PACIFIC UNIVERSITY. Forest Grove. Or., May 14.—(Special.)—Many expressions of indignation have been heard today about the institution concerning the report in yesterday's paper of a baseball game alleged to have taken place Saturday between Pacific University and the Multnomah Club at Portland. The facts are, that the manager of the Multnomah team tried to secure a game with Pacific University and failing to do so agreed to a game PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Club, a local organization. Some of the variety men play with the club team and did so on Saturday, but that does not in any sense make it a P. U. team. Consequently the students and faculty feel agrieved that such a misrepresentation should have taken place and that the team that played Saturdy should have been heraided as representing Pacific University.

Prizefight Promoter Causes Arrest of Man Who Blocked Fight.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 14 .- Rev. D. A. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was arrested here today on a warrant sworn out by "Jim" Donald-son, a promoter of puglilsm, charging perjury. Rev. Mr. Brown, representing the Salt Lake Ministerial Association, was instrumental in preventing the recent "You's Corbett"-Dick Hyland contest. He swore out warrants charging the pugilists and Donaldson, the promoter, with conspiring to violate the law against prizefighting, and they were arrested. Donaldson now charges that the contest would have been in no sense a prizefight, and that the preacher committed perjury in swearing to the complaints. The Judge who issued the warrant for Rev. Mr. Brown released the minister on his own recog-nizance.

Later in the day the perjury charge was dismissed, on motion of Assistant County Attorney Hauson, who stated that there was no foundation for the charge. The County Attorney's office previously had protested to City Judge Diehl against the issuance of a warrant for the preacher's

Organizers Claim to Have Got Many to Join.

TWO OBJECTS ARE IN VIEW

One Is to Do Away With Photographs and the Other to Have Nonunion Pledge Exacted of Men Abandoned.

That the unionizing of street-car men is no new thing in Portland, and that for the past five years. Portland trolley cars have been largely manned by conductors and motormen holding membership in a Portland branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway Employes is the statement of labor leaders who are conducting the present agitation among the men to join the union. Unknown to the management of the Portland Railway Company, which at the time of the consolidation of the Portland Railway Company and the City & Suburban in the Fall of 1994 refused to recognize any union among its employes, the men are said to have kept their union among their dues mbership a secret, but paid their dues regularly and kept alive Local 181, which is now being recruited by new members.
Often the membership of the local union ran up to over 300 men, say those who have directed the affairs of the local union since 1904.

Purposes of the Union.

Objects for which the present unioniz ing movement is being carried on are to abolish the requirement that all men entering the employ of the company shall be photographed and the pictures kept for identification purposes. The other prime object of the union is to so modify the object of the union is to so modify the application blank that no promise will be exacted from the men not to join a union while in the employ of the company.

These things have been set forth in circular letters that have been written to the street-car men by President C. H. Gram, president of the Oregon Federa tion of Labor, on two different occasions within the last few months. He also at tacked the hospital fund charge of 50 cents a month, which is deducted from each man's pay and expended in caring for carmen who are sick or injured. Mr. Gram characterized this fund as "graft" by the street-car company, but officials of the Portland Railway Company have told the men they are perfectly willing the charge shall be stopped at any time, as they have no interest in maintaining it. At a conference with officials of the company a short time ago, the men asked that the hospital fund be main-of the men was an outrage on the rights of an American citizen, and was unknown outside of Portland street-car circles. It is authoritatively stated that the system is in use in Los Angeles.

Will Make Two Demands.

If the working force of the Portland trolley systems is practically unionized, the first two demands of the organization will be the doing away with the photograph system and the application blank that does not recognize the union. With wages, the present movement is said to wages, the present movement is said to have nothing to do.

Street-car employes who are approached on the subject are doubtful that the large numbers have joined the union claimed by organizers. In fact, no official figures have been given out. No one in Portland knows the extent of the movement except Mr. Gram, and he will not tell. "You may say that the majority of street-car men in the city have signed," said he last night. It is known that many of the employes of the Portland Railway Company having no grievances. Railway Company, having no grievances, are opposed to joining a union, and have refused to do so. There are probably about 800 street-car men in Portland.

POULTRY IN COLD STORAGE

Dealer Says Birds Must Be Frozen Undrawn.

PORTLAND, May 14 -- (To the Editor.) PORTLAND, May 14—(To the Editor.)—
A few days since I noted in your paper a copy of a measure which is to be presented to the Council at the next meeting of that body. I refer to the ordinance which Mrz.
Evans, the Market Inspector, wholes to become law and the provisions of which deal with the freezing or "storing" of undrawn poultry and the subsequent marketing thorsof.

Now, it is my belief that Mrz. Evans is a very housest and uneful person and that she is accomplishing a great deal of good in this city but I must say that it is also my belief that in this particular case she is very wrong.

very honest and useful person and that she is accomplishing a great deal of good in this city; but I must say that it is also my work. In this wor that it is also my wrong.

The ordinance would forbid the "packing" or freezing of poultry in an undrawn state. At first glance the uninitiated would certainly think that it would be very wrong to freeze poultry that had not been drawn but in this they are mistaken. Be it known that in an ordinary temperature a fowl that is undrawn will keep perfectly for several days if it has been properly dreased, but that the same bird. If drawn, will very quickly sour and become unfit for food.

The writer nappens to be connected with a firm which extensively deals in poultry, alive and dressed, and of local production only. As the holidays approach and we hegat to receive orders for drawsed turkeys, gresse and chlokens, we send to our shippers circulars as to the manner of dressing fourth, alive and dressed, and of local production only. As the bolidays approach and we hegat to receive orders for drawsed turkeys, gresse and chlokens, we send to our shippers circulars as to the manner of dressing fourth, alive and dressed, and the local more burn price to butchering and that they must under no circumstances draw the birds. We know that if undrawn they will in the cool weather of Fall and Winter keep portectly for a week and we hegin to receive dressed stock about a week prior to the feast day.

Were this same stock to reach us in a drawn state we would not dare to fill our out-of-town orders: the goods would spoil in transit if they were not spelled on reaching us, and the parties who are buying from us would not have drawn bird, under any circumstances. We have had funividual parties who know come to us for dressed turkeys what they wanted for their own table and who desired them at these to the facts; there is no theoriting about it. We believe that Mrs. Evans desires to do a good act and to safeguard the public, but that the work with a would receive the same prior to freezin excellent satisfaction, as thousands of housewives will testify.

Now the writer desires it understood that he is not in anyway interested in frozen poultry, that as a handler of local goeds only it would seemingly be to his advantage if all frozen and especially Eastern goods were eliminated from the market, but there is a phase of the situation to which he desires to call public attention. I may want to freeze some poultry some day—have done it and may want to do it again.

Let it be known that the Willamette Valley is a great producer of poultry at this time and that it is destined to be she poultry farm of the Northwest. Our cities are growing, very rapidly and we are not raising multiry enough to keep pace with this growth. Unless we can store or freeze poultry when it is plentiful and cheap, as it is in the Summer, the business will be intertied for the simple reason that at times out markets will be overstocked and prices will go far below the cost of production.

Some of us can remember when aggs sold at from 5 to 10 cents per dozen and butter at 10 to 12 cents per pound, and we know that cold-storage facilities have changed all this and that prices on these commodities are now much more stable. The same is true as to poultry; it is just as logical to store dreased poultry as it is to acore eggs, butter, cheese and other food products.

There are millions of dollars invested in frozen poultry in the East and while I am aware that there has been know agitation along the line as indicated by Mrs. Evans, I also know that it has caused conaernation, and in my mind it is all a mistake and very wrong.

We want Western Oregon and Eastern of the control and the control and the prices of the control also for that matter to weeders and The Oregon delegation to the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, which assembles in conclave at Seattle today, left yesterday afternoon.
