HUNGRY BURGERS ROB GROCERY.—Burgers with a healthy appetite got into the Johnson Grocery store, 14th and Stark streets, sometime before daylight yesterday morning. They carried away nothing but edibles of a substantial nature, such as apples, oranges and beans. Canned fruits and delicacies they paid no attention to. The matter was reported to the police. The store has been broken into six times within the past few years, and recently the building was provided with burglar-alarm, but even this did not result in the capture of the burglar who entered the building Monday night. After escaping the wires set for their capture the wily burglars took a nap in the delivery wagon, arising just before daybreak.

AGED WOMAN FINDS DAUGHTER.—Mrs. Anna Garvie, the aged woman who recently came from Los Angeles to live with a married daughter, Mrs. Ida Cooper, was rescued from the police station yesterday by the daughter. Hearing of her mother's plight, Mrs. Cooper came from her new location at Astoria and took the old lady in charge. Mrs. Garvie was in a pitiful state of exhaustion when her daughter appeared. She had refused to eat since early Monday morning, when first she came to the police station to get the police to help her search for her daughter. The daughter was located through the joint efforts of the police and members of the Salvation Army Rescue Home. The meeting of the mother and daughter was a happy one.

JUDGE GANTENBEIN'S VACATION.—Judge Gantenbein, who has acted as presiding judge in the State Circuit Court since July 1, leaves this morning on his vacation. He will pitch camp near Mount Hood for about 10 days, and then he will go to American Lake, Wash., in command of the Third Regiment of National Guard, in the maneuvers of the regular troops and National Guards of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Few court cases will be handled during August, and Judge Frazer, who foregoes his vacation for the second time to look after the juvenile Court affairs, will dispose of any important judicial matters demanding attention.

YOUTHFUL GLOBE-TROTTER.—Finding a five-dollar gold piece in his mother's purse, 5-year-old Eddie Greer departed from the maternal roof at 1844 Dwight street, Sunday afternoon, on a tour of the world. Yesterday a frantic mother rushed to police to report her missing boy. During the day Chief Grizmacher received a communication from Astoria saying the child had arrived there. He had money left, not having been compelled to pay fare on the train because of his small size. The police were instructed to look for the globe-trotter back home on the first train.

AGED SETTLER PARALYZED.—John Slater, an aged rancher from near Washougal, was brought to the city on the Salley Gatzert yesterday in a state of paralysis. Slater lived alone some eight miles from Washougal. He had been missing for several days and finally the neighbors organized a search party. Slater was found lying unconscious in the woods. He was immediately placed on the first down river boat and brought to Portland. He is at the St. Vincent hospital and it is feared he will not survive the exposure and shock to which he has been subjected.

PORTAL CLERK RESIGNS.—Oscar W. Wetterborn, a distributing clerk at the local postoffice, has tendered his resignation on account of the dangerous illness of his father, Richard Wetterborn, a senior substitute on the eligible list of the Civil Service, has been promoted to the place. Wetterborn's father was seriously injured by a log rolling over him in a lumber camp near the town of Grange. He has been in the hospital since he was injured and is reported to be in a precarious condition from his injuries, and not expected to live.

WILL STOLEN BY ONE-LEGGED MAN.—W. D. Tyler, member of a local occult society, will have to make a new will unless he can locate a certain one-legged man whom he does not know. Tyler was coming in from Vancouver several days since he was told that the man who stole his will was in the city. The police yesterday forenoon, when someone stole his will, containing bank books and his last will and testament. Tyler gave a description of the thief, with one leg, whom he suspects of being the thief.

Gillette, arrested at 184 Abernathy street, 410 ball; Burton Finch, arrested at Third and Washington streets, released on recognizance; H. L. Hamblet, 65 1-3 Sixth street, 410 ball; V. S. Brooke, Third and Stark streets, released on recognizance; G. Boynton, First and Stark streets, released on recognizance; H. A. Ramsdell, Third and Washington streets, released on recognizance; Joseph Simon, Third and Salmon streets, released on recognizance.

MUNICIPAL COURT REPORT.—The monthly report of the Municipal Court was made up yesterday by Clerk Hennessey. The report shows that the receipts for July reached a total of $167.50. This amount was collected in fines, forfeitures and costs. July is generally considered one of the most barren months of the year from a criminal standpoint. During the hot, lazy weather thieves appear to be too indolent to commit many crimes and the heat is thought to limit, also, the number of arrests made by the police for criminal activities committed. The court is the smallest of any month so far this year.

FALLS TWENTY FEET.—Pat McGuire, who has charge of the work on the fill being made on Union avenue, yesterday fell from the trestle to the ground, a distance of over 20 feet. His fall was broken by a timber, and he escaped with severe bruises. He was standing on a plank as the dump-cars were unloading, when he fell backwards. An accident will lay him up for a few days.

AT THE THEATERS

What the Press Agents Say.

Lively Farce at the Star.

In a lively farce the Star stock company is causing endless laughter this week. It is called "The Married Men" and tells of the efforts of two of them to make love to the wife of the third and then how the third turns the tables on them and causes exposure. The line is among the best heard at the Star during the farce season, and all the members of the company have enough to keep them busy.

Excellent Vaudeville at the Grand.

There is a list of excellent vaudeville this week at the Grand. Each act strikes a high average and the result is one of the most entertaining of the summer. The act is "The Man Outside," offered by the Apollo Four, a quartet which not only sings well but gives a glimpse of colored life. This quartet is entered to the limit. The Belloc brothers have a physical act which is better than has ever before appeared here.

Kiss Ners at Pantages.

M. Kiss Ners, the famous French athlete, gives a remarkable exhibition of skill and strength at Pantages this week. He balances with ease on the point of his chin weights that two ordinary men cannot lift, and at that the ordinary Frenchman is little over five feet high. His big vaudeville feature complete the offering.

"Smugglers" at the Lyric.

A little excitement these summer days is just what will keep you in good health and good spirits. The Lyric Theatre holds out the most alluring inducements for the price of any performance in town. "Smugglers" is the play this week, and a very interesting, bright, well-written, breezy play it is.

SCOW DWELLERS REFUSE TO MOVE

Representatives of Railroad Company Apply for Warrants for Their Arrest.

CHARGE WILL BE TRESPASS

Residents in Humble Abodes Will Be Compelled by March of Progress to Make Place for Box Cars.

FIRST SCOWDWELLER ARRESTED.—Firs, brought on by starvation and the horror of being arrested, caused the physical breakdown of F. W. Workmaster, an old man who has been ousted by the O. R. & N. Co. from an old scow on the river bank in South Portland.

Workmaster and two other men were arrested at the instigation of the O. R. & N. Co. last night on a charge of trespass by occupying scows built by them on the railroad's property. Workmaster, who is in no physical condition to work, fainted when the detectives took him from his old and tumble-down home. He had not eaten for more than a week, he said, and had been unable to procure food. At Police Headquarters, while being booked and searched, he again fell fainting to the floor from lack of food. He took his arrest as a disgrace and pleaded not to be locked up.

Although a charge of trespass was placed against him, Captain Glover ordered the physical wreck to be taken to the hospital until such time as he can recover.

Scowtown has thrown down the gauntlet to the railroad companies which have been seeking to eject the scow-dwellers from their homes along the east side of the Willamette. Many scowtown residents declare they will not move. They say they will protect their homes with physical force and will not vacate the roofs are torn away from over their weary heads. And the railroad companies propose to be rid of their unwelcome tenants even if violence has to be resorted to.

The matter came to a climax yesterday forenoon when a railroad representative complained to the police that all scowtown was guilty of trespass and that the entire population should be arrested on that charge. The police were unable to act without warrants. Later in the day Special Agent Cordano, on behalf of the Southern Pacific and O. R. & N. Railroad Companies, applied to the District Attorney for these warrants.

The clash developed during the past week, although it has been long brewing. The railroad companies want to clear their property of the scow-dwellers and notice to this effect to all inhabitants two months ago. A few days ago Mr. Cordano called on them in person. He told them there was no alternative. Scowtown was doomed. Its people must go; its residences must be sacrificed to the sweep of progress.

Seven householders assented. They had no way to move their scows, so the companies supplied the Hoo Hoo tug and a few coils of tow rope. Seven residences, including the one where the scow-dwellers processed to a point on the river bank up near Sellwood. These scows were from different parts of scowtown, and consequently their occupants will have to seek new neighbors among themselves, start new quarrels, and organize themselves into new social sets.

The men were a mixture of all other residents proved unavailing. The remainder of the population refused the allurements of a free ride on the river with the comfort of home and family. They stayed right where they were and declared no railroad company could drive them into some foreign country up the river.

The women residents did most of the protesting and threatened to back up their words with brooms and rolling pins. They were a very determined set, reluctant about getting too belligerent for fear of getting into trouble. The railroad attaches tried to explain to them that they were under a misapprehension. They purchased the land and were entitled to use it as they pleased. The response was made that possession constitutes nine tenths of the law and the heavy-lifted there for many years the old timers considered the meager plots of land under their humble homes as belonging to them by right of continued residence.

As to the ultimate outcome there can be no doubt. Scowtown will have to be taken itself farther up the river. The men were a mixture of all other residents proved unavailing. The remainder of the population refused the allurements of a free ride on the river with the comfort of home and family. They stayed right where they were and declared no railroad company could drive them into some foreign country up the river.

There are vague hints that Mosely is a criminal with a long record. Now his mind is gone and he will sin no more, but will probably pass the rest of his life in the walls of an asylum. Mosely, the younger, apparently sincerely believes that his father is guiltless, for he said before the completion of his father's trial that he would be the last person to place any obstacles in the way of the law.

SAY BOY IS ILL-TREATED.—Neighbors Make Charges Against Segal Family in South Portland.

Charges of extreme cruelty in the treatment of a 6-year-old child are made against a family named Segal, living in a Summer makeshift house on Wood street, in South Portland. The police were advised yesterday morning that the mother, sister and brother of the child handle the little boy, who is suffering from a broken arm, with great severity.

An investigation of the report was made by Patrolman Stuart yesterday. He found that the child was badly broken by a fall several weeks ago and that it was set at the Good Samaritan Hospital. In his report he failed to verify the reports of brutality made by Mrs. Jensen, 124 Mead street, and others. According to the statements of these neighbors, the mother beats the boy, whose name is Ben, in a brutal manner; while a youth, thought to be an older brother of the tot, ducks him in a spring to prevent him from crying when he has been hurt by other members of the family. Neighbors profess to be very indignant and there is talk of securing an arrest warrant for the parents.

Says Daggett Made Love to Her.—While on the witness-stand in Judge Cameron's court yesterday, forenoon testifying in her own behalf, in a case wherein she is charged with murdering city property, Mrs. Theresa Beiger, 673 Lake street, stated that C. L. Daggett, superintendent of the city crematory, attempted to make love to her recently. The woman gave this testimony through the medium of an interpreter. She said she repulsed him.

MOSELY IS INSANE

Alleged Chicago Embezzler Must Go to Asylum.

INCURABLE, SAY DOCTORS

Accused Man, After Long Life of Crime, Doomed to Linger in Death in a Madhouse From Paresis.

J. W. Mosely, alias Buford C. Baxter, alias R. J. Mahoney, the alleged Chicago embezzler, was yesterday morning declared insane by Drs. Williamson and Joseph, and his commitment to the State Asylum for the Insane, at Clatskanie, was ordered.

The tale of Mosely's criminal exploits came to light yesterday during the examination. Lying under the name of Buford C. Baxter in Chicago eight years ago, he prospered in the business of brokering and real estate agents. He was a member of the Chicago Police, representing the avowed Chicago woman, immediately came West to secure the arrest of Mahoney. Before he arrived at Seattle the embezzler had been removed to this city by the police. He was placed in the Crystal Springs Sanitarium. Mr. Griener continued his journey to Portland to take the man back to Chicago to face crimes committed eight years ago, says the police.

"Not Closing Out" BUT ENLARGING

So we have taken on the store adjoining us, and now have the whole half block fronting on Morrison street, in which to display our splendid line of pianos, "piano players" and "interior player-pianos."

As all the other piano houses have "sold out," "closed out" or "moved out" (according to the lingo), we now claim the distinction of being the "oldest" and "largest" piano house in the city. Proving the old adage of the "survival of the fittest." On account of the "dead uncle sales," "publicity sales," "expansion sales," "corner store sales," and many other sales too numerous to mention, we will spare the public from a "sale" now—everlasting. Our midsummer prices are lower than any "sale price" ever known in Portland, quality of goods considered.

If you are looking for a good, money-making piano at the right price, this is your opportunity. Terms of payment to suit.

Twelve Different Makes to Select From

We have several different makes of "interior-players" or "player pianos" and in fact have the only "interior-players" piano made, which has the range of the entire keyboard of the piano, or 88 notes. All others have a range of only 65 notes or less. We cordially invite you to call.
