 P. M. Two local fighters in one of the preliminary bouts were quietly arrested after leaving the ring in order that a test case may be made as to the legality of the fights as conducted tonight. Otherwise there was no police interference.

are to be held under the auspices of the A. A. U. at that place on June 23. Seattle is to send a strong team, and expects to land the championship, which is one of the reasons Manager Watkins desires to secure the best talent in the local club from which to select his team. A trainer will be engaged immediately, and the work of preparing the men for the meet started at the earliest possible moment for the work of getting a team into shape by the date of the meet will require several weeks of trouts.

STATUS OF LEAGUE

Seattle and Los Angeles Want to Drop Out.

OTHERS ARE NOT WILLING

Portland Will Stand by San Francisco and Oakland as Long as Those Two Clubs Desire to Play Ball.

In spite of the evident desire of the San Francisco and Oakland magnates to keep the Pacific Coast League intact, persistent rumors of the disbandment of the league continue to circulate. Seattle and Los Angeles are the seats of dissatisfaction. James F. Morley desires to stand from under and give up baseball for the year, and by so doing to take down his $1500 deposit, now in the hands of President Bert. To do this Morley must remain with the circuit as long as does the majority of the other clubs, for should he disband his team at present, his franchise and team would be forfeited to the league, and some one else placed in charge at the Angel city. Morley knows this, and will hang onto his franchise until it can be definitely determined whether or not he stands to lose more than his deposit by so doing.

In Seattle's case, the magnates of the Puget Sound City have lost considerable money in the past three years, and have been advocating the Northwest circuit for some time. When the season started this year Seattle agreed to stand by the league for the present year, and to go back on that guarantee at this time would not be looked upon as sportsmanlike by the baseball world. In view of the recent eastern trophe that has temporarily overwhelmed the California clubs, it seems to be the duty of the other clubs in the league to stand by Oakland and San Francisco until the owners of these two clubs are willing to give up. When they say they have enough, then it would be proper to entertain a proposition to affiliate with another circuit. This is the view of affairs taken by Judge W. W. McCredie, president of the Portland club, and which is echoed by the Portland fans. At the Seattle conference last evening no definite decision relative to affiliating with the Northwest League was reached, for the Seattle magnates are somewhat up in the air as to the status of the Coast League at this time. The evident desire of the San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno and Portland clubs to hold the league intact.

The Seattle magnates have wired Secretary Farrell of the National Association of Baseball Leagues asking permission to release their players and allowing them to play with Northwest club with the proviso that the players be returned to them next season, just as Los Angeles is reported doing. Whether the request will be granted remains in doubt, for as yet the Coast League has not disbanded, and while the indications are that such an event may come to pass in the course of the next few weeks, the association cannot grant any request of the kind until such a step may be acted upon by the local league officials.

The Northwest League is especially desirous of acquiring the cities of Portland and Seattle, and will hold the proposition up until further developments.

WOULD NOT BE OUTLAWS

Seattle Club Wires to Find Out What Its Rights Are.

SEATTLE, May 3.—(Special.)—After an hour's conference tonight, the Seattle club and President W. H. Lucas of the Pacific Northwest League, telegraphed Secretary Farrell to ask the rights of Portland and Seattle. Before any definite steps are taken by the Northwest League two outside clubs, it is desired to know whether Seattle and Portland can protect their players. The point was raised early in the conference that unless the request was to withdraw from the Pacific Coast League, Seattle and Portland would be in the position of outlaws, their players liable to seizure by any club under protection and their territory subject to invasion. At the same time, the Northwest League wanted assurance that if this season's schedule is disarranged, and the two outside clubs invited in, that they would stay for a term of years. No definite period was specified, but the Northwesters teams did not want to tie up for a single season. Seattle unofficially took the position that eventually the Coast cities will form a local circuit, but that the Northwest League should be joined for a few years until San Francisco can rebuild and the Northern towns grow.

The conference could not get anywhere in their negotiations today because of the uncertainty of the National organization's stand. If Secretary Farrell finds after telegraphic correspondence tomorrow that the inclination is to stand by California, it is probable negotiations will be declared off. If Seattle and Portland will be protected Seattle will demand strongly a Northwest organization. Another conference will be held tomorrow night.

The agitation of a league change has upset attendance everywhere. In Tacoma George M. Shreeder tonight said that the attendance fell off immediately after the announcement that a possible affiliation with Portland and Seattle would upset schedules and raise the class of baseball. Manager Dorsey, of Spokane, made a similar report, and Manager Gillis, of Butte, is apprehensive. The Seattle club has received a letter from Cal Ewing, who owns the San Francisco club, saying that Oakland and San Francisco will be good home towns six weeks later. Morley still maintains the same position in his telegram to Seattle—that Los Angeles wants to quit, Seattle has had no word from Fresno. Judge McCredie, the Seattle men say, is trying to force the local club to take the first jump. If the water is fine, McCredie will come in.
