These figures relate to valuations in 1904, which was the latest year for which the reliable formation upon which to base its com-

The Assessors of the several cour The Assessors of the several counties, each acting according to plans and ideas of his own, placed various valuations upon railroad bed and rolling stock, and in the aggresate found a valuation amounting to only about 15 per cent of the actual value. At the same time the Assessors listed property in general at about 33 per cent of its actual value. Census Bureau Values Higher.

In placing the value of railroad property in Oregon at $69,401,188.63, the commission pursued methods of cor utation somewhat different from those adopted by the United States Census Bureau, which found a still larger valuation, the total reported by the bureau being $75,61,000. Since the Oregon Tax Commission's figures are over $6,000,000 less than those of the Census Bureau, it seems altogether probable that the Commission's calcuprobable that the Commission's calculation has brought a total none too

The commission adopted the method which has been approved by the Oregon Supreme Court, which was to as-certain the net earnings of the road and then compute the amount of cap-ital upon which these earnings would pay interest at a determined rate per cent. In the case hefore the Supreme Court that tribunal used 5 per cent as the rate of capitalization for the reason that the bonds of the company bore that rate of interest.

Various Rates Used.

commission has selected variou rates, according to the current mar-ket record of the purchase and sale of railroad securities. The rates ranged from 4.77 per cent to 6 per

This method of ascertaining the raise of the property for taxation pur-poses was based upon the theory that property is worth the amount of money upon which its earnings will pay the market rate of interest. Thus it was ascertained that the Astoria & Colum-bia River Railroad had from 1992 to 1904 average net carnings, with taxes deducted, amounting to $141,787.23. At a per cent this is interest on $2,363,122, so the Commission concludes that the road is worth the latter amount. The road is $2 miles long, and is therefore worth $28,820 per mile. At the same time that the Commission finds the miles of property of this commany to failroad property of this company to be worth $2,365,122, it is assessed at only $279,872. Low Valuation of O. R. & N.

A similar showing is made with regard to other companies. Thus the O. R. & N. Company, which is assessed at a total of $4,523,327 in the various counties through which it passes, has not earnings in this state amounting net earnings in this state amounting to $4,445,985.04, which the Commission capitalizes at 6.439 per cent, showing the commercial value of the road to be $82,032,500, and that portion of it in Oregon to be $32,071,400, or seven times the assessed valuation.

The Coos Bay, Roseburg and Eastern Bailroad is assessed at $53,300, and the Commission finds its commercial value to be $303,529.

The railroad property of the Northern Pacific in Oregon was valued by assessors at $310,405. The Commission places the actual value at $2.875.000. The Oregon Short Line has an assessed valuation of $96,755, but an actual value of $1,100,600, as its value is

The Commission may ascertain the value of the road as a whole and then determine the proportionate value in Oregon and in the several counties, but in case the road be valued as a unit, deductions must be made for property already assessed in the several counties by the local Assessors. Collapse of Strike Near.

SHATTLE, Wash., July 25 .- (Special.)-Another break has occurred among the striking shingle-weavers at Ballard. Five men returned to work in one mill, defying their union. The union officers have since declared that the fact that these men were given places is satisfactory to them, and they will be satisfied if no discrimina-tion against union men occurs. This is a pretty clear indication of an approach-ing collapse of the state strike, for the adoption of the union label by all mills.

PENDLETON, Or., July 25 .- (Special.)-Forty thousand sacks of flour, the last expertation of old wheat flour to be made by the Byers Mills this year, is shipped out over the W. & C. The markets in the interior of China and Japan, which never saw American flour before this season, have been supplied with Byers' flour by the Hongkong & Yokohama merchants. This shipment on its arrival at Hongkong will be re-chipped to interior points by Chinese river units, by steamers along the coast and by rail. American flour is growing in favor in the Orient each year.

New wheat coming into Pendleton mills weighs well, notwithstanding the extremely hot weather of the past three weeks. H. C. Washington Supreme Court.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 25.—(Special.)
—In the case of J. F. Van Dyke, respondent, vs. School District No. 77. of Lewis County, appellant, the Supreme Court has, according to a dissenting opinion, written by Judge Rudkin, reversed numerous former rulings of the court in the matter of appeals from the action of boards of school directors. Van Dyke was employed by the directors to teach a nine-months' term of school at $50 s month, but was summarily dismissed after teaching less than three months, without any explanation for their action on the part of the hoard. He sued to recover salary for the entire term for which he was employed, and was awarded the sum of $250.

WASHINGTON TIMBER LANDS INCREASE IN VALUE.

Northern Pacific Could Build North Bank Road on Profit Made by Weyerhaeusers.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 25 .- (Special.)-At the present price for stumpage, with thousand, according to location, the Wey-erhaeuser Timber Company's big buy from the Northern Pacific six years ago is beginning to loom up as one of the best speculative moves made in the Northwest. The land secured from the Northern Pacific alone at that time is worth seven and eight times its valuation by the railroad company at the tim of the sale.

Outside railroad sources, no one knows the exact cost of the north-bank road, but it is pretty safe to assume that if the Northern Pacific had held to its timber lands up to the present that prop-erty would not only have built the north-bank line, but would have paid the cost of all the extensions the Hill system is making in the Northwest.

At the time the property was sold to the Weverhaeuser syndicate it was regarded as a good move by the railroad. garded as a good move by the railroad. Neither timber men nor the interested railroad officials believed the property was being underestimated in value. All the lesson that timber men read from the heavy advance in prices is that the exploitation of the Northwestern timber lands really dated from the Weyerhaeuser buy, and that timber is certain to be even more of a lucrative investment.

The Weyerhaeusers have never had a duil moment since the timber land of dull moment since the timber land of dull moment since the timber land of the Northern Pacific was taken over. They have bought and traded ever since until the Weyerhaeuser holding in this state alone will run in the neighborhood of 1,200,000 acres. The Weyerhaeusers have got by the period of giving exact figures, but millmen and timber buyers know that the timber syndicate's prop-erties are enormous.

In the original purchase from the Northern Pacific were 300,000 acres. This property was purchased at the rate of $6.50 per acre, the timber being estimated at 15.000 feet per acre. Lumbermen in a position to know assert that the Weyerhaeuser lands secured from the Northern Pacific will average 25,000 feet per acre. The present valuation is estimated at $45,000,000.
