BULLET ENDS LIFE

Young Woman Kills Herself With Revolver.

CECIL LAMONT'S SUICIDE

Tired of Life and With No Means to Purchase Weapon, She Adopts a Ruse, Which Succeeds.

Yielded of life and with no means of purchasing a ready-made exit, Cecil Lamont, a handsome woman, of 27 years, worked out a well-planned scheme for meeting the grim reaper yesterday forenoon. She succeeded in her plan. Her body is now at the morgue awaiting claimants.

Yesterday forenoon, having decided that life was a farce not worth carrying any further, the woman went to the Portland gun and bicycle store, 232 Yamhill street. She had seemingly decided on the gun route of death. Having but 30 cents to her name, she was not in a position to purchase the necessary weapon. A little strategy served her quite as well, however.

Asks to Examine Revolver. "I would like to examine your revolver," she said to Fred Clodius, one of the proprietors. "I am thinking of making a camping trip and with a revolver."

ISAKSON MUST GO

Dismissed From Police Force for Assaulting Officers.

KIENLAN MUST PAY FINE

Executive Board Orders That Insurance of City Hall Be With Company That Pays San Francisco Losses.

The assault of Patrolmen Isakson and Kienlan upon five petty officers of the warships Chicago and Princeton and three civilians June 15 has turned out to be a costly affair for the two policemen. Upon recommendation of the Police Commission, the Executive Board at its meeting yesterday afternoon ordered Isakson discharged from the force and penalized Kienlan of all salary for the month of June. The ruling will be final unless an appeal is taken to the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

Two reasons were advanced by the commission for giving Isakson a heavier penalty than his fellow officer. In the first place it was held that Isakson, as the senior patrolman, was more at fault in the assault, and in addition a separate charge of brutality toward Neils Nelson had been filed against him. In the latter case he was accused of knocking Nelson down and breaking his arm. Nelson testified before the commission that he was perfectly sober at the time he was assaulted and that his only offense was to ask the policeman if he might take home his brother, who had been arrested for drunkenness.

Against both Isakson and Kienlan the commission sustained the charges of committing acts of unjustifiable abuses and otherwise acting in a manner unbecoming an officer, finding in all five counts against them.

Improvement of East Stark.

The improvement of East Stark street was again referred to the street committee. This bill has been postponed many times, and is now held up by a proposition from Thomas McCusker and L. Y. Needy to make the improvement free of charge if they receive the franchise for a subway under the Willamette River for which they have applied.

M. M. Rudolph, W. T. Patton and J. O. Portwood were appointed patrolmen, and the board is now held up by a proposition from Daniel Connors, Arthur Carey and Charles Skidmore special patrolmen for service at the Oaks.

Bids on street improvements were received as follows: First street, the Warren Construction Company, $36,478; East Burnside street, Warren Construction Company, $17,083; Second street, Warren Construction Company, $15,795; Union avenue, Pacific Bridge Company, $39,793; Grand avenue, Concrete Construction Company, $46; East Seventh street, J. R. O'Neill, $23,215; H. Haward, $18,000; Con-
