It appeared to be the general desire to improve the street between Wiberg Lane and the Rosenthal tract, a distance of more than two miles, but when it came to widening the street there was quite a difference of opinion and much opposition. It was a new thing to most of the people and they did not understand how it would be done. One man kept demanding, "Who is to pay me for taking a slice from my property, if this street is widened?" It was explained that if he was damaged he would be compensated, but he could not understand and was not satisfied. Finally, after extended discussion, it was decided to ascertain how the property-owners stand on the question of widening the street. Two committees were appointed. One will ascertain how many property-owners favor widening the street. property-owners favor widening the street and the other committee will inquire how many are opposed to widening the street. formances of "Wang" at Heilig.

"Wang" is having the best week of the season thus far at the Heilig Theater, Fourteenth and Washington streets. There is more to it than to the other operas that have been given, and there is more good musto in it. The Kendali Company gives a splendid performance, and the singing and the orchestra provide a rare treat. The theater is kept cool by electric fams and by opening the upper doors. The Heilig is thus an ideal Summer theater. The audience does not have to send out for blankets, but it is kept perfectly cool and comfortable during the warmer nights. This afternoon at 2:15 there will be a Fourth of July mattnee of "Wang." Friday night the company will rest, for Nat Goodwin comes to the Heilig that evening, and Saturday night the company will sing "Wang." in the Auditorium at Vancouver, Wash. He rivals the great Jefferson in all the essential details of this wonderful rendition of a great role. The play is set very picturesquely and the children scene is especially fascinating. The Catskill Mountains and the village of Falling Water give opportunity for beautiful scente effects. The performance is in every way noteworthy and up to the high Baker Theater standard. There will be a special mattnee today, the Faurth of July, at 2:15 P. M. and tonight at 8:15.

Dominico Russo at the Hellig.

Dominico Russo is the tenor who set San Francisco wild with delight. He studied with the great Caruso, who had been Mr. Conried's strongest man card at the Metropolitan Opera-House in New York. There is no doubt that Russo (this flery Italian who is an artist to his finger tips, and temperamentally inspiring in his grand opera singing) will create a stir in Portland musical circles, who appreciate grand opera. He will be in the bill of "Cavalieria Rustleans" at the Heilig Theater, which opens Monday night, July 9. It will be a double bill, for the opera will be preceded

In "A Woman's Sacrifice" this week at the Lyric the great vital point that holds the interest is the fact that the husband and wife, Wilson and Mary, the central figures, each think the other guilty of theft. It is wonderful how this tense point is kept up in the Lyric performance. There is excellent comedy to relieve the tension, and the moving pictures are shown between the acts. It is a great play.

ST. JOHNS OBJECTS TO VALEN-TINE AS POSTMASTER.

Asserts That Appointment of Mayor and Removal of Mrs. Clark Was Underhanded.

A mass meeting was held last night under the auspices of the St. Johns Commercial Club in the dance pavilion on the city's ground to protest against the removal of Mrs. A. S. Clark as Postmistress and the appointment of Mayor F. W. Valentine. D. C. Rogers, president of the Commercial Club, presided, and at the opening resolutions were read setting forth the purpose of the meeting. It was set out that the people of St. Johns were not consulted in Mr. Valentine's appointment, were not aware that any change had been contemplated, and furthermore never had heard of any charges being made agains Mrs. A. S. Clark, present Postmistress. Several short talks were made condemning in strong terms the appointment of Mayor Valentine as Postmaster as underhanded and unprecedented, all of which were loudly applianded. In the course of the meeting Mayor Valentine was sent for to make a statement, if he cared to, to the mass meeting, but he was then presiding at the regular meeting of the Council and refused to come.

Southmayd, Blackburn and Kirk were also appointed to investigate the appointment and ascertain what led to the Mayor's appointment and who are the persons responsible for it. There was a considerable number present at the meeting, including ber present at the meeting, including many women. Just what effect the protest will have remains to be seen. Mayor Valentine has been appointed and confirmed as Postmaster, but citigens opposing him rely on the fact that it was a secret proceeding, and hope to influence President Roosevelt to recall the appointment. It is understood, on the other hand, that Mayor Valentine will resign as Mayor and qualify and enter on his duties as Postmaster.
