Evans, of Portland, president of the Oregon State Federation of Wom-an's Clubs, was yesterday elected to the board of directors of the General Federa-tion of Woman's Clubs at the biennial convention, now in progress at St. Faul. The news came to Mrs. H. W. Coe yes-terday in a telegram from Mrs. A. H. Breyman, president of the Portland Wom-an's Club. The honor given to the head of the Oregon organization of women is appreciated among the clubwomen of the state. A place on the board of directors is one of responsibility, as the board is at the head of the 70000 clubwomen of the United States. FRIGHTENED BY A LUNATIC.-Ah Keep, FRIGHTENED BY A LUNATIC.-Ah Keep, an insame Chinaman from Ogden, Utah, created consternation among the Sisters created consternation among the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, at 599 Third street, by breaking into the cellar and digging about as if in an attempt to loot the place. The police were called, and found that the Chinese was merely laboring under the halluchation that buried treasure was to be found in the cellar, and was digging for it. Ah Keep got in from Ogden Wednezday night in charge of two countrymen, who were taking him back to China. He will be kept by the police until the steamer salls. salls.

HOLD SOLEMN SERVICES Remains of Jason Lee Are to Be Placed in Mission Cemetery.

One of the most impressive ceremonies in connection with the 62d annual com-mencement of Willamette University will be the services over the remains of Jason Lee before their final interment in the Lee Mission Cemetery near Salem. Jason Lee was the foremost of the early Meth-duct missionnectes in Oregon and is honodist missionaries in Oregon, and is hon-ored as the founder of Willamette Uni-versity. The service has been given an entire day in the commencement week of the institution which he established, and which has so far outgrown the plans of the founder.

and which has so far outgrown the plans of the founder. The tribute to Jason Lee will consist of three services held on the morning, after-noon and evening of next Friday, in the Methodiat Church at Salem. The first service will be under the auspices of the church, and will be presided over by Dr. D. L. Rader. In the afternoon J. C. More-land will preside, and the exercises will be conducted by the Pioneer Association, John Bush will be in the chair at the evening meeting, which is to be under the auspices of the states formed out of the original Oregon Territory. The principal speakers for the three meetings are: W. D. Fenton and Dr. J. R. Wilson in the morning; J. C. Moreland, Harvey W. Scott and Reuben P. Boise, in the after-noon; Governor Chamberlain, Allen Weir, representing the Governor of Washington, and B. L. Steeves, representing the Gov-ernor of Idaho, in the evening.

MAKE MANILA A PROVINCE

Ide Decides to Give Filipino Capital

Representation.

MANILA, June 7 .- Governor Ide an-MANILA, June 7.—Governor Ide an-nounces that a province will be formed of Manila for the purpose of giving the city representation in the Filipino Assembly. The original plan was that Manila, like the District of Columbia, should have no representation in the National Assembly. The low provided for representatives from all the prov-inces, but failed to make any special provision for Manila. Mr. Ide has construed the law as not

Mr. Ide has construed the law as not excluding this city from representa-tion and therefore it is his intention tion and therefore it is in a interior to declare it a province for the pur-pose of assembly representation only. No provisional government is to be es-tablished, but in the near future the commission is to pass an act creating the Province of Manila.

THE Kanakas, like Baltimore orioles, concern themselves more with melody than with technique. They sing and they play music because it is their nature to do so. The product appeals in all its fundamental beauty to the poet, the lover, the philosopher, and magnificently sweeps over and beyond the head of cold analysis or special erudition. The technical jargon of the pedantic vocalist or instrumentalist is brushed aside by the God-sent gift of song and passionate dreaming that is born only in the soul and can find music alone for its expression

A concert like that given by the Royal Hawaiian Band and Glee Club last evening at the Heilig Theater brings out with strong emphasis the truth that music is worth just what it does to you-sic is worth just what it does to you-that its importance is its effect upon you. It is the language of the soul, and it is universal-open to every human heart, ex-isting for everybody as long as life has sorrows, as long as life has joys. It is a message for all ears that are open. In last night's concert, Miss Lehua took us to the isles of the Southern seas, bore us on filaments of poesy and mellifluous cadence to the land where that little king-dom basked in the sunshine and flowers always bloomed. Her soothing, crooning voice is the essence of a caress. What cares she about the word "coloratura"? She could burn you with a kiss. Her song could lull you into dreams without bothering you about how it is made. Mr. Hughes has used his voice too much in a specified time, and therefore has in-creased a lovely resonant element in his voice so that certain notes take on a voice so that certain notes take on a slightly rasping quality, but, notwith-standing this drawback, he sang so as to make even a drunken sallor sit up and swell with feeling. The give club, with their many guitars and their sweet voices isunched tunefulness and harmonies into isunched tunefulness and harmonies into that theater that reached every normal being. The abundance of brass, the pitch-ing back and forth of themes from the horns to the reeds, the occasional sound of the pipes of Pan, the flute and piccolo embroidery at passages in some of the numbers, the playing of well-known airs, the spirited rendering of our National airs, the inspiring splendor and volume of the full band in triumphant fulness-all these results, as they impressed my

of the full band in triumphant fullness-all these results, as they impressed my mind and sensitiveness throughout the length and breadth of the concert, filled me with a prayer of thanksgiving that music is as it is, that I am constituted so that it moves me to thrills and to tears and to ecstacy, and that every one in the whole world can share such bitss if they will but listen. "Nakiri's Wedding," by Paul Linke, that is, the overture of this new opera bouffe that has just made a hit in Berlin, was musical news of interest in the pro-gramme. The enthusiasm and size of the audience were a compliment to Mr. Berg-audience were a compliment to Mr. Bergand ence were a compliment to air, perg-er, the fine, temperamental conductor of this characteristically genuine band of natural musicians. They play at the same theater tonight and give two concerts Saturday (afternoon and evening). I would not miss them, and I know you, will
