Richard Deich, County Fruit Inspector, of infected fruit yesterday. When he had completed his work, half a ton of peach plums and 25 boxes of apples had been ndemned and so thoroughly soaked with scale and came from orchards near the city. The plums were found by the Inspector on Front street and at the Italian market on the East Side. Part of the apples were con-demned in the Italian market and the renainder in grocery stores. The fruit men and the Inspector were much surprised to and the plume so badly infected this year be attacked by scale, but the pest has never been so bad around Portland before and a sharp lookout will be kept during the renainder of the season for diseased fruit. Inspector Deich finds that the commission

The Inspector ne trouble at the small Chinese maring last week, when he condemned a dozen realised the benefits to come from a rigid Russian Developments Affect All Financial Centers.

RESISTANCE AT NEW YORK

Effect Soon Passes and Stock Prices Are Restored to Saturday's Level-Sage's Death Causes No Disturbance.

on Saturday.

The determination of a market organization

on Saturday.

The determination of a market organisation to effect an upward movement in prices manifested itself afreeh and speciations of the same character as those which appeared in the market Filday and Saturday were recumed. There is no attempt to belittle the gravity of the situation in Russia from a political standpoint, but the drift of events has been so clearly foreshadowed that it is believed that the financial and banking world has acted with a view to the developments which have now occurred.

The action of the foreign securities markets, however, seemed to threaten serious consequences for a time today. The special effect in the London market is due to the coming due on August 1 of an instalment of subscriptions to the last Russian loan. The heavy discount now rulling on the subscription price of money in that market points to acvers losses on the underwriting and the forced manner of the liquidation points to a much smaller distribution of the loan into investors hands than had been intumated at the time of the floiation.

London's necessities induced considerable ceiling of securities in this market today, it also resulted in a strong rebound in the foreign exchange market, which carried the price indefinitely away from the gold export point. The Bank of England secured all the newly eign exchange market, which carried the price indefinitely away from the gold export point. The Bank of England secured all the newly received gold in the London market, but it was remarked that New York put in no competitive bids for the supply which was secured at a decline of a penny an ounce from the price recently prevailing, which New York paid last week. It was inferred that New York bankers thus acquiesced in the necessity of the London market getting additional supplies.

of the London market getting additional supplies.

The Saturday bank statement, with its showing of a $11,700,000 cash increase, may have an influence on its attitude, though it remained somewhat of a mystery where and how the cash was obtained. However, the immediate money outfook is thus decidedly cleared. The speculative leadership in the market evidently assumed that security from pressure was assured at any rate until the withdrawals for the purpose of moving crops shall intervene. The time is regarded as opportune, in the professional speculator's view, for an upturn in prices, and they operated from that viewpoint today. The conspicuous place of the transcontinental stocks in the movement served to revive many dormant rumons regarding developments in them, one from London alleging a coming control of St. Paul in the interest of the Union Pacific.

The market seemed unaffected by the death of Russell Sage, the understanding being generally that his affairs were arranged so as to avoid pressure on the stock market or any disturbance in the money market. The market showed great strength and activity on the recovery from the low point to the highest, but owing to the depressed level at the start and the profit-taking in the last hour of the session the net changes from Saturday's prices were small and the closing tone was easy.

Heavy Arrivals Depress the Chicago Market.

WEAK NEARLY ALL DAY

Foreign Advices Are Quite Bullish but Are Offset by Domestic Conditions-Decline in the Cash Markets.

CHICAGO, July 23. — The general feeling among the wheat traders during the day was beartsh, although the foreign news favored the bull elde. The reports of heavy arrivals, however, apparently outweighed every other consideration. The market opened higher because of the Russian political situation and small world's shipments. News from the Northwest was less favorable, several reports stating that crops had deteriorated and that the yield would be disappointing. It was stated also that the crop in Oregon had been seriously damaged by excessive heat. There was also considerable talk of export sales, although no figures were given beyond one shipment of 50,000 bushels which was sold to go abroad. The cash markets generally were lower. The visible supply of wheat showed an increase of 1,667,000 bushels, against a decrease of 464,000 bushels last year.
