

FRANCIS' RISING FEARED IN EGYPT

Solemn Warning Given House of Commons by Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary.

SITUATION IS VERY TENSE

Recent Attacks on British Officers Declared to Have Been a Deliberate Manifestation, and Stern Measures May Be Required.

LONDON, July 5.—Parliament and the country were given a surprise tonight by a sensational speech by Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, on the situation in Egypt. Interesting debate on foreign affairs had been anticipated when the House of Commons today took up the foreign estimates, but on account of Russia and the Congo, rather than Egypt. Other subjects were, however, temporarily shelved when the House realized the momentous character of Sir Edward Grey's deliverance with regard to Egypt.

FLEET TO VISIT CRONSTADT

British Foreign Secretary Says It is Too Late to Change Plans.

LONDON, July 5.—In the course of the consideration of the foreign estimates by the House of Commons today, several members offered criticisms, especially urging that a fleet be not sent to Cronstadt.

Sir Edward, in a general reply, stated that foreign relations were friendly. With regard to the Egyptian affairs, he accepted full responsibility, and pointed out that danger might accrue when dealing with Eastern peoples, through discussions of this kind. The Secretary proceeded to refer to the great growth of fanatical feeling in Egypt and throughout North Africa recently, which might necessitate even stronger measures to protect Europeans in Egypt; and, speaking in a solemn manner, said:

"As things are now, I say deliberately, and with a full sense of responsibility, that if Parliament does anything at this moment to weaken or destroy the authority of the Egyptian Government, you will come face to face with a very serious situation; for should fanaticism get the better of constituted government, there might arise the necessity for extreme measures."

Dealing with the Congo question, the Foreign Secretary said he distrusted the proposed reforms, because the system was wrong. He disliked trading companies and believed the root of the whole mischief lay in the system under which the state itself was a trading company and monopolist companies held administrative powers. If others would join Great Britain in insisting on reforms the government would welcome them. If the Congo State talked of its rights, Sir Edward said, Great Britain had no right to the question of the reservation of enormous areas for private property must be dealt with, and if any dispute arose there was the Hague Tribunal. He believed it would be beneficial to resume British Consular jurisdiction, but it would be discouraging Belgium from taking over the Congo government, which therefore he thought the government should wait; but they could not wait forever.

With regard to the proposed visit of a British fleet to Cronstadt, the Foreign Secretary said he felt assured that the central government of Russia was neither aware nor had connived at the recent unfortunate occurrence. No interference from the outside will strengthen a reform party, but rather reactionaries or revolutionaries.

As a British fleet was in the Baltic last year and had not visited Russian ports, it would be remarkable if a fleet should not do so this year. He hoped the usual civilities would be observed. The fleet would go entirely without reference to Russian internal affairs. It would be impossible to make a change now without giving rise to the suspicion that Great Britain was taking sides.

The visit would be a friendly visit, to pay compliments to Emperor Nicholas and the Russian nation. Sir Edward said he could not imagine the Russian Parliament interpreting the visit as taking sides.
