SEATTLE, Wash., July 22 .- (Special.)-Portland made it five out of six by batting Garvin out of the box in the third inning and touching Vickers up for enough runs to win after Seattle had tled the score.

McHale, Sweeney and McCredie made safe swats off Garvin in the first inning, making two runs with only one man out Vickers then took up the burden and blanked his opponent until the seventh, when Hodson allowed Mitchell to walk. forcing in a run. McHale scored in the ninth inning on his third hit, a balk and Isbell's error

Seattle tied the score in the third on a pass to Isbell, Kane's two-base hit and Sweeney's error.

Hodson is a joke as an umpire and covers up his mistakes by fining the players. Portland got two of that kind today, and Hodson was hooted all day. The score; PORTLAND. AB R H PO A I

Chicago 6, Brooklyn 3.

CHICAGO, July 22.-The leaders defeated Brooklyn in the sixth inning today, scoring five runs on two passes, a steal, two singles and two doubles. Lumley's great hit to the clubhouse, McCarthy's double and two errors scored the visitors three runs, the only inning in which they were able to touch Pfeister. The notable feature of the game was the fact that Jordan had only two putouts at first base.

French did his part well, and had he been given any kind of support in the field he would have had no trouble in carrying off the honors. As it was, the score was only 6 to 5 in favor of the Schillers, and the final run was sent over in the last inning. Thirteen strike-outs tell the story of French's pretty box work, and he was given a rousing hand at the end of each inning.

Without their clever twirler the Hop Golds would have stood as much show against the old-stagers whom Gardner has Golds would have stood as much snow against the old-stagers whom Gardner has gathered about him as a babe in a Dakota bilżzard. They put French in the hole every time, and when he did manage to pull out and get them on their feet, they there will be shown the last inning with the victory in sight.

Por seven innings Rich Parrott blanked the Hop Golds by Al pitching. Meanwhile the Schillers had picked up three runs at odd moments and it looked for all the world like a shut-out for the lanky twirler. All at once, in the eighth inning, the fireworks went skyward. The brewery boys batted through their whole list, hit the ball five times safely, stole bases at will and, with the errors of their opponents, pushed over five tallies. The Schillers came back with two, the necessary runs to tie, in their half of the inning, and chased the winning one around in the last of the closing epoch.

This game gives the Schillers the undisputed title of champions of the city, although several other teams are anxious for enversements. There is nothing to it

Trained to the hour and hopeful of victory, the Portland Rowing Club crews, in charge of Coach Dan Murphy, left last evening for Nelson, B. There is nothing to it where they will enter the big regatta on the 27th and 28th of this month.

One last hearty pull over the course which they have kept warm for two months was taken by the boys Saturday evening, and yesterday they only got into their shell for enough work to warm up their muscles and keep them from growing the slightest bit stale.

Before leaving Murphy said he did not see how his big four could lose when they have been rowing in practice under the best time ever made on the Coast. It is the general opinion that this is the best big four ever turned out at the Portland Rowing Club. Ed Glosa, who has entered in the singles, and the juniors are also in fine fettle, and all will no doubt return with honor and many prizes. for engagements. There is nothing to it in this town as far as amateur supremacy is concerned. There are too many old heads and hard hitters among the cigarneads and nard inters among the cigar-men. Then, too, Rich Parrott is a twirler of no mean ability. He is getting better every game and will soon be ripe for plucking by some of those Pacific Coast League magnates who are looking for promising youngsters who can handle the leather. The score:
