Maybe it was the ladies, and then again maybe it was the horseshoe Bill Devereaux swiped from a newshoy yesterday morning; but in any event something cer-tainly shook up the boys in the ladies' day matinee at the Vaughn-street grounds yesterday. For they played anything but real baseball during the nine innings. The result was that Oukland won by 7 tallies

In inning the second and inning the fifth, the bunch of earthquake survivors under Walter McCredle made all kinds of under Walter McCredle made all kinds of had bungles and sprinkled amid the poor work were several dumb plays. All of which served to take the heart out of Califf, the pride of Oregon City, who am-bled to the stable after the second, and Roy Toren fared as badly, if not worse, in the fifth, although the tall blonde stayed with the ship until the close came in the ninth.

Jack Atherton and "Doc" Anderson were on hand to liven up the proceedings or the especial benefit of the ladies, but unfortunately for their good intentions, the chance to "spiel" choice bundles of encouragement to the, home guard was short-lived, and the two umpire and visiting team "batters" were forced to remain arkably silent.

What happened to Califf began in the second, when "Chubby" Tom Hackett popped a fly to center, which was permitted to drop safely between Mike Mitchell and Jimmy acHale, when either of them could have caught the falling sphere with one hand. After this an error by Moore, coupled with several rather lucky hits, gave Oakland two runs.

Toren then succeeded Califf, and in the fifth inning was handed his portion of the bad-luck story. Cates, the first man up in the fifth, was easily disposed of, and Van Haltren negotiated first on an infield poke. Kruger hit safe, and Smith flew to McHale, which made two down when the turn arrived. Sweeney erred and "Sunny Jim" Hackett laced a liner to center which McHale tried to trap, and the ball rolled all the way to the fence allowing the lanky first baseman to complete the circuit before it was returned, and the visitors were gladdened by hearing the bell sound five times.

Portland's lone run came in the third on hits by Donahue and McCredie. The locals were up against the real thing in the fielding line, for whenever an oppor-tunity offered for a score, a double play would conclude the finning. Een Henderson, the undefeated Portland twirler, will endeavor to win his fifth consecutive game when he faces the Cakland bunch this afternoon, and either Oscar Graham or Smith will occupy the slab for Oschrane

Southern metropolis, and presumes that the Angel chief will stick it out even-if he is required to secure a new ball park. The owners of Chutes Park, in Los Angeles, have refused to release the park at Los Angeles to Morley, but would readily do so to anyone else securing the franchise so to anyone else securing the franchise, and this is the real reason Morley has been so anxious to quit.

Syndicate Is Ready.

A syndicate in Los Angeles and another in San Francisco stand ready to take Morley's Coast League franchise off his hands at any time, or, in the event of his forfeiting it, to purchase it from the league, so no fears as to Los Angeles are entertained by the league directors. The acquiescence of Seattle is all that remains to guarantee harmony, and, as the magnates over there have been laboring under the illusion that the league was bound to disband, it is thought they will come into the fold and agree to play out

A local fan who returned from Seattle yesterday said that he was led to believe that Seattle's anxiety to affiliate with the Northwest League was occasioned by the weakness of Russ Hall's club, which is believed to be able to make a better showing in the Lucas league than in its present company; hence the desire to change circuits. Manager Van Haltren expressed himself as well pleased with the outlook at present. He says that Portland will be the salvation of the league, for the Rose City is now the best-paying city in the efreuit. The attendance during the past three days has been especially gratifying to the veteran Oakland manager

Ghirardelli's Cocoa is a food. Why?

Because the D. Ghirardelli Co. uses a new process that retains in the cocoa every property of the cocoa-bean.

In the cocoa-bean is more nitrogen for mental force than in wheat flour; twenty times as much fatty matter-for reserve; and a considerable proportion of starch-for energy. The delicious aroma and flavor in excites your appetite-the richness wins your appreciation. The color of the cocoa is darker than in other brands. That results from the retention of the cocoa-bean oil, the most important accomplishment of the new process. At your grocers in hermetically sealed tins.
