ELECTION BETS HELD UP

STAKEHOLDERS REFUSE TO PAY WAGERS ON SHRIEVALTY.

Await Issuance of Election Certificate—Chamberlain's Backers More Fortunate.

Sportively inclined citizens who wagered their money on the Shrievally race between Bob Stevens and Sheriff Tom Word will have to wait many days before they get their money. The eyelash finish between the two candidates, notwithstanding the fact that Stevens has been issued a certificate of election, has left the matter of the settlement of the bets in doubt, because Sheriff Word, through his attorney, has caused to be started contest proceedings, and will carry the matter into the courts. This fact will cause the stakeholders to refrain from settling the bets until the court before whom the contest is to be tried orders a duly certified certificate of election to be issued.

If Word commences contest proceedings and a long-drawn-out legal fight begins, the chances are that the money staked on the outcome will be tied up for months. In such a case, it would be no more than right for stakeholders to declare all bets off and return the money entrusted to them. The stakeholder is the referee of the situation, and he has the right to declare the bets off, provided it is agreeable to all parties concerned.

In all, there was between $300 and $1,000 wagered on the Shrievally fight. This money was placed in the hands of various stakeholders. Yesterday many men who had wagered on Stevens were around trying to collect. There was also a rush of men who had bet on Word, who gave orders to withhold payment of their money until after the contest had been officially settled. Ed Schiller, who holds between $300 and $500, was bedogged yesterday to pay bets on Stevens. He refused to turn over the money, and will continue to hold it until the matter is settled beyond dispute.

LONG TIME BETWEEN VISITS

B. G. Whitehouse Goes to Boston After Absence of 47 Years.

Today B. G. Whitehouse leaves with his wife for Boston, his first visit in 47 years. He arrived in Portland from that city in May, 1858. When the California & Oregon stage line began service he was appointed cashier at this end of the line and continued in that capacity until the completion of the railroad to California. In September, 1888, he entered the employ of the Portland Water Company and the Portland Gas Light Company, continuing in the employ of the Water Company until the plant was sold to the city and is with the Gas Company at the present time after 17 years of service.

He goes East as one of the delegates to the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, which meets in Chicago June 12 and 13. From Chicago he goes to his old home in Boston and will be absent five or six weeks. Mr. Whitehouse has held the office of recorder of Al Kader Temple continuously for 19 years, has been for 17 years and still is grand treasurer of the Scottish Rite bodies of this state the past seven years. He was coronated 33 degree Inspector-General honorary in 1880.

REGLESS RIFLEMEN FINED

WILD SHOOTING BY TWO JOCKEYS ALARMS IRVINGTON.

Love in a Laundry Ends in Police Court—Work of the Drag Net.

Residents of Irvington, near the racetrack, had reason to believe for a time yesterday morning that an invading army was firing on the town from the woods nearby. Rifles kept cracking with alarming frequency, and now and then a savage hissing in the air told of the flight of some tiny leaden messenger of death.

The police were notified, and Patrolman Duffy responded to the alarm. Tracing the shooting to its origin, he found two jockeys, Patrick Keeland and John Dumke, engaged in target practice near the racetrack. The target was stopping a few of the bullets. The jockeys, who are engaged in the business of shooting pedestrians might usurp the target place, the officer took the marksmen to the Police Station. They were arraigned before Judge Cameron and fined $5 each for shooting inside the city limits.

Stella Kenton and Nellie Reid used to be the very best of friends. That was before Billy Barntess came upon the scene. When Barntess took charge of the tubs at the Union Laundry, Stella began to look coyly from the ironing board and a close friendship soon sprang up between them.

PEARCE GETS A YEAR

SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT COMMITTED AT RAINIER.

Saloonkeeper Is Also Charged With Costs—Judge Says Rainier Must Keep Law.

ST. HELENS, Or., June 6.—(Special).—A. D. Pearce, convicted of assault and battery upon the person of W. C. Fischer, was sentenced by Judge McBride to one year in jail, the sentence to be served in the County Jail of Multnomah County. Judge McBride, in passing sentence, said that he could find no mitigation in the fact that the defendant was a family man, or that Mr. Fischer adopted methods to some extent in Rainier, as elsewhere, and intimated that he will see that this is done.

PARK CONCERTS NEXT.

Charles L. Brown Starts Out Today Collecting Subscriptions.

At last the dove of peace has alighted among the warring band factions in this city, and the chances now are that Portland will enjoy anywhere from 35 to 50 band concerts in the parks this Summer. The citizens will raise something like $500 for the band fund, in addition to the $150 appropriated by the Board of Park Commissioners. By the authority of this board, Charles L. Brown, one of the three bandmasters—the others being A. DeCaprio and W. E. McElroy—will start work today calling on business men and others for subscriptions.

If the deal goes through, the park concerts will begin Sunday afternoon, July 1, at the City Park. Throughout the season the Sunday afternoon concerts will take place at the City Park, and the concerts on week day evenings at the Plaza block in front of the Multnomah County courthouse and in Hawthorne and Holladay Parks on the East Side.

It has been calculated that these concerts will cost from $500 to $700, all told, mostly in musicians' salaries. Although Mr. Brown is authorized as manager to call on the community for subscriptions amounting to $500 or so, he is only one of the conductors in the series of concerts, the two conductors alternating with him being Mr. DeCaprio and Mr. McElroy. These three are experienced and capable musicians, well up in their

CARMEN HELD TO BLAME

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Case of E. G. Luxon.

That E. G. Luxon, the young man who was crushed to death under an "S" car at the corner of Gibbs and Corbett streets late Tuesday night, met his death through the negligence of the motorman, G. Stenwig and the conductor, W. Dean, was the verdict returned yesterday by the coroner's jury, which investigated the case. The car, No. 194, was on its last trip to the city, and while rounding the sharp curve at the corner, leaped from the rails and hurled itself on its side against the curbstone. The force of its momentum must have been great to overturn the heavy car, the jury held, establishing the fact that the car was traveling at a high speed. There is a heavy grade on Corbett street, and the carmen have instructions to run cars slowly around the curve, which is quite sharp.

work, and can be trusted to train and organize a band—to be known as the Portland Park Band—that will be a credit to the city and also furnish recreation and instruction to thousands of people who will flock to the different parks during the warm summer weather.

It is believed that the money for the band fund can be raised. There have been several calls in this city lately for the purposes of benevolence, but surely there are enough donors left to give substantial subscriptions to ensure Summer concerts for the people.
