

Rockefeller Institute to Open. NEW YORK, May 7.—With appropriate ceremony, the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research will be opened Friday afternoon. It is expected that Mr. Rockefeller, who has given $5,000,000 to the building and equipment of the institution, will be present. Addresses will be made by Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard University; Nicholas M. Butler, president of Columbia University; and others. It is the first institute of its kind in the United States, and was founded by Mr. Rockefeller after the death of his infant granddaughter in Chicago five years ago. It was his purpose to establish an institution through which scientific men might have an opportunity to study disease, particularly of infants.
